

Objection To Plan Of Governor Listed

A nine-point statement outlining the objections of the Newton School Committee to Governor Volpe's proposal for stripping School Boards of their financial independence has been submitted to top State officials as well as legislators representing Newton on Beacon Hill.

The letter of opposition to Volpe's recommendation was sent by School Committee Chairman Haskell C. Freedman to Governor Volpe, Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, House Speaker John F. X. Davoren, Senators Leslie B. Cutler and Beryl W. Cohen and Representatives Joseph G. Bradley, Paul F. Malloy, Edward M. Dickson, Irving Fishman and Theodore D. Mann.

The section in Volpe's message to which the School Board expressed vigorous objection provides, in effect, that a School Committee may not increase its budget for 1966 over 1965 in excess of new enrollment needs and 20 per cent of its share of the estimated $100 million to be provided by the proposed education tax.

Fellowship For Newton Teacher

Edward C. Martin, teacher of history, Newton High School, Newtonville, is one of the 70 public senior high school teachers awarded John Hay Fellowships in the Humanities for 1965-66. Dr. Charles R. Keller, director of the John Hay Fellowships Program, announced today.

The Newton School Committee listed the following nine reasons in support of its opposition to such a restriction:

"(1) The Summary Report of the Willis - Harrington Commission states that $123,000,000 in addition to monies presently being spent is required to provide the kind of education that Massachusetts children should have.

JOHN K. GALBRAITH
Former India Ambassador Is Local Speaker

John Kenneth Galbraith, eminent economist and former Ambassador to India, will be guest speaker at another in the series of Sunday night dinners sponsored by the Temple Forum at Temple Mishkan Tefila, 300 Hammond Pond Parkway, Chestnut Hill, on March 7 at 6:30 p.m.

Professor Galbraith is currently Professor of Economics at Harvard and is a renowned authority in his field. Author of many books, he is perhaps best known for "The Affluent Society," a study of the economic and social problems of the high-income community.

A former member of the campaign staff of Adlai Stevenson, Professor Galbraith was an early and active supporter of John F. Kennedy. From 1961 to 1963, he was Ambassador to India.

A sherry hour and supper will precede Professor Galbraith's lecture. Chairmen of the evening are Dr. and Mrs. Irving Shaffer. Reservations may be made by contacting Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Perlman at the Temple Mishkan Tefila office. President of the Temple Forum is Alan T. Tienhor.

Members of the committee for the evening are: Ellie and Jerry Schlakman, Margy and Julian Katseff, Eileen and Sam Kaplan, Lois and Henry Foster, and Jane and Jay Fialkow.

Federal Red Tape And Delays Stall Redevelopment Program

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs declared yesterday that he is somewhat "disillusioned" as a result of the federal red tape and delays which Newton's redevelopment and rehabilitation program has encountered.

The Mayor asserted that he has been waiting nearly 18 months for the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency to approve Newton's Community Renewal Program Report on which close to $100,000 was spent.

He pointed out that the plan was submitted to federal authorities in September, 1963, and has not yet been acted upon.

"It makes you a little wary about becoming involved with federal agencies on such programs," Mayor Gibbs observed.

Despite his disillusionment and his wariness, the Mayor said he still plans to go forward with Newton's renewal and rehabilitation program.

He told the Graphic that he will appoint four members to the Newton Redevelopment Authority as soon as he finds four individuals whom he considers qualified and who are willing to take the unpaid positions and the headaches which will go with them.

A fifth member of the Redevelopment Authority will be named by the chairman of the State Housing Board.

The Mayor made his statements while commenting on the action of the Board of Aldermen Monday night in adopting a resolution expressing concern about the delay in moving ahead with the renewal program and urging the early appointment of the members of Newton's Redevelopment Authority.

Alderman Franklin N.

Flaschner of Waban was the sponsor of the resolution which was adopted by a unanimous 17-0 rollcall vote.

"We on the board here set up a course when we created the Redevelopment Authority," Flaschner said in his resolution, "but the course is being overgrown with weeds before the play has even begun.

"Now, admittedly, it is difficult to find four top-notch appointees to such an Authority, but I gather from talking to the Mayor today that he is redoubling his efforts to make these appointments very shortly," the resolution continued.

In its conclusion, the resolution stated: "Resolved, that it is the consensus of the Newton Board of Aldermen that the appointment of the members of Newton Redevelopment Authority is critical, and that this Body, in agreement with the Mayor's present intention to do so, urges that he submit these appointments to the Board as soon as he can fulfilling his other duties and his responsibility for naming competent and qualified persons to membership on this Authority."

Seven members of the Board of Aldermen were absent when Flaschner's

Abatements Jump Here

The new laws that exempt certain elderly owners of homes and increase parsonage exemptions, have occasioned a marked increase in abatement of 1964 taxes by the Board of Assessors, Mayor Donald L. Gibbs reports.

The abatements totaled $458,953, $150,000 more than was expected.

With enactment of the law giving $2000 exemptions to certain homeowners over 70 years of age, the assessors set the total over- lay for exemptions at $308,746, but the total exceeded their estimate by $150,477.

Favored Local Hockey Tigers In Game Today

Newton High School's hockey team is favored to win its second game in the State tournament when it meets Malden Catholic High at the Boston Arena at 5:50 this afternoon (Thursday).

While the records of Newton High and Malden Catholic are very similar, the Tigers met stiffer opposition during the season than did the Malden youths.

Newton had a record of 11 victories, two ties and one defeat in GBI League play and easily won its first contest in the State tournament when it swamped Masconomet Regional High of Boxford 12-1 last Saturday.

Malden Catholic won 11 games, tied two and lost two in its league competition and

Renewal Program Stirs Newton Corner Protest

More than three hundred Newton Corner residents voiced stormy reactions to the Community Renewal Program as presented by City Planner James E. Miller at a meeting of the Charles River Civic Association last Friday, February 26, at the Hunnewell Club.

Demands were heard for a new Housing Standards Survey that would incorporate fair warning as well as demands for representation on the Urban Renewal Authority yet to be established.

Introducing Mr. Miller was the association's president, Mary P. Cunningham, who indicated that Newton Corner residents had too long labored in the dark as to their future in the Garden City. It was hoped that some immediate and workable answers would result from an interchange of ideas between residents and the various city departments in connection with the city's renewal plans.

Even before Mr. Miller completed his discussion of the Chamber of Commerce film, however, the audience began levelling strongly-worded questions at him.

Leading the discussion was Attorney William P. McCarthy who stated that area residents had long been willing to upgrade their property if they could have some assurance that it would not be in vain.

He reminded the audience that Newton Corner had been the target of "renewal" talk

$4,000 Goal Set For Field Service Drive

Mayor Gibbs greeted the American Field Service students this week as the local AFS chapter launched its drive to raise funds for its 1965-66 students exchange program.

Leonard Canner, chairman of the drive, stated that the Newton committee must raise $4,000 to help finance exchange scholarships for the coming year.

Projected plans call for financing four foreign students who will live in private homes and attend the Newton high schools. The local chapter must also be prepared to aid in scholarships to Newton students who are going abroad to serve as good will

Henry Cabot Lodge Reported Considering Run For Senate

Rumblings in Republican circles indicate that former UN Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge is considering an attempted political comeback as a candidate for the U. S. Senate next year if Leverett Saltonstall decides to retire from office.

At least, some persons close to Lodge say that is the case. One former Lodge lieutenant has been urging GOP leaders not to commit themselves for next year's Republican State Convention until they see what happens between now and then.

It is quite possible that Lodge himself is not as anxious to return to Capitol Hill as a freshman Senator as some of his friends are to get him back into political action.

Certainly, Lodge's own activities in recent years could hardly be construed as reflecting any strong desire on his part to return to the political arena as a combatant.

Delay Action On Col. McCauley's Appointment

Mayor Gibbs' appointment of Lt. Col. George W. McCauley, U. S. Air Force, retired, to the long-vacant position of Street Commissioner at a salary of $12,000, was tabled by the Board of Aldermen at Monday night's meeting.

A few of the members of the board had an opportunity to meet Col. McCauley and talk with him briefly prior to the session's start. However, because most of the Aldermen arrived at City Hall too late to allow for a discussion of the job with the former airman, it was voted to put off action on his appointment until the next meeting, on Monday, Mar. 15.

Reason for the position's having been vacant for many months was attributed to the difficulty of finding a man capable of filling it. Meantime, Willard S. Pratt, director of public works, has doubled as temporary street commissioner.

Another of the mayor's appointments was confirmed Monday night following a meeting of the Aldermen as a committee of the whole late in the evening. It was that of William H. Wolf, 255 Mill St., Newtonville, as a member of the Board of Public Welfare to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Kay Elbaum.

Glee Clubbers To Sing Friday At Church Event

The Highland Glee Club of Newton will present a concert Friday evening Mar. 5 in the First Parish Church in Dorchester, the oldest church in Boston.

This church, which had its beginning in 1630, was known as The Meeting House and the hill on which it stands is still known as Meetinghouse Hill. On Mar. 28, members of the First Parish Church will celebrate the 335th anniversary of the exact date of its founding.

The concert by the Highland Glee Club at 8:15 o'clock in the Parish Hall will be under the auspices of the First Parish Church Laymen's League of which Timothy Jakimides is the president. The Rev. Mr. James K. Allen is the minister.

Directing the Highland Glee Club will be Dr. Homer Whitford, A.F.A.G.O., of Belmont, organist and music director in First Church Chestnut Hill. Herbert Hobbs of Malden, organist and music director in the First Baptist Church in Watertown, is the glee club accompanist and will be heard in several piano compositions during the concert.

for many years which had created an uncertainty in the minds of area property owners about the value of maintenance and repair. Labelling the 1962 Housing Standards Survey—on which the CRP Report was based—as grossly unfair, he pointed out that it was done under the cloak of secrecy and without fair warning to property owners as to the results.

Former Alderman Benjamin F. Shattuck commented that part of the area's so-called blight stemmed directly from the neglect of absentee commercial property landlord which had resulted in loss of hope by residents in the immediate area.

High rise apartment plans for property adjacent to the Charles River as revealed by Mr. Miller came in for a storm of protest and grave alarm was expressed at the continuing "traffic mess" that prevails in the vicinity.

Calling for immediate appointment of an Urban Renewal Authority was Rep. Joseph Bradley who expressed the opinion that "only in this way will we know what exactly is in store for us here in the Corner."

Replying to questions regarding the protection of property owners rights and control over decisions made by the Urban Renewal Authority was Alderman William E. Hopkins who pointed out that final decisions on rezoning as well as various aspects of financing would still rest with the Newton Board of Aldermen.

Several in the audience questioned the bases of compensation for properties taken, referring to the experiences of Turnpike takings in which many Newton people could not afford to buy homes in Newton again with their receipts from these takings. Mr. Miller assured the audience that no eminent domain takings were contemplated in the Newton Corner area and that it would be developed by "free" enterprise interests.

The meeting closed with a call for an immediate meeting with the Mayor to discuss the need for a new Housing Standards Survey to be publicly announced in advance as well as a demand for Newton Corner representation among the members of any Urban Renewal Authority that might be appointed.

Library Group Meeting To Be Held March 7th

The Friends of the Newton Free Library announce that Harold J. Berman, Professor of Law at Harvard University, and Phillip J. McNiff, associate librarian of the Harvard College Library and member of the faculty of Arts and Sciences, will speak at the first meeting of the Friends to be held at the Main Library on Center Street at 8 p.m. Sunday evening, Mar. 7.

Professor Berman, the author of nine books and some sixty articles, is considered to be an expert in Russian affairs.

A resident of Newton and a member of the advisory committee of the Friends of the Newton Free Library, Professor Berman holds some unusual ideas of what a city library can be, especially in the realm of international affairs, and will speak about "The Library We Deserve."

Mr. McNiff will be remembered by the Newton community for his work on the survey of the Newton Free Library which was completed in April, 1964.

A resident of Newton, Mr. McNiff is a member of the Board of Directors of the Newton Junior College and is on the Advisory Board of Newton College of the Sacred Heart, AMHN, The Boys Club of Boston Library Committee, and the Friends of the Newton Free Library. He is a member of the Association of Research Libraries and a past president of the Massachusetts Library Association.

In 1959 he was appointed by the governor to be a member of the Administrative Library Commission to study the subject of State Aid to Public Libraries. He is eminently qualified to speak on "The Role of the Central Library in the Community."

An organization devoted to improving library service, the Friends of the Newton Free Library supports the Board of Trustees of the Newton Free Library in its recommendation that a new Main Library be built on the site of the Mason School in Newton Centre.

All residents who are interested in the library are urged to attend this meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Scribe Reports On A Weekend In Beehive Cabin

The following account of Girl Scout activity was written by Scribe Patricia O'Connell, 5 Adella avenue, West Newton:

Twenty-five members of Cadette Girl Scout troop 596 of West Newton recently spent a winter weekend at the Beehive, a cabin at Cedar Hill in Waltham. This was a special weekend where Cadette troops gathered from all over the state to work on skills for the Emergency Preparedness Challenge, which is a part of the First Class rank.

Led by Mrs. Thomas Hayden, Mrs. Ralph Almsmeyer and Mrs. Robert Lacey, the girls were divided into work groups according to the badge they are working on in regular troop meetings. The leaders of the groups were Denise Drummond of the Chef badge group, Florence Almsmeyer of the Puppeteers, and Geraldine Casey of the Home Nurse group.

After a daytime program of compass work, first aid and tobogganing, all the campers gathered in Great Hall for a campfire Saturday night. Each troop was responsible for a skit, and Troop 596 put on a humorous shadow play of an operation, with Clare Sweeney as the doctor and Kathy Altman as the patient.

The troop returned to Newton in a snow storm on Sunday after a memorable time of camping together.

BOAC Promotes Newton Native

Edward J. Maynes, a native of Newton, was recently promoted to the position of district sales manager in New York City for British Overseas Airways Corporation.

Maynes, 38, joined BOAC five years ago, and worked for two years in the Boston office. He then served in Beverly Hills, Calif., and most recently in Pittsburgh, Penn., where he was district sales manager.

LETTERS

Editor of The Graphic:

I should like this to appear in The Graphic in answer to the recent letter signed "Some Newton Taxpayers."

The members of the Friends of the Newton Free Library are aware of the cost involved in the proposal to build a new main library in Newton Centre. As taxpayers, we are willing to identify ourselves in support of this project.

We are presently spending over $370,000 per year on the library. This impressive expenditure cannot give top quality library service when the main facility is totally inadequate.

We believe that the project is long overdue, that its cost may rise if postponed, and that it will not put a burdensome annual increase on us and other Newton taxpayers.

We invite all Newton taxpayers to get more information at the Friends meeting on March 7th at 8 p.m. at the Library, 414 Center St., Newton.

NAOMI G. GORDON,
(Mrs. Melville H.)
Friends of the Newton Free Library.

Favors Library

Editor of The Graphic:

Let no one underestimate the importance of a good library.

For many years I have enjoyed the Newton Public Library System, but now without a car I find it less convenient to travel to the main room to read certain books that are not allowed to be circulated. Therefore I would welcome a new central library here in Newton Centre.

Although we had no children of school age in our family we paid taxes, at least my parents did for the pleasant suburb has given to us.

Rachel Aborn Andersen.

Teacher Gets $1,000 Award For Research

A $1000 fellowship has been awarded to Richard W. Sprague, a teacher at Newton High School, by Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration and the Harvard-Newton Project in Business History and Economic Concepts.

The Sprague award is based on his plan for a case study of several 17th Century merchants, focusing on the moral and economic challenge faced by the businessman of Colonial Massachusetts.

It is part of a program to prepare materials designed to expand the understanding of high school students of New England business and economic concepts.

The Harvard-Newton Project in Business History and Economic Concepts is sponsored by the Newton public schools with the cooperation of Harvard School of Business Administration. Financial support for the project has been received from a variety of national foundations and corporations.

Mr. Sprague received his undergraduate training at the University of Massachusetts, and received a Master of Arts in Education from Harvard in 1961. This is his second year at Newton High School, where he teaches history and problems of democracy. He and Mrs. Sprague live at 83 Herrick road, Newton Centre.

International Affairs Day At Woman's Club

Tuesday, Feb. 16, was International Affairs Day at the Newtonville Woman's Club.

Political Highlights

He could have run for the U. S. Senate in 1962 but instead allowed his son, George C. Lodge, to make the campaign against Senator Edward M. Kennedy.

Lodge might have gained his party's nomination for President last year if he had come home and fought for it instead of remaining in Viet Nam until Barry Goldwater had the preconvention battle won.

Whatever Lodge's intentions and future political plans may be, there is a sharp difference of opinion as to whether he would be as formidable a candidate for the U. S. Senate as his boosters claim.

Neither is there any assurance that Lodge could best an adversary of the stature of Attorney General Edward W. Brooke in either a convention or a primary.

Lodge is no hero with certain elements within his own party.

Admirers of the late Robert A. Taft have never forgiven Lodge for the manner in which he helped to scuttle Taft's Presidential hopes. Basil Brewer, New Bedford newspaper publisher, has been the head of that group for more than a decade.

Followers of Barry Goldwater would not be likely to take up the cudgels for Lodge in either a primary or an election campaign.

Lodge has been publicly accused of campaigning in too leisurely fashion and of "keeping bankers' hours" when he was the Republican nominee for Vice President in 1960.

Many Massachusetts Republicans feel that Lodge has not been active enough in political affairs in his home State and claim that he has kept back out of harm's way when the going has been rough.

How much merit there is to these allegations is a matter of sharp dispute.

Lodge gained great glamor during the years of the Eisenhower administration when he was arguing the United States case in the United Nations.

His reputation as a tremendous vote-getter, however, at times has been the subject of lively debate among political analysts.

Lodge won three state-wide fights for the U. S. Senate.

In 1936 he defeated the late James M. Curley after Curley for two years had been something of a storm center as Governor and had been involved in one controversy after another.

Sinclair Weeks, incidentally, was supposed to get the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate this year.

But Weeks and other GOP bigwigs took too much for granted, and Lodge snatched away the nomination in a big upset. That started a feud between Lodge and Weeks which lasted for years.

In 1942 Lodge defeated former Congressman Joseph Casey. That was at the height of World War II. There was a public tendency to stand pat and not change horses. Casey was not an especially strong candidate and was not well known in the Greater Boston area. In the primary Casey had defeated the late John F. Fitzgerald, grandfather of the late President Kennedy.

Shortly after winning that election, Lodge resigned from the Senate and entered the service.

In 1946 Lodge defeated the late Senator David I. Walsh in what has been acclaimed as his greatest political feat.

The fact is that Walsh, who had been Lodge's mentor in the Senate, was old, feeble and near the end of the line. In addition, a strong Republican tide was running not only in Massachusetts but across the nation.

That tide was so strong it resulted in the election of the last Republican Congress. It left Democratic campaigns in a shambles everywhere, including Massachusetts.

Lodge, of course, was defeated by the late John F. Kennedy in 1952 even though former President Eisenhower carried the Bay State by 200,000

Local Educators Chairmen of B.U. Alumni Dinner

Three Newton educators will serve as chairmen for the dinner climaxing day-long ceremonies marking the dedication of Boston University's new facilities in the 19-story Law-Education building on the Charles River campus, Monday, Mar. 15, at 7 p.m. in the Sheraton Plaza ballroom.

They are Frank Zarvis, Beethoven School principal; Ernestine McDonough, teacher at Meadowbrook Junior High School, and Herbert Calahan, principal of the Pierce School.

The dedication, sponsored by the School of Education's Alumni Association, will be combined with the annual observance of Founders Day.

Legal experts who have looked into the matter say that such a tax would be unconstitutional since it would apply to some persons but not to others.

So the legislators in the end get back to a choice between a sales tax or a tremendous increase in the State income tax if they are to do anything about lowering city and town tax rates.

Tests of sentiment which have been made by reliable polling organizations indicate that a majority of persons would prefer a sales tax.

Kevin White Tests Political Strength

Secretary of State Kevin H. White is in the process of making surveys to determine how much strength he would have in a fight for the Governorship.

White has not decided to run for Governor, but he is giving serious thought to such a move.

While White has done an excellent job as Secretary of State for the past four years, there is considerable doubt that he is ready yet to match his vote-getting ability with political heavyweights of the stamp of Boston Mayor John F. Collins and former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, Jr.

Secretary White was one of a group of Democrats who supported Francis X. Bellotti against ex-Governor Endicott Peabody both at the Democratic State Convention last June and in the primary last September.

If it does, Volpe's package may be shelved and the Democratic proposal adopted.

If it doesn't, a terrific row is almost certain to erupt in which local officials looking for relief presumably would participate.

What most Democratic chieftains would like to avoid if it is possible to do so, of course, is the enactment of a sales tax.

As a practical matter, however, there are only two ways by which the State can raise an additional $150 million.

One is by the adoption of a sales tax. The other is by a staggering increase in the State income tax.

A $50 million boost in the State income tax is being recommended to enable the Commonwealth to pay its own bills.

If another $100 or $150 million were added onto that to help out the cities and towns, it would make a tremendous dent in pay envelopes.

Other possible taxes are being discussed on Beacon Hill, but they would not yield more than a few million dollars.

Some of the taxes being talked about at the State House are nothing more than crackpot ideas.

For example, there have been reports that a law might be adopted enabling a city or town to impose a head tax on persons who worked in that community but lived somewhere else.

This would mean that Boston would be able to levy a head tax on persons who work in the Hub but reside in one of the bedroom communities.

Conversely, Bostonians who earn their living outside their own city would be subject to a head tax by the community in which they were employed.

Local Men Lead Parleys On Uses Of Accounting

Joseph Nass, 20 Wessex road, Newton Centre, director of contracts for Ite Corporation, was chairman of the section on "The Role of an Accountant in a Defense-Oriented Company" at a recent sectional meeting of Boston

Chapter, National Association of Accountants.

George White, 36 Walnut park, Newton, a tax accountant with Arthur Young & Company, was a discussion leader in the "taxation" section.

The NAA is an educational and research organization aimed at bringing about a better understanding of the nature, purposes and uses of accounting as applied to all types of economic endeavor.

Local Church To Have Alps Travel Films

The latest of France's and Arnold Black's Wonderful World Travelogues, "Best of the Alps," will be presented at 8 o'clock on Thursday evening, March 11, at Central Congregational Church, Walnut St., in Newtonville.

Enthusiastically received by every audience, these Travelogues are produced and photographed in Agfachrome color by Mr. Black, with narrative pre-recorded on Stereophonic tape by Mrs. Black.

"Best of the Alps" will be a one and a half hour breathtaking adventure of snow-capped peaks, glaciers, castles, and music-box houses, waterfalls, meadow and mountain flora, and funicular and cog-railway rides. Included will be the magnificent Alp regions of Germany, Austria, France, Italy, and Switzerland, highlighted by visits to Oberammergau, Berchtesgaden, Innsbruck, Chamonix, Geneva, Interlaken, the Castles of Linderhof and Chillon, and rides to the tops of the Hafeleker, Aiguille du Midi and Jungfrau.

The public is cordially invited to attend this first showing of "Best of the Alps." Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Government Contracts Awarded Local Firm

Two government contracts totaling $78,692 have been awarded to ALPHA MICRO-WAVE, INC., a small-business concern in Newton Upper Falls, by the Defense Supply Agency's electronics supply center, Dayton, Ohio.

A $50,189 firm, fixed-price contract calls for 47,618 semiconductor devices.

A $28,503 award was made for 27,746 semiconductor devices.

PLANNERS FOR WOMEN VOTERS DRIVE — The finance committee and captains of the Newton League of Women Voters Finance Drive at recent meeting. Drives opens today, Thursday, March 4.

New Yearly Rate For the Graphic

Because of higher production costs it has been necessary to increase the subscription charge for The Graphic from $3 to $4 per year. This will apply to all new subscriptions and to future renewals of existing subscriptions. The newsstand price of 10 cents per copy remains unchanged.

Course Starts In Decorating Various Cakes

Anthony J. Bibbo, executive of the Newton Community Center, Inc., announces that Ruth Lucas of Harvard St., Newtonville, is conducting an eight week course in cake decorating at the Community Center, 429 Cherry St., West Newton, which began Wednesday, March 3.

Mrs. Lucas, formerly of Schrafft's in Boston, has many years experience specializing in birthday, wedding, and Bar Mitzvah cakes, and is widely known for her creative "conversation type" cakes.

In commenting on the course, Mrs. Lucas stated that a homemaker with little or no experience can easily learn to decorate beautifully and professionally, starting with the simple steps of cake decorating to border work, beautiful life-like flowers, lattice work, basket weaving, scenic and special cake arrangements.

She will continue, as in previous classes, the practice of giving a decorated cake to one of the lucky individuals present in the class. Mrs. Lucas will decorate the prize cake as a demonstration in the first session.

Applications for this class are available at the Center, 429 Cherry St., or by phoning 244-2260.

Jap Dancers At Newton Jr College Rites

Shugetsu Fujima, former star of the Japanese theatre, and a company of three will perform a program of Kibuki, folk, and modern dances Tuesday morning, March 9, at 10:30 o'clock at the Newton Junior College convocation to be held at Newton High School Auditorium.

She began studying Japanese dance at the early age of three and at the age of 15 obtained the authorized certificate of Professional Dancing Teacher and received the stage name of "Shugetsu Fujima".

Several times she was winner of the Dance Contest of all Japan and has been acclaimed for her excellence in creating original dances.

The "Tokyo - Shimbun", which is somewhat comparable to "Variety", has continually noted Shugetsu Fujima as one of the best dancers in Japan. During her career in Japan, she was honored by former Prime Minister Ikeda as one of the outstanding artists of that country.

Madame Shugetsu Fujima now resides with her husband Dr. Yukio Mikawa, and their daughter, Kazuko, in Arlington.

The public is cordially invited to attend this program, which will be performed in traditional costume.

Roy S. Reiss of 409 Lowell Ave., Newtonville, enrolled in the "communications program" of the Cambridge School of Broadcasting, Boston, has been named to the President's Honor List.

Through its Voter Service, the League works for voter registration, conducts candidates' meetings, and distributes candidates' questionnaires.

The League was instrumental in gaining public approval of the referendum question limiting the power of the Executive Council, and in securing installation of an electric roll call in the state legislature.

The League has also taken action on state issues such as the civil service, the correction system, fiscal policies, regional planning, public education, the structure of government, and water resources.

In Newton, the League supports measures to improve public health facilities, recreation facilities, and the library service. It takes an active interest in matters related to zoning, our public schools, the Newton Junior College, and other issues of vital concern to the community.

The League hopes that all members of the community will contribute to its support so that it may continue to work effectively for better government for all citizens.

Prayer

The Rev. Charles Collins, pastor of the Myrtle Baptist Church will speak at the 8 p.m. service in the Centenary Methodist Church in Auburndale.

Mrs. Stewart Holmes, president of the United Church Women in Newton, has urged all residents who cannot attend either of these services to pause for a brief period of silent prayer at noon.

"With the troublesome world situation we find ourselves in, this first Friday in Lent, so consecrated in more than 125 nations, will surely want to be observed here in Newton," Mrs. Holmes stated.

Theme of the 1965 World Day of Prayer is "What Doth the Lord Require?" This opportunity for fellowship at a deep level and the experience of Christian unity in prayer all over the world can be the privilege of all, according to Mrs. Hill.

Gerald L. Kaplan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kaplan, 59 Hyde Ave., Newton, senior at Dudley College of Business Administration, Dudley, has been named to the Dean's List for the first semester.

Former Local Residents Mark Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary

On their fiftieth wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Corkum of Watertown, formerly of Newton, were honored at an open house at their residence.

The party was given by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ian Wentzell of 26 Maple avenue, Newton.

Traditional gold and white flowers made a pretty setting for the gala event. A highlight of the gay table decorations was a double tiered anniversary cake.

Mrs. Corkum wore a smartly styled red dress accented with a white orchid.

The couple, who received a score of gifts and cards, have two grandchildren.

Mr. Corkum was associated with Wellesley College.

Background For Flowers Theme Of Centre Club

"Background for Flowers" was the theme for members of the Newton Centre Garden Club, who met in the auditorium of the Newton Centre Woman's Club Tuesday morning, Feb. 16, at 10 o'clock.

Members created vignettes featuring flower arrangement in harmony with their special collections, interests and hobbies.

The staging committee for this unusual program comprises Mrs. Cameron S. Thompson, Mrs. Richard V. Ewer, Mrs. George E. Wile, Mrs. James S. Barrie, Mrs. David C. Dittmore, Mrs. Charles K. Beatty, Mrs. Benjamin T. Fawcett, Mrs. Robert S. Mullen and Mrs. Charles M. Wilson.

The entire program was under the direction of Mrs. Henry F. Cate, Jr. vice-president and program chairman of the club.

Mrs. Shepard F. Williams, president, conducted a short business meeting and luncheon will be served by the hospital committee. The pourers were Mrs. Christopher Dundan, Jr. and Mrs. Harry E. Moore.

Women Of 5 Local Churches Combine In Aid For Hospital

Women of five Newton Centre churches, intent on helping their community hospital, will join together next Monday morning (Mar. 8th) to sew and prepare articles for Newton Wellesley Hospital.

Launching Five-Church Belles Day are women of the First Baptist Church; The First Church in Newton, Congregational; Trinity Church, Episcopal; Lutheran Church of Newton; and Newton Centre Methodist Church.

The women are reflecting a spirit rampant in the western suburbs. Newton-Wellesley Hospital is striving to raise $3.5-million to add two new additions, thus overcoming conditions of crowding and obsolescence. Working for the hospital is a job uniting all citizens west of Boston in 1965.

The sewing belles will meet on Monday at 9:30 a.m. for a worship service at the Lutheran Church of Newton. Beginning at 10 a.m. at the First Baptist Church the ladies will fashion surgical linens, and materials for the Pediatric Department.

Following a luncheon at 1 p.m. at the Newton Centre Methodist Church, the women will hear William S. Brines of Wellesley, director of the community's 260-bed hospital, discuss "To Know Is To Understand." He will describe needs of the hospital, and how they must be met so the hospital can remain in the vanguard of medical achievement.

General chairman of Five-Church Belles Day is Mrs. P. Edward Eden of Newton Highlands, president of the Woman's Union of First Baptist Church and a past president of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association.

Vice chairmen are Mrs. Otis E. Stephenson, president of the Women's Benevolent Society of the First Church; Mrs. Franklin P. Hawkes, president of the Women's Auxiliary of Trinity Church; Mrs. John A. Grove of Trinity Church; Mrs. Merrill W. Kidman and Mrs. Ralph I. Hubley of the Ladies Guild of the Lutheran Church; and Mrs. Edward G. Henderson, president of the Women's Society for Christian Service of the Methodist Church.

Co-chairmen of the work program are Mrs. John A. Richmond and Mrs. Giles O. Martin of First Baptist Church. Luncheon chairman is Mrs. Charles L. Renker of Newton Centre Methodist Church, while Mrs. George E. Harlan of that church is chairman of tickets and name tags.

Mrs. William W. Carpenter of First Baptist Church will organize a nursery service at her church for the day.

Other committee members at the churches include: First Baptist Church, Mrs. Max R. Brauner, Mrs. John A. Kuhns, Mrs. Wallace W. Morse, Miss Marion Wheeler and Mrs. Gardner K. Wood; First Church in Newton, Congregational, Mrs. Duncan A. Brash, Mrs. Frank H. Conant, and Mrs. Robert L. Roth; Lutheran Church of Newton, Mrs. Howard L. Vosburgh; Newton Centre Methodist Church, Mrs. Gordon Y. Chase, Mrs. Norman Ferguson, Mrs. Edward G. Henderson, Mrs. Albert R. MacMillan, and Mrs. Gordon Rowe.

Pastors and their wives who will be head table guests at the luncheon include: The Rev. and Mrs. Harold A. Malmberg, First Baptist; The Rev. and Mrs. Frank M. Weiskel, First Church; The Rev. and Mrs. Howard R. Dunbar, Trinity Church; The Rev. and Mrs. Arthur H. Block, Lutheran Church of Newton; and The Rev. and Mrs. Seaton M. B'nai B'rith Purim Party At Fernald School

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gaffin of Newton Centre, are chairmen of a Purim Party to be sponsored by Mayflower Lodge and Chapter, B'nai B'rith, at the Walter E. Fernald State School, Waltham, Sunday afternoon, March 7, from 3 to 4 o'clock.

A fun-filled program is planned including clowns, refreshments, entertainment, prizes, and a gift bag for each youngster.

Lodge member Bernie Winsten, dressed in clown costume, will act as master of ceremonies, and Bernie Goldberg, also as a clown, will add to the festivities.

Taking part in the program will be Rabbi David B. Alpert, chaplain at the school, pupils of the Alda Marova Dance Studios of Newtonville, and Isadore Dovebur, who will play the guitar and lead in community singing.

This is one of the many projects sponsored by the Citizenship, Veterans and Community Affairs Committee of the Lodge and Chapter of which Mr. and Mrs. Gaffin, Dr. Andrew Dibner and Mrs. Phillip Markell are in charge of arrangements.

Also, serving on the committee are Henry Austin, Fred Glass, Bill Jacobs, Goldie Brass, Rae Deitch, Phyllis Dovebur, Phyllis Friedman, Ann Furman, Helen Gordon, Ethel Levy, Mildred Pearlman, Florence Lotchie, Alice Piken, Selma Portney, Sylvia Rosendorf, Ruth Snyder, and Rhoda Winsten.

Nathan Guzovsky and Mrs. Charles Vengrov are presidents of Mayflower Lodge and Chapter, respectively.

Lenten Series On Aspects Of The Church's Place

A series of Wednesday evenings in Lent with varied programs arranged by the First Baptist Church in Newton, each centered around some relevant aspect of the church's place in the world, opened yesterday (Wednesday, Mar. 3), with a discussion led by the Rev. Vincent DeGregorio.

The opening program (titled in the series "A Word With The World," was "Edge of the City."

Following are the programs to follow on each Wednesday, all at 7:30 o'clock except the final one, which will be at 8:

Mar. 10 — Freedom Choir from Blue Hill Christian Center, the Rev. Virgil Wood, speaker.

Mar. 17 — A film, "The World, the Flesh and the Devil," followed by discussion, the Rev. Norman K. Gottwald, leader.

Mar. 24 — Dr. Harold J. Berman, Harvard Law School, "The Church in Communist Countries."

Mar. 31 — Film, "Bad Luck at Black Rock," discussion to follow, the Rev. Harold Malmberg, leader.

Apr. 7 — Play, "Aria da Capa," Andover Newton Theological School Players.

Apr. 15 — Maundy Thursday Communion, First Church in Newton.

There will be no admission fee, and offerings will be received.

Students Help Feed And Clothe Sharecroppers

A net profit of $60, realized last December from an all-school dance sponsored by the student council of Bigelow Junior High School, has supplemented funds raised by the Students for Human Rights, a Newton High School group and an affiliate of SNCC (Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee). SNCC provides food and clothing for poverty-stricken Negro sharecroppers discriminated against in McComb, Mississippi. The Bigelow group conducted the dance with the intention of helping the cause financially, and so great was the response, the student council had to have extra tickets printed in a hurry.

Need For New Library Explained By Trustees

(Editor's Note — This is the second part of a communication, sent to the Aldermanic Committee studying the library survey report, by Mrs. George F. Brewer, president of the library trustees. Last week's installment reviewed the functions of the main library.)

"IN THE SECOND PLACE, in 1961 the circulation procedures were changed, allowing a three week instead of a two week loan period. At the same time telephone renewals were discontinued. Standard library procedure is to count telephone renewals as well as personal renewals in the circulation figures. Many people now finish and return books at the end of the three week period. Those who renew, do so only once in person as compared with twice under the old system. This coupled with the cessation of telephone renewals has reduced the numerical circulation, while the actual number of borrowers has not decreased. By the same token, if the borrowing period should be reduced to one week with five renewals permitted, the circulation figures might triple.

"IN THE THIRD PLACE, in June of 1962 demolition began for the toll road, which was completed in September 1964. The biggest drop in circulation coincided with the confusion created at Newton Corner by this operation, and reached its lowest ebb in 1963 when circulation at the Main Library had fallen to 184,449 volumes from 206,858 in 1961. However, even in the bleak year, total circulation was, as the recent item in the Graphic pointed out, 8.6 per capita, as compared to the average of 6.9 per capita for the state of Massachusetts during the same year.

"Other points raised in the article are discussed below: 'THE BRANCHES: The article states, 'The Humphry-McNiff study recommends the abandonment of the present ten branches.' 1) No such arbitrary recommendation is made, as a careful scrutiny of the survey report will reveal.

"Of the total library circulation in 1963, over 65 percent came from the branch library system. 1) A very large part of the use of the Main Library is for research and study which is done at the library. A researcher may use 20 or more books in a day without circulating any of them. This use does not show in the circulation figures. The branches, on the other hand, are used mostly for recreational and general reading, and most of the books so used are circulated. 2) The Trustees recommended implementation of the part of the survey report dealing with the new central library on the site of the old Mason School. They did not recommend implementation of the part dealing with the branches, as branch use cannot be evaluated until the pattern of use with a new main library has been established.

"THE NEW MAIN BUILDING: The item in the Graphic states: 'The study recommends an edifice nearly three times as large as the present Main Library... of which only 42.3% will be used for book storage.'

"Other matters having been clarified, it is now possible to give some of the reasons why we need a new building. But first — to clear up just one last misleading statistic — on page 7, chapter 2 of the survey report it clearly states; 'Considering the cultural level of the community and the heavy use of the present inadequate facilities, it is recommended that planning be based on 65,000 square feet. This is a little over twice the size of the present Main Library not nearly three times. The present Main building is 31,000 square feet. 'The reasons why we need a larger building are legion, but to mention only a few: 1) There should be space enough for comfortable chairs in which to sit and read or study throughout the building — not just a few straight chairs of uncomfortable height and massed in only four small areas. 2) There should be space enough to make the children's collection an integral part of this new library — instead of having it housed in a hundred year old house a block away from it. 3) There should be space for all of the books — not just the newest ones — to be conveniently located and easy to find in well lighted areas — instead of having them stacked in a dark musty cellar and a glass-topped attic, where the temperature is nearly 100 degrees in the summer and 60 degrees in the winter. 4) Approximately 42.3% of the new building will be for books. The remaining 57.7% will be for public service and reading areas, circulation of

Newton Native Teaches Writing At Shaw Prep

Norman Thomas DiGiovanni, author and critic, Newton native and son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo DiGiovanni, 313 Country Club Rd., Newton Centre, taught the five-month course in first-term creative writing at the Shaw Preparatory School in Copley Square, Boston, a course in which the students are reported as having made excellent progress.

Mr. DiGiovanni's work has appeared in The Atlantic, the Nation, and the New Republic. He has been the recipient of two Rabinowitz Foundation grants for an historical study of Sacco and Vanzetti, in connection with which he traveled in Italy for four months in 1964. Mr. DiGiovanni has edited a collection of poems by the modern Spanish poet Jorge Guillen entitled, "Cantico: A Selection." The book, to be published by Atlantic-Little, Brown will be released in the Spring of 1965.

Barbara Bogen, a Newton High alumnae who attends Ohio State University, has been elected to Chi Delta Phi, a woman's honor society. Priscilla Bogen, also a Newton High graduate, who attends George Washington University, attended the pre Inaugural Ball.

White Caterers Offer Complete Bride Services

White Caterers has been in business over 40 years. Fifteen years ago they decided to specialize in weddings only and developed a complete wedding service with special wedding packages.

The complete load is taken off the shoulders of the bride and her mother. No need for dashing around for preparations the hectic week before the wedding. The bride has enough to do without getting involved in checking and rechecking various services. Day of the wedding, White Caterers take complete charge from the time the bride arrives at the reception until she leaves. They do all the services. The bride has the choice of flowers, invitations, etc., the choice of halls, also as to open bar or closed bar.

measure was put to a vote. They were Aldermen William M. Givsky, Harry H. Ham, Jr., George L. Hicks, John F. Holden, John P. McCarthy, Jack M. Roberts and Edward C. Uehlein.

All the other members of the Aldermanic Board voted for the resolution.

Other sections of Alderman Flaschner's resolution were as follows:

"As Chairman of the Aldermanic Committee on City Planning, I have been following the course of the recommendations made in the broad study of the city's physical condition known as the Community Renewal Program Report, or CRP for short. I am gratified to see that a Code Enforcement Office and a Planning Department in the Executive Branch of the City Government have been established and are functioning well to implement many of the other recommendations made in the CRP.

"I was also gratified when this Board created a Redevelopment Authority over nine months ago, not because I was looking forward to any specific project or urban renewal, but rather because the city's policies and actions in the field of urban renewal can be implemented as a matter of law only when such an Authority has been created and is in operation."

"With respect to potential urban renewal the CRP did no more than point out problem areas in the city which we all already knew existed, and the CRP roughly sketched the outline of the areas. It remains for the Redevelopment Authority to define more specifically the problems and the areas, and to make specific recommendations for solutions. Even then, no final action on any solutions can be taken until this Board votes to approve such action.

"This Board's power is not limited to rezoning alone. It must confirm four of the five appointments to the Authority. It must appropriate funds to defray the Authority's initial costs and annual administrative expenses. It must approve all applications to be submitted by the Authority for any federal or state funds for planning and service of proposed renewal projects.

"It must approve all renewal project plans, including financing plans. And it must approve all applications to be submitted by the Authority for federal and state loans or grants to be used in executing any project plans.

"However, while the ultimate control in this vital area of urban renewal planning remains with this Board, it is up to the Redevelopment Authority to develop the guidelines of this city's policies and to develop specific recommendations.

"Neither this Board, nor the Mayor, nor the Planning Department, nor the Planning Board can do this — so long as we contemplate any possible use of urban renewal funds whatever, even for planning and study purposes alone.

"After the creation of the Redevelopment Authority last May, it was generally expected that the positions on the Authority would be filled within a reasonable period of time and the Authority would begin to function.

"More specifically, it was generally expected that one of the first things the members of this Authority would do would be to begin talks with the residents and their representatives living in the neighborhoods which might be affected by any urban renewal plans.

"This would give the Redevelopment Authority, as the instrument of Newton's City Government responsible for formulating policies, decisions in the first instance, the opportunity to meet "at the grass roots", so to speak, and make sure that no recommendations would be arrived at without constructive meetings and discussions first taking place between the members of the Authority and the citizens of Newton most directly involved.

"I should say, in passing, that the sketchy suggestions made in the CRP involve extremely minimal takings of dwelling units, but any property owners proximate to any of these areas are naturally very much concerned.

"This brings me to the point of reviewing this matter with you tonight. In the nine months which passed since we enacted the ordinance creating the Redevelopment Authority, the property owners in these areas, particularly those in the area close to Newton Corner, have been looking for someone to talk to. They have become restive and disturbed, because in the absence of the members of the

Lutheran Will Give Lecture At Hub Center

Dr. George A. Lindbeck, historian and theologian, of Yale Divinity School, official Lutheran Observer at the Vatican Council, will be guest speaker in the Christian Culture Lecture Series at the Paulist Center in Boston on Wednesday, Mar. 10, at 8:15 p.m.

"The Church in the Modern World," which is the title of the controversial Schema 13 of the Vatican Council, will be discussed by Dr. Lindbeck. Rt. Rev. Francis J. Sexton, Chancellor of the Archdiocese, will be chairman of the program.

Dr. Lindbeck has studied and taught at universities in Europe and the United States. In 1962 he was appointed Research Professor of the Lutheran Foundation for Ecumenical Research in Strasbourg, France. He has been involved in theological research on new developments within the Roman Catholic Church, and has made in-depth studies of the theological writings of Father Karl Rahner, S.J., of Munich, Germany, and Father Yves Congar, O.P., of Rome.

Dr. Lindbeck has worked in conjunction with Augustin Cardinal Bea's Secretariat for the Promotion of Christian Unity, in developing better understanding between the Lutheran and Roman Catholic Churches. Mrs. John T. Burns, Mrs. Joseph Stanton, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. White are among the Patrons of the Christian Culture Lecture Series, presented each year by the Paulist Fathers.

Further information can be obtained at the Paulist Center, 5 Park Street, Boston.

Air Force Has Promotion Due

Captain Orville L. Greynolds, son of Mrs. Zola V. McGonigal of 4277 Alum Creek Drive, Columbus, Ohio, has been selected for promotion to major in the U.S. Air Force.

Captain Greynolds is presently undergoing combat crew training with an Air Defense Command unit at Perrin AFB, Tex.

The captain is a graduate of South High School and received his B.A. degree from Ohio State University. He earned his M.S. degree from George Washington University through study completed at the Air University Center, Montgomery, Ala.

Captain Greynolds' wife, Patricia, is the daughter of Mrs. Daniel A. Cahill of 49 Langley Drive, Newton Center. His father, Joseph O. Greynolds, resides on R.F.D. 1, Valencia, Pa.

The captain was commissioned in 1952 at Ohio State upon completion of the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps program.

Criticism Night At Newton Assoc.

Harold Lindergreen, prominent in Boston art circles, will be guest critic for the Newton Art Ass'n., Inc., Thursday evening, March 4th, 7:30, Beethoven School, Waban.

Regular members are urged to bring a painting for this criticism night. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Redevelopment Authority who have still not been appointed, there really is no one they can talk to.

"I should point out further that the problem now festering is not only citizen unrest, but this unrest becomes seeded with suspicion and false rumors of all kinds directed in one way or another to demoralizing any proper planning approach to the problems of urban renewal before it can even get off the ground.

"Moreover, in certain instances, commercial property owners may not wait for the Redevelopment Authority's plans. There may be some isolated and spasmodic private renewal which, by itself, will not represent any great gain to the city or the neighborhood, but which will make the realization of any overall plan in such a neighborhood that much more difficult — or impossible.

"Originally, the Mayor not only told me he was having difficulty finding the right persons to fill the positions, but also told me at one time that he thought he should wait until the FFHA gave its final approval to the CRP.

"This latter item is a mere technicality and may take another six months. The mayor and I have looked into the matter carefully and we find that it is no basis for waiting for this final approval to appoint the members of the Redevelopment Authority."

Michael D. Myerow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Myerow, 142 Morton St., Newton Centre, has been named to the honor roll at Tilton School, N.H., where he is a junior.

CJP Appoints 2 Newton Men As Chairmen

Appointment of two Newton residents as chairmen for the Combined Jewish Philanthropies fund campaign, which opens Mar. 14, has been announced by Norman B. Leventhal, 20 Drumlin Rd., Newton Centre, chairman of the division on Trades and Professions.

Heading the Dentists' team will be Dr. Irving Glickman, 24 Manor House Rd., Newton Centre, a member of the Board of Trustees, Temple Ohabei Shalom, and recipient of distinguished service awards from the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, Tufts Alumni Association and Brooklyn College.

George M. Woolfe, 11 Evelyn Rd., Waban, an electrical construction engineer, will head the Construction and Allied Trades team. He headed the Electrical team in two previous campaigns. A member of the Executive Club of Boston Chamber of Commerce, he is a member of Newton's Temple Shalom.

Anita G. Stanley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M.N. Stanley, 48 Moody St., Chestnut Hill, has been named to the Dean's List of the College of Liberal Arts at Drew University, Madison, N.J.

CHARLES ANDES

Born In Newton To Be Reared In Philadelphia

The story of the New England Advertising Company of Newton Highlands, which has been merged with Adtech Industries, Inc., of Philadelphia, was told in a talk titled "Born in Newton, To Be Reared in Philadelphia," given at a recent Newton Rotary meeting by Charles Andes, president of Adtech Industries.

The date of the meeting, was also the birth date of I. M. Sholkin, founder of New England Advertising, as well as the exact date of his founding of the business in 1908.

One of his sons, Murray Sholkin, is serving as Chairman of the Board of Adtech Industries. Another son, Joseph Sholkin, is Adtech's secretary. Both are lifelong Newton residents.

Following the talk, Murray Sholkin, himself a Newton Rotary member, presented an interesting calendar to the club members. It was exactly the same as the calendar for 1965, including all the holidays, but it was that of the year 1909.

The Newton Highlands office of New England Advertising is being retained.

Temple Building Fund Committee

Congregation Beth El-Atzereth Israel of Newton will activate its building fund committee under the chairmanship of Samuel Matross, it was announced by Melvin L. Chelitz, president.

The Congregation which is presently building a new sanctuary and religious school at Ward street, corner Morseland Ave., Newton Centre, has enrolled a number of new members since the original campaign.

Serving with Mr. Matross on the campaign committee are David Gopen, honorary chairman; Samuel Andler, and Lloyd Axelrod, associate chairmen; Nathan Pearlman, special gifts chairman; Henry Merrin, leadership gifts chairman; Louis Andler, sustaining gifts chairman, Morris Kesselman, general gifts chairman.

Scholarships To Be Given By Gamewell

The Gamewell Division of E. W. Bliss Company, 1238 Chestnut St., Newton Upper Falls, announces the continuance of its scholarship program for the tenth consecutive year.

Twenty-nine students, chosen in competitive interviews in the last four years, are now being assisted in obtaining engineering degrees in the nation's colleges under this program. They are at 20 universities and include candidates for mechanical, electrical, welding, industrial and metallurgical engineering degrees.

Represented among the 29 are students sponsored by each of the company's major manufacturing divisions.

Administered thru the company's personnel offices, this year's program will start with the fall term, and the scholarship will be renewable each year as the student's need and eligibility continue. The amount of financial assistance will be determined by individual need.

To qualify as a candidate, each applicant must have graduated from high school at a fairly recent date with good scholastic ratings, and take qualifying tests prescribed and administered by the company.

Application must be made by Mar. 20 on forms obtainable at the company's personnel office. Interviews will follow, and the company's Scholarship Board will make the final selections.

The scholarship student may select the engineering college he desires to attend. His curriculum should lead to a bachelor's degree in engineering, and he must maintain scholastic and personal standards satisfactory to the college of his choice.

Organization Well Underway For Newton-Wellesley Hospital Drive

Robert C. Casselman, vice president of the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company and a resident of Newton for the past 23 years, has accepted the chairmanship of the Advanced Gifts Committee for Newton-Wellesley Hospital's $3.5 million drive to expand the hospital's facilities, according to Bernard D. Grossman, general chairman of the hospital's building fund campaign.

Accepting co-chairmanships to assist him are Donald B. Conant, associated with the investment banking division of Hornblower & Weeks, Hemphill-Noyes in Boston and also a resident of Newton; Howard E. Hansen, partner in the firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Company of Boston, a resident of Wellesley, and Frederick C. Ober, president of the Newton Savings Bank and a resident of Wellesley.

These four men will organize a team of 800 volunteers, leading citizens of the Newton-Wellesley area, whose function will be to select and visit prospects for major gifts. It is confidently expected that Advance Gifts Committee will raise the larger proportion of the hospital's goal.

The committee's activity will start shortly after the community dinner, scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 24, at Newton High School. Mr. Casselman, a member of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital's Board of Trustees for the past 10 years, is a senior lecturer at Massachusetts Institute of Technology's Sloan School of Industrial Management, and a trustee of Belmont Hill School in Belmont.

First meeting of the Advanced Gifts Committee is scheduled for this (Thursday) evening at 7:45 o'clock in Usen Auditorium at the hospital. The second meeting will take place Sunday afternoon, Feb. 14, at 4 o'clock in the same auditorium.

What Is Man, Is Theme For Bible Lesson

"What is man, that thou art mindful of him?" This question asked by the Psalmist is explored in the Bible Lesson which will be featured at Christian Science Services Sunday. The subject is "Man."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, these lines will be read: "The human capacities are enlarged and perfected in proportion as humanity gains the true conception of man and God. Mortals have a very imperfect sense of the spiritual man and of the infinite range of his thought" (p. 258).

Dr. Brown Joins Advisory Group

Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools, has been appointed a member of the advisory committee to the W.K. Kellogg Foundation's Division of Education.

Other current members are Dr. Vernon R. Alden, president of Ohio University; Samuel P. Goddard, Jr., Governor of Arizona; the Rev. John E. Walsh, C.S.C., vice president; Public Relations and Development, University of Notre Dame; and Dr. B.J. Chandler, Dean, School of Education, Northwestern University. Director of the Foundation's Education Division is Dr. Hollis A. Moore, Jr.

This group, in common with the advisory committees for five other divisions of the foundation, is made up of leaders in the professional field who gave general guidance as to the scope of philanthropic assistance. During the last fiscal year of the Foundation, more than $3 million were granted to aid educational programs and activities in Canada, Europe, Latin America, and the United States.

On Honor Roll

The following Newton students have been announced as winners of honors at Framingham State College for the first semester:

Susan Anderson, 30 Beverly Rd., Newton Highlands, a senior; Carolyn R. Aries, 963 Boylston St., Newton Highlands, freshman; Heidi M. Dieffenbach, 248 Elliot St., Newton Upper Falls, junior; Roberta W.S. Fugli, 154-D Herrick Rd., Newton Centre, senior; Patricia A. Maloney, 1874 Beacon St., Waban, sophomore; Barbara J. GOP City Committee Gets Fine Return In Campaign

Surprisingly good returns are coming in as a result of the appeal for funds made last week, according to William R. Horner, finance chairman, Newton Republican City Committee.

In a letter sent last week to all members of the City Committee, Horner, recently reelected to a two year term as Finance Chairman, pointed up the need for funds with which to carry on the committee's affairs during the current year. Contrary to some predictions based on disinterest during an off year, the money has been coming in.

Working closely with Horner in the current campaign are Ward Finance Representatives, including: John Hughes, Ward One; Dover Wooten, Ward Two; Julius Masow, Ward Three; Warren A. Sutherland, Ward Four; Constantine Bucuvalas, Ward Five; Theodore Green, Ward Six; Dr. W. A. Sieglitz, Ward Seven; Melvin Clayton, Ward Eight.

Cooperating with Horner in the conduct of the campaign are Chairman of the various Wards, among them: Miss Adelaide B. Ball, Ward One; Gwendolyn Giles, Ward Two; Melvin J. Dangel, Ward Three; Louis I. Egelson, Jr., Ward Four; D. Stuart Laughlin, Jr., Ward Five; William Lane Bruce, Ward Six; Benjamin F. Shattuck, Ward Seven; and Jack Roberts, Ward Eight.

Chairman Horner who took on the tough job of raising funds for the local GOP last August has won high praise from City Committee Chairman, Edward C. Uehlein, for his successful efforts. Formerly a public school teacher, Horner is now a statistician with a Boston Insurance Company.

Umpire School Starts Mar. 8

The Newton Community Center announces that an Umpire School will begin at the Center on March 8th. The course will consist of six one hour lessons under the direction of Sal Marrazzo.

Mr. Marrazzo graduated from the Bill McGowan School, Palm Beach, Florida, and has worked as an instructor and at umpiring for over twenty years at the high school, college and professional levels.

The course is suited to both beginners and experienced people in softball and hardball. Content of course will consist of professional version of umpiring, stance position, situation plays, appearance and equipment, etc. For information on this program visit the center at 429 Cherry Street in West Newton or call 244-2260.

AWARD FOR TRAFFIC SAFETY—Gilbert M. Drake, of Mass. Safety Council, awards Certificate of Commendation to Mayor Donald L. Gibbs, in recognition of continued efforts of Newton police department to improve community traffic safety through participation in annual traffic inventory of National Safety Council. Also in photo, Police Chief Philip Purcell, second from right, and Willard Pratt.

Low State Tax Distribution Seen As Budget Hike Cause

John P. Nixon, chairman of the Aldermanic Committee on Finance, opened his explanation of his committee's vote on a number of items on the docket for Monday night's meeting of the Board with a warning that the disappointing figure in the state's apportionment to the city from income and corporation tax returns meant the Board was faced with an unexpected rise in the amount of the 1965 budget.

The following items reported by the Finance, Public Works and Public Building committees were approved by a unanimous vote:

Authorization of a new bond issue of $310,000, and withdrawal of a previous authorization of $300,000 for the Lincoln-Eliot School addition. The increase of $10,000 was to cover the cost of equipment and furnishing, and was attributed to the delay of 18 months in the construction due to litigation over the contract award. New bids had to be obtained after the city prevailed in a court case brought by the lowest bidder, whose bid was refused because of failure to file a duplicate of the bid with the comptroller of accounts.

Other items approved were: A request for $2600 by the fire chief to cover the cost of a new block on a Hercules engine that would prolong the useful life of an old Maxim pumper; pension payments of $1360 to the widow of Charles E. Jenkins, police officer who was retired because of heart disease and who died as a result of it; and $2458 to Austin M. Morgan, senior custodian in the school system, retiring after 35 years of service; requests of the water commissioner for $5480 for installation of a water main in Columbia Ave., and $5560 for one in Cottage St., and a request by the director of public works for $8,000, cost of installation of traffic lights at North and Craft Sts., Newtonville, a heavily traveled area opposite the Alberman playground.

Montessori Study Group Open House

The many Newton families that have sought information about the Montessori Study Group of Wellesley will be interested to learn that there will be an open house at the Gateway Nursery School, the local Montessori nursery school, on Friday evening, March 5, at 8 o'clock.

The school has been operating for several months on a two session basis, and this will be an opportunity to see the classroom as the children use it. The program will consist of an informal talk on the theory of the Montessori Method and a demonstration of the routine of a typical child at the school.

The Gateway School is in Centenary Methodist Church, 230 Central St., Auburndale. On Tuesday, Mar. 9, the study group will meet in the home of Mrs. Allan Cook, 5 Standish Rd., Wellesley, to consider contributors of educational philosophies other than Montessori's, and the concerns of education today.

Million-Dollar Policy

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has congratulated its representative Jack Rosenthal of 77 Fairway Dr., West Newton, for writing the first million-dollar policy contract in 1965.

The insured is a key man and principal owner of one of the largest firms in the Greater Boston area.

John Ciardi To Be Mt. Ida Jr College Speaker

John Ciardi, poetry editor of the "Saturday Review" and former host of CBS-TV television show, "Accent", will be presented as the third offering in the Mount Ida Junior College Celebrity Series this evening, (Thursday, Mar. 4,) at Alumnae Hall on the Mount Ida campus.

The program will get underway at 8:30 p.m. and will be followed by a coffee hour and an opportunity to meet the speaker in Shaw Hall Lounge directly following the lecture.

Mr. Ciardi will have as his subject "What Good Is A College?" Drawing on his many years in teaching at the college level and his background in poetry and literature, he promises to bring a witty and highly interesting discussion to his audience.

Once again, as is the policy at Mount Ida, friends and neighbors of the college in surrounding towns are cordially invited to both the lecture and the coffee hour following. Admission will be free.

Documentary Film At Temple Shalom

A film, "The Price of Silence," a new documentary on the plight of the Soviet Jewry, narrated by Edward G. Robinson, will be a feature of the Friday evening, Mar. 5, Sabbath service at Temple Shalom, 175 Temple St., West Newton.

In addition, Father Louis F. Dion, president of Assumption College Worcester, will speak on "Religion in the Soviet Union" at this post-service discussion following the service. A reception will also be held.

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman will conduct the service and the discussion to follow. Ronnie E. Colbert, a retailing major at Chamberlayne Junior College, Boston, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Colbert, 36 Wiswall Rd., Newton Centre, recently served as a model at a college "Fashions for Work" show.

Plan

"(2) Governor Volpe's message itself states, "... our educational system in Massachusetts is not adequate to meet the space-age needs of our citizens."

"(3) Massachusetts School Committees have been fiscally independent by virtue of Sec. 23 of Chapter 71, of the General Laws, as amended, since the first law mandating public education was passed by the Colonial Legislature in 1647.

"(4) Governor Volpe's proposal that the increase in a School Committee budget for 1966 (other than for additional enrollment) may not exceed 20 per cent of the "new money" unless so voted by a two-thirds vote of the City Council or Town Meeting is a limitation for the first time in Massachusetts history on the traditional fiscal independence of School Committees.

"(5) No evidence has been offered to prove or indicate that such "Expenditure Control" is needed to be imposed upon School Committees.

"(6) Such "Expenditure Control" would force the Newton School Committee as well as some other School Committees to spend less for education in 1966 than 1965, or require these School Committees to go to the city or town for permission to spend more than 20 per cent of the "new money" referred to above.

"(7) If statements No. 1 and No. 2 above are true, then statement No. 6 represents a contradiction and a paradox.

"(8) Any complaints that Massachusetts School Committees have spent too much money or cannot be trusted with the expenditures of substantial sums for education does not bear examination. The action of the Legislature in raising minimum salaries from time to time has substantially increased School Committee budgets without action by the School Committee; in addition various educational programs for the emotionally disturbed, mentally retarded and others created by the Legislature have also increased School Committee budgets without direct action by the School Committees; it is further submitted that the Willis-Harrington Summary Report would not be true if School Committees had, in fact, in the past spent the sums of money that they should have spent but did not.

"(9) The record of School Committees indicates that they can be trusted to wisely use such portions of the "new money" that will be available to them and as will be necessary to improve education without necessarily spending all of it; it may well be assumed that a substantial portion of this "new money" will be available to reduce the property tax in the cities and towns."

Ina Sandberg, Warren Willen Become Engaged

Miss Maureen Regan Bride Of Kenneth Austin Grady

Now making their home in Brighton are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Austin Grady (Maureen Catherine Regan), whose marriage was solemnized recently at the Sacred Heart Church, here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Joseph Regan of 923 Walnut street, Newton Highlands, and Mr. and Mrs. John T. Grady of 138 Middlesex road, Chestnut Hill, are the couple's parents.

The Rev. John W. Corcoran was celebrant of the 10 o'clock nuptial mass. A reception followed in Watertown.

Escorted by her father, the bride's ivory silk alpaca gown was fashioned with a high circlet neckline, an empire bodice, an A-line skirt and a panel train outlined with an insert of Alencon lace.

She wore a full length hand-made mantilla and her flowers were a spray of baby white roses centered with baby pink roses.

Miss Louise Marie Regan of Newton was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Kathleen M. Grady of Chestnut Hill and Washington, D.C., Miss Mary V. Grady of Brookline and Miss Nancy J. Morris of Newton Centre.

MRS. KENNETH A. GRADY

Michael I. Grady of Chestnut Hill, brother of the groom, served as best man. James Boyle of Chestnut Hill, Foster Furcolo Jr., of Newton Centre, Michael Moloney of Newton Centre, James Regan of Newton Highlands, William Regan of Newton Highlands, Michael Smith of Brighton and John Whealan of Chestnut Hill were the ushers.

New York City was the honeymoon destination of the couple.

The bride attended Newton Junior College.

Mr. Grady attended Massachusetts Bay Community College and is now a salesman for Remington Rand.

Home Reception Followed Pryor - Fair Wedding

Nassau was the honeymoon destination of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Pryor (Barbara Fair), whose marriage took place on Saturday, February 20th, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Fair of 54 Longfellow road, Waban.

A reception was held after the 6:30 o'clock afternoon service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's short woolen dress was fashioned with a Guipere lace jacket. A match pillow cap held in place her elbow length illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Lois Aronson of Brookline was the bride's sole attendant.

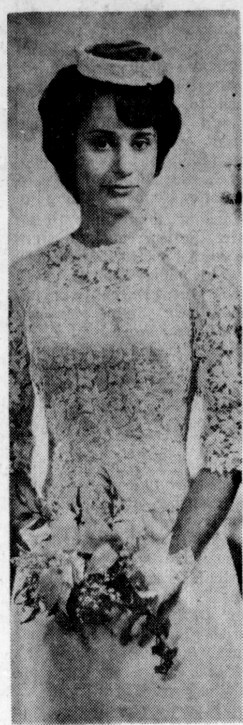

Lt. Donald Carroll Jr., of Baltimore, Md., served as best man.

For her going away costume, the bride chose a three piece blue linen suit.

The couple plan to live in Brookline.

The bride was graduated from Newton High School and Simmons College, class of 1962.

A graduate of the Pomfret School and Trinity College, Mr. Pryor is now in the banking business.

ambassadors under the summer exchange program.

Phillip Bram, co-chairman of the fund drive stressed that the $4,000 is only part of the total cost of supporting the AFS exchange in Newton. The national AFS foundation contributes substantially, and in addition, the parents of each foreign student pay a part of the cost of his trip.

There are currently four foreign students in Newton under AFS sponsorship. Shin-oh Fujito of Japan, now studying at Newton South High, described the more than 3,000 students who come to this country each year as "covering the world with a net of friendship." Also in Newton this year are Christine March from New Zealand, Dia Aziz Dia from Saudi Arabia, and Pascal Huve of France.

Under the Americans Abroad program, Steven Kerzner, South High junior, 95 Levert Road, Newton Centre left in January to spend a year in Sao Paulo, Brazil with Dr. and Mrs. Joao de Silva. Barry Canner left last July to spend a year in Denmark.

Six finalists have been chosen by the local AFS committee to be eligible for the summer exchange abroad. They are: Gerald Maxwell, Helen Taplin, Ellen Garfinkle, and Ann McDaniel from Newton High. Jane Kumin and Leslie Swartz are the finalists from Newton South.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jarrell, co-presidents of the Newton chapter are hopeful that at least half of the local finalists will be selected to go abroad when the decisions are announced by the National AFS committee in New York in the late spring.

In addition to the adult group, the AFS clubs at the two high schools are actively engaged in raising funds. The high school chairmen, Dina Portnoy and Neil Nyren at Newton South and Diane Blumenthal and Sandy Couzens at Newton High announced that there have been several school assemblies at which a large number of "Shares in World Friendship" were sold.

Three will also be work project days at both schools, and the proceeds of the high schools' fund raising activities are expected to provide for approximately one-third the total amount required by

Plans Set For Science Night At High School

Science Night at Newton High School, Newtonville, will be held Tuesday evening, March 16 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Science Room of Building No. 2 at the school.

Original projects will be presented by students as well as samples of experiments performed by students in their regular science classes and laboratories.

The program is under the direction of Jacob Skikan, Science Department chairman, and Stuart Rist, chairman of Science Night. The public is invited to attend the event.

Graham Awarded Salesman Honor By Glass Firm

Richard E. Graham, 62 Newtonville Avenue, Newton, has been named "Salesman-of-the-Year" by Thermoproof Glass Company.

The announcement was made during the insulating glass company's annual February sales meeting at the Detroit headquarters. Graham received the symbolic winner's cup from assistant sales manager William B. Chase II.

Active in community affairs, Graham is a member of the Newton YMCA and Hunnewell Club plus the N.E. Housewares Club of Boston. He joined Thermoproof in 1963 with 12 years as a sales representative in New England.

He and his wife, Vivian, have four children: Susan, Harvey, Deborah and Richard.

The Newton chapter this year. The remainder must be obtained by contributions from PTA's and civic groups and from private individuals.

Volunteers Get Awards For Campaign Services

The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association held its annual tea for volunteers recently at the First Unitarian Society in West Newton when it was announced that 1688 hours were given by 120 volunteers for the association.

Awards were presented to the volunteer workers. Fifty-five guests attended.

Mr. J. Ellis Bowen, welcomed the guests in the absence of the president, Miss Helene D. Breivogel. He stressed that the volunteers not only helped with the seal campaign but as a result of this helped directly with case detection and indirectly with scholarships, public information, community services and rehabilitation for patients.

Miss Hilda Hope, executive director, served as mistress of ceremonies for the after-

No-Fix Tagging Has Proved To Be Effective

Capt. James W. Corcoran, head of Newton's police traffic division, reviewing 1964 activities, has reported that parking conditions in business areas and in the Boston College vicinity, have shown a marked improvement since the visible no-fix tag system was put into effect.

Under the new rules, since last July there are no warning tickets issued, and parking infractions draw fines of $2, $4 and $5.

Last year and in previous years, an average of 19,000 parking tickets were issued. In the first six months after the new system was instituted, 26,274 tickets were issued, according to Capt. Corcoran.

said the Court has dealt with race relationships, criminal justice, exercise of the voting franchise, religion and free speech and belief.

Equality and enhancement of the dignity of every human being underlay all of these decisions, he said.

"As a nation we can truly build toward the Great Society on this solid constitutional foundation laid by the Supreme Court, if we have but the insight, the commitment and the will," Prof. Beisel said.

He also said he felt the Supreme Court had gone about as far as it could in "pointing the way" and now it is up to the legislative and executive branches of the government and those interested persons and groups to continuously struggle to accomplish the necessary civil rights and liberties.

The students who received the Annual Brotherhood Awards were: Gayle Purple, 626 Centre street, Newton, from Newton High School and Richard L. Chabot, 149 Washington avenue, West Newton, also from Newton High. The recipients from Newton South High were Barbara Wallace, 5 Rolling Lane, Chestnut Hill and Barry Dashefsky, 15 Great Meadow road, Newton Centre.

Newton A. Teixeira, 92 Webster park, West Newton, chairman of the board of trustees of the church, spoke of the accomplishments of each recipient and made the presentations.

Rabbi M. David Weiss, Temple Emanuel, Newton Centre, gave the invocation and Rev. John Griffin, St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, delivered the benediction. The Rev. Dr. Leslie T. Pennington of the First Unitarian Church introduced the speaker.

John W. Gurry, 57 Hunnewell avenue, Newton was the chairman of the Brotherhood Dinner Committee.

Anne M. Spaulding, daughter of Mrs. William A. Lincoln, 340 Hammond St., Chestnut Hill, a senior at Colby Junior College, New London, N.H., has been named to the Dean's List. She is a graduate of Beaver Country Day School, Chestnut Hill.

Headlights And Highlights From Newton South High

By DANIEL LAX

Each of the 11 students chosen as semi-finalists in the National Merit scholarship competition at the beginning of this year has been made a finalist.

This does not mean that these people have won scholarships, but it does put them one step closer to doing so. The final selection will be made during the month, and the winners will be announced in April.

The students are Paul Bal-muth, Marjorie Barkin, Stanley Cole, Valerie Eckardt, Edward Gray, Robert Myerson, John Penney, Caroline Poplin, Paul Rosenberg, Stephen Shaw, and Robert Wynne.

Citizenship commendations have been awarded to 52 N.S.H.S. students who have worked for Operation Kindness, a volunteer project which is sponsored by the School Bureau of United Community Services and the Massachusetts Division of Civic Education. Dr. Donald K. Davidson, principal, said that he is "very proud of the young people of South High."

The annual Junior Prom this year will feature a "Wonderland by Night" theme. Led by prom chairman Beverly Woo, the class of '66 has already begun to plan and provide entertainment for the April 10 event. Ken Reeves band will supply the music. "Denebola," the school newspaper, announced at the beginning of this week the tentative list of staff members for next year. These students are Carol Shuman, editor-in-chief; Jill Davidson, production manager; Ellean Boris, news editor; Martha Young, makeup editor; Bill King, sports editor; and Laura Freeman and Bruce Kirle, co-features editors. The new staff will begin work on the May issue and until then, will assist the present group in preparing the next two issues.

Social Workers Explain Mental Patients' Needs

At the first meeting of the Steering Committee for Community Volunteers for Med-field Hospital, recently held at the Action for Mental Health in Newton, 1150 Walnut St., Newton Highlands, Willis Scott, head social worker of the Medfield Hospital, and Miss Louise Gallo, social worker of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Out-Patient Mental Health Clinic, outlined some of the needs of the discharged mental patient to help him effect his re-entry into society.

This committee was organized under the auspices of Action for Mental Health in Newton to plan a community-wide program which will enable the returning patient to achieve a full and productive life. The first objective determined by the committee is to acquaint itself with the immediate needs of the ex-patient in the areas of housing, job location and social activity and to initiate programs on their behalf.

Attending were: Mrs. Bernice Huberman, chairman, Mrs. Mary Derr, Miss Constan Garbutt, Leonard Garfield, Mrs. Nancy Haven, Mrs. Catherine Holden, Mrs. Linda Hunnibell, Mrs. Dorothy Huss, Jason Sacks, Mrs. Alfred Weaver and Kenneth Huberman, president of AMHIN.

IS IT A GOOD BUSINESS?
Real estate is the perfect, part time or full time, no pressure business with an unlimited potential of financial reward. Average commissions exceed $1,000 per sale. Each year there is a great increase in sales, and the experts say that the REAL ESTATE BOOM is coming in 1967! You can share in this bright financial future with a minimum investment on your part.

THE DOOR IS CLOSING
But NOW IS THE TIME TO ACT. A pending salesman's apprenticeship law will deny you this wonderful opportunity. With the passing of this law, you would be required to pass 2 exams and secure a one year's apprenticeship. 50% of the states have this apprenticeship law right now!

School Officials Get Praise From Aldermen

A resolution commending Newton school officials for the high rating given the city's public school system in the field of education, was unanimously adopted at Monday night's session of the Board of Aldermen.

The measure, sponsored by Miss Adelaide B. Ball, referred to recent articles about the Newton school system which have appeared in such publications as the Atlantic Monthly, Time magazine and the Saturday Review.

The resolution stated: "WHEREAS: A recent issue of Saturday Review carried a major article describing the unique place held by public education in the City of Newton; and

"WHEREAS: The Atlantic Monthly and Time magazines chose Newton and its public schools as examples of a community and a school system which are constantly working at the task of improving the climate for teaching and learning; and

"WHEREAS: The Newton Public Schools have been selected by various foundations as a place in which foundation money could wisely be invested in the development of new ideas in education; and

"WHEREAS: The teaching faculty and the administrative staff have labored continually at the difficult task of providing a sound program of education for the children of Newton while at the same time striving to improve that program; and

"WHEREAS: The citizens of this community and their elected representatives, the Newton School Committee, have continued to uphold and indeed enhance the tradition of strong community support for education in this City;

"NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: That the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newton does hereby express its appreciation for these several contributions to the total welfare of this City as well as to our most important investment for the future, the full and rich development of the minds of our children.

H. NEIL RICHARDSON

Police Getting Arms Training

Instruction in the use of firearms is being stressed in the Newton Police Department's in-service training school, which opened its annual sessions last Tuesday.

All members of the force will be required to qualify in weapons of every type, including the .38 calibre service revolver, shot gun, riot gun and Thompson sub-machine gun, according to Capt. William J. Quinn.

Community Club Sound Of Music

Nancy Howard Debruyne will present "The Sound of Music" at the regular meeting of the Newton Community Club Thursday, Mar. 11, in Grace Church parish house.

A dessert and social hour at 1:15 p.m. will precede the 2 o'clock business session, after which Mrs. Sterling N. Loveland will introduce the artist.

There will be a food sale before and after the meeting.

Local Churches Join In Lenten Meeting Series

The Newton Methodist Church and the Eliot Church of Newton, following a custom of many years, have again joined during the Lenten season for a series of Wednesday evening meetings, the first of which was held last night at the Eliot Church.

Prof. H. Neil Richardson, professor of the Old Testament at Boston University School of Theology, was last night's speaker. Prof. Richardson will be the guest speaker for the series. His theme for the series is, "Ephesians: A Hymn of Unity."

Last night's subject featured an introduction to the study of the Epistles of the Ephesians. Subsequent subjects will be: second week, One Lord Of All, Ephesians 1: 1-2: 10; third week, Growing In Oneness, Ephesians 2: 11-3: 21; fourth week, One Witness, Ephesians 4: 1-16; fifth week, Crossing Barriers, Ephesians 4: 17-5: 20; sixth week, Putting On God's Armor, Ephesians 5: 21-6: 24.

Professor Richardson taught at Syracuse University before coming to Boston University. He also was a director of the American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem. He is the author of many articles in scholarly journals, as well as a year's series of lessons in Adult Bible Course.

The first three meetings are scheduled for the Eliot Church, last night's, and the two on succeeding Wednesday nights, at 8 p.m. The last three will be held at the Newton Methodist Church.

Heart Donations Are Still Needed

An appeal was issued today for Newton residents who were not at home on Heart Sunday to mail their contributions now.

Heart Neighbors who canvassed their communities on Sunday left not-at-home envelopes so that everybody can carry his share of the fight against heart disease.

Although early indications are that Heart Sunday, and the campaign, were successful, the measure of success will depend to a considerable extent upon the support of those who were unable to donate on Sunday.

Teen Drivers Have Friends On Committee

Teen-age Newton drivers have some supporters and defenders in the School Committee.

This was disclosed Monday night when the School Board members unanimously recorded their opposition to a bill now pending in the Legislature which would raise the minimum age for automobile drivers from 16 to 18 years.

The issue was posed by Alderman Warren A. Sutherland of Auburndale who had asked the School Committee members where they stood on the question.

New Duties To Be Taken Over By Rev. Harper

The Rev. Charles H. Harper of the Eliot Church of Newton is beginning a new assignment with the church as Minister of Special Assignment to develop cooperative metropolitan ministries, it was announced by the Rev. Harold R. Fray, Jr., senior minister of the church.

Mr. Harper has just returned from Chicago where he spent four weeks at the Urban Training Center for Christian Mission, an ecumenically sponsored program especially designed for ministers and laymen who are attempting to work out new, experimental programs for churches located in large urban areas.

While in Chicago he learned of various ways in which the church is attempting to involve itself in the needs of urban neighborhoods in such areas as housing, education, and social services.

Norwood Is Tough Test For Newton

Newton High School's hockey team, riding high after a spectacular 2-1 upset victory over previously unbeaten Melrose, meets a powerful Norwood High aggregation at the Boston Garden at 7 tonight (Thursday) in the semifinals of the 23rd State Hockey Tournament.

On the strength of their tremendous game against Melrose, the Tigers are rated as slight favorites to topple Norwood.

If they do, they will move into the final round of the competition for the State championship.

A big contingent of Newton High students and followers will be on hand at the Garden tonight to cheer on Coach Kinlin's high-flying charges in their clash with Norwood.

More Indictments Expected Before Crime Board Quits

Some new indictments may be returned before the State Crime Commission concludes its operations and goes out of business in June.

Not only are crime board probes now in the process of winding up several investigations, but for weeks a Grand Jury has been hearing evidence assembled previously by the commission.

Any evidence of wrongdoing uncovered by the probes now coming to a close will be presented to a Grand Jury.

What indictments, if any, will result from the closing activities of the Crime Commission is not known. The Grand Jury proceedings are veiled in secrecy. Little real information leaks out concerning the nature of the Crime Commission probes.

However, if it known that crime board investigators have been examining the records of several agencies, including the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority and the Massachusetts Port Authority, and that their findings have been or are being reported to a Grand Jury.

Gets Commerce Post

Dean B. Lewis, right, formerly of Newton, is congratulated by U.S. Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor on appointment as deputy general counsel.

Former Newtonite In Commerce Dept.

Dean B. Lewis, formerly of this city and the son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Lewis, of Newtonville, has been appointed Deputy General Counsel of the Department of Commerce in Washington.

Announcement of the appointment was made by the Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor.

Mr. Lewis was born in Boston in 1922 and came to Newton as a boy. He attended Newton High School and Loomis School in Windsor, Conn. He was a resident of Newton until he left for service in the U. S. Army in World War II. He saw action in India and Burma.

He received his S.B. degree (cum laude) from Harvard University in 1943, and his LL.B. from Yale University in 1952 where he was an editor of the Yale Law Journal.

Since 1962, Mr. Lewis had been assistant general counsel for International Affairs, later designated assistant general counsel for Domestic and International Affairs in the office of the General Counsel of the Department.

Prior to joining the Department of Commerce, Mr. Lewis was assistant general counsel with the Agency for International Development. He was in private law practice in Washington from 1953

Newtonites On March In Selma Crisis

Newton was represented in the Selma, Alabama, march on Tuesday.

Mrs. Robert W. Hallgring, 167 Woodward St., Newton Highlands, led a delegation from the Catholic Inter-Racial Council of the Boston Archdiocese, by plane from Logan Airport Monday night, bound for Alabama.

Among the many Bay State clergymen in Selma on Tuesday was the Rev. Thomas J. Carroll, director of the Catholic Guild For the Blind, located in Newton.

Mrs. Hallgring, mother of four children, is the wife of a Boston lawyer with offices on State St. She recruited her

100,000 Population Mark Seen For City

Results to date indicate that Newton's police listing and taking of the decennial census will show that the city's population will for the first time approach, and possibly exceed, the 100,000 mark, according to Arthur G. Heaney, chairman of the Election Commission, who is charged with the conduct of the operations.

Heaney reports that the listing and census taking are nearly completed.

Early this month, he says, all residences in the city had been called on at least once by the police officers assigned to the task, and some 66,000 cards, representing residents 20 years old or more, had been checked. Call-backs are now underway with the aim of interviewing those persons who were not at home when the first call was made.

The election commissioner explains that a blue form for the city listing and a yellow form for the state census are left at each home where no one is present, and he urges that they be filled in.

City Support For Red Cross Sought

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs has proclaimed March as Red Cross month in Newton and has called upon all local residents to join in the campaign and support the Red Cross Chapter in this city.

Newton banks are co-operating actively in the campaign and will have pamphlets describing the activities of the Newton Red Cross

Aldermen Set To Clip $500,000 From Budget

Reductions totalling about $500,000 will be made by the Board of Aldermen in the municipal budget submitted by Mayor Donald L. Gibbs, members of the Aldermanic Board predicted last night.

The cuts will be made exclusively in the city budget since the Aldermen have no authority to lower the amount sought by the School Committee for the operation of the city's school system.

A special meeting of the Board of Aldermen will be held a week from next Monday (March 22) to act on the city and school budget.

The $500,000 budget slash contemplated by the Aldermen would mean a saving of about $1.70 on this year's tax rate.

However, present indications are that Newton's tax rate will rise about $6 or $7 and eventually be pegged somewhere in the vicinity of $70.

Even with the $500,000 cut contemplated by the Board of Aldermen, the total city and school budget would still be about $1,788,993 higher than last year. That would represent an increase of approximately $6 on the tax rate.

A drop in the amount of revenue Newton will receive from the State, coupled with an increase in State assessments upon this city, will add another $2.70 to the tax rate.

Income from new taxable property will amount to a few hundred thousand dollars, according to estimates, softening the blow slightly, but still leaving the city faced with a probable tax rate hike of between $6 and $7.

When the Aldermen make their anticipated $500,000 cut in the $17,013,161 city budget, it will leave the budget about $894,465 higher than that of last year.

That is almost identically the same as the jump in the school budget which rose from a figure of $11,510,270 last year to $12,404,798 this year, a hike of $894,528.

Members of the Board of Aldermen indicated that Mayor Gibbs' recommendation for pay raises for rank and file city employees will be approved.

The Mayor proposed a 6 per cent increase for members of the police and fire departments and a 5 per cent boost for other city employees.

Under the new schedule recommended by Mayor Gibbs, the maximum pay for patrolmen and fire fighters would be raised from $6015 to $6400 a year, a boost of about $385.

School Board Members Hear Teen Singers

Members of the Newton School Committee, at their regular semi-monthly meeting last Monday night, witnessed a television program in the making and heard a group of 39 young singers, five of whom doubled as members of a woodwind quintet, demonstrate the results derived from a year of training by teachers of music in the city's junior high schools.

Both activities were calculated to tell the world that this city has a pretty fine school system.

That is particularly true of the television project. A technical crew from National Educational Television has been in Newton for two weeks, recording for future distribution over educational TV outlets throughout the United States various activities at some of the city's schools, including Newton High and Newton South High, as well as a number of elementary schools, and the proceedings of a PTA meeting or two.

City Sealer First To File Dept. Report

In addition to sealing over 3000 weighing and measuring devices in commercial use, Newton's Sealer of Weights and Measures J. Ellis Bowen and Deputy Sealer Robert E. Silver made nearly 15,000 other inspections last year according to the annual report for the year 1964 filed with Mayor Donald L. Gibbs last week.

The report, the first annual report of any department to be filed with Mayor Gibbs, reveals that the cost of the Sealer's Department to the taxpayer was $38,100 cents on the City's 1964 tax rate of $63.40.

A total of 3063 weighing and measuring devices were sealed at a return to the city in fees of $1356.70 it was reported. The 17-page report contains in addition to the usual statistical analysis of activities of the department illustrations of several recently acquired units of special testing and calibration equipment necessitated by radically new weighing and measuring

Students Restore Homestead Final

Ingenuity and hard work on the part of James H. Sullivan of Newton Technical High School and two students, William H. Holmes and Henry E. Martocchio, resulted in the replacement of one of the original final on the fence of the Jackson Homestead on Washington Street, Newton.

When the Jackson Homestead was given to the city of Newton by Mrs. Harry S. Middendorf, ninth generation Jackson, the two original final were found in the attic of the house.

When research indicated that these final were at one time part of the imposing fence that encloses the front entrance to the Homestead, they were placed on the fence posts flanking the gate.

During the winter one of these treasured final was badly broken. To replace such an unusual antique seemed to be an impossibility. To remove the remaining final would change the character of the appearance of the Homestead.

The problem seemed insoluble until Commissioner William S. Pratt, Public Works Director of the City of Newton, recommended that James H. Sullivan at Newton Technical High School RESTORE — (See Page 5)

Veteran Fire Fighter Rites Held; Age 94

The funeral of William U. Fogwill, 94, of 85 Crescent street, Auburndale, who drove the first motor vehicle used by any fire department in the United States, was conducted Monday, Mar. 8, in Church of the Messiah by the Rev. Robert G. Gledhill, rector. Mr. Fogwill died Mar. 5 at his home.

His Newton Fire Department career began in 1894, when he was appointed as a call man, and for several

Mr. Sullivan, instructor in carpentry, found two students who volunteered to make a new final as part of their course. Since the boys, Henry Martocchio and William Holmes, ninth and tenth grade students, are in their first year at Tech High and because this kind of work is usually done in the second or third year course in carpentry, "their accomplishment may be considered spectacular," said Mr. Sullivan.

Starting with appropriate stock and glueing it together for the required diameter, they worked on the project for approximately twenty hours each until they had completed the necessary procedures and turned the wood to the proper shape and applied the necessary finish.

When their work was completed, it was then and is now impossible to distinguish the new final from the original.

Now that the fence is returned to its pristine beauty and the entrance to the Jackson Homestead is as impressive as it was originally, the trustees, directors, and members of the Jackson Homestead have expressed their gratitude to Mr. Sullivan and to William Holmes and Henry Martocchio, a Newton resident.

It is interesting to note that both boys have expressed the desire to become skilled carpenters, specializing in

Peace Corpsman Writes Of Labor Riot In Peru

Wigmore A. Pierson, young Newton Peace Corps volunteer in Peru, South America, sent The Graphic this interesting and colorful account of a tempestuous and dangerous labor dispute upheaval which erupted in the city of Chimbote, which he witnessed.

His story follows. It indicates that all the vineyards in which Peace Corps personnel labor are not placid.

By Wigmore A. Pierson

Chimbote, Peru—For fifteen days the fishermen of Peru's most productive port had been on strike. Only three days ago a general strike had been declared by most of the other unions in support of the fishermen. Two of the unions not participating in the general strike were the professional drivers union and the steel plant workers.

On Saturday, February 20 activities were almost normal at the central market. Due to the general strike, housewives were buying less and the vendors were shouting more. The atmosphere was supercharged with an electric tension that had draped itself on the city.

WIGMORE A. PIERSON

On the streets strikers were huddled together in concerned conversations. There was little laughter despite the fact that it was the carnival season. The faces of the groups were either expressionless or had a mixed hungry-desperate look that makes outsiders apprehensive.

At 11 a.m. seven agitators walked into the central market and started forcibly to close down the stalls. They were joined almost immediately by idle bystanders, "saqueo, saqueo" (loot, loot). Pandemonium broke loose: vegetables, fruits, and fists went flying through the air. Some grabbed what they could and ran.

Plan To Organize Pops Band At YMCA in Newton

On Monday, March 15 at 8 P.M. there will be an opportunity offered at the Y.M.C.A. in Newton to organize a popular music band.

Based on the premise that there are in the Newton area, adults between the ages of 25 and 75, who learned and enjoyed playing band instruments; and that these same folks would enjoy the opportunity to reacquaint themselves with the music of the big name bands of the thirties, the Y.M.C.A. will have an organization night for such an activity.

There is a feeling that there might be many people who would enjoy playing with a group, the light and spirited yet smooth music as was played ed by such as Tommy Dorsey, Glen Gray, Ray Noble and Artie Shaw.

If a person is now playing or has played a sax, traps, trombone or any other instrument that would be useful in a "pops" band, come on down to the "Y".

If there is any doubt in the mind of a potential bandsman, they can call "Len Garfield at BI 4-6050 between 9:00 A.M. and 5 P.M. or Don Keddy at LA 7-7267 after 6:00 P.M.

Hat History For West Newton Woman's Club

"A History of Hats," by Guen Morgan, an original program showing a collection of women's headgear of various periods, with appropriate comment, will be the feature of the next meeting of the West Newton Woman's Club, Wednesday, Mar. 17, in the Second Church parish house, West Newton.

Pourers for the coffee hour at 1 p.m. will be Miss M. Elizabeth Kilburn, Mrs. Thomas S. Williams and Mrs. Frederick E. Whelpley.

Mrs. Charles E. Gibson, club secretary, will preside at the business session in the absence of the president.

An interesting art corner with unusual articles from many parts of the world will be arranged by Mrs. A. Bela Sziklas.

MILITARY BALL PARTNERS—Miss Ruth Nizel, 191 Grant Ave., Newton Centre, is the happy dancing partner of Cadet Sergeant Howard B. Local Women Go To Washington For AJC Parley

Mrs. Eli Feldman of West Newton will join a delegation of American Jewish Congress members to Washington next Tuesday for the national biennial convention of AJCongress Women's Division.

Local members who will chair workshops are Mrs. Feldman, constitution committee; Mrs. Sidney Shadovitz of Newton Highlands, Jewish affairs; and Mrs. Jay Gilfix of Newton Centre, program.

The convention, which will run through Thursday, Mar. 18, at the Shoreham Hotel, will deal with numerous issues affecting Jews at home and abroad, with major emphasis on the role Jewish women can play in these events.

The three-day meeting will hear from national and international figures prominent in government, civic and Jewish affairs.

Others who will attend the convention are: Mrs. David Spodick of Newtonville, Mrs. Jerome Medalie of Newton Centre, Mrs. Robert Berns of Newton, Mrs. S. Robert Wolf of Newton Lower Falls, Mrs. David Atlas of Waban, and Mrs. Israel Trieger of Newton Centre.

Books Featured When Women Of Highlands Meet

An exhibition of books that really are old, and a talk "Books Are Keys," by Mrs. Thomas A. Rudkin, noted reviewer, will be features of the meeting of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands in the parish house of the Highlands Congregational Church, Wednesday afternoon, Mar. 17. At 1:00 p.m., dessert and social hour, with hostesses Mrs. William A. Egan, Mrs. Eugene D. Mizer and Mrs. John Tolman.

A food sale in the church parlor under the direction of the Workshop Committee, Mrs. Albert S. Genaske, chairman, will be held during this social hour. At 1:45, the usual business meeting.

Mid-Winter Concert Of Music Club

The Newton High School Music Club presented its mid-winter concert recently, in the Newton High School Auditorium. The Girls' Choir, singing "Lift Thine Eyes" by Mendelssohn, and "Every Night When the Sun Goes In," an American Folk song, was directed by Miss Geraldine Seaver. Miss Seaver also conducted A Cappella Choir in singing "Ave Maria" by Rachmaninoff, and "Umrem," a Czechoslovakian folk song.

There then followed a series of selected original compositions, created, orchestrated, and arranged by members of the Theory I and II classes. These were performed by the NHS symphony orchestra, Mr. Donald March conductor, and directed by Mr. Henry Lasker, instructor of the Theory, Music Appreciation, and Humanities courses. The program was as follows: "Episode No. II for orchestra," by Michael Bielski of Theory II; "Metamorphosen for orchestra," by Walter Wagnenknecht of Theory II; "There Was You," a vocal duet by Mike Riccio, and sung by Carolyn Bloom, soprano, and Jeffrey Elsen, tenor, accompanied by Douglas Levinson; "Septet for Woodwinds and Strings," by Harriet Polner of Theory II; and "Concertstueke for piano," by John Harutunian of Theory II, who also played the solo part.

Narrator and commentator for this event, which was mainly directed toward sophomores, was James Remley, Supervisor of Music for the Newton Public Schools. In addition, Mr. Remley also explained the various unique opportunities in the Newton High Music Department, which are available as courses for students, such as the choral, instrumental, and musical classes.

300 Dads Expected At Newton College Of Sacred Heart Weekend

More than 300 fathers from 21 states will be on hand for the tenth annual Father-Daughter Weekend at Newton College of the Sacred Heart next weekend (March 13-14).

Among the Dads who will register on the Centre St. campus Saturday afternoon is William E. Miller, 1964 Republican vice-presidential candidate, whose daughter, Libby, is a senior at Newton.

The visiting Dads will join their daughters in a round of activities including tours, receptions, a panel discussion, classroom visitation, speeches, and a dance.

The weekend, sponsored by the Fathers' Club at Newton, will begin on Saturday afternoon with a tour of the 50 acre campus, where two new buildings — a dormitory and student union-faculty office building — are now under construction. Open house at all buildings and dormitories will be followed by a reception for all fathers at 2:30 p.m. in Stuart House, the College's administration center.

Mother Gabrielle Husson, R.S.C.J., Newton's president, will then welcome the fathers to a panel discussion of "America in the 1920's," to be moderated by Dr. James R. McGovern, associate professor of history at Newton. The panel will also include four students representing different fields of study at the College. After dinner and the Fathers' Club-annual business meeting Saturday evening, Congressman Miller will recount highlights of last fall's Presidential campaign. Later in the evening, Dads will promenade with their daughters at a dance in Chapel Hall.

Sunday morning Mass on campus in the Chapel of the Most Blessed Trinity will be celebrated by the Rev. Seavey Joyce, S.J. A Communion breakfast will conclude the weekend schedule.

Chairman of the Weekend committee is Mr. Daniel W. Warren, Jr. of Chestnut Hill, who is also president of the Fathers' Club. His sub-committee chairmen are Mr. Edmund Fanning of Waban, registration; Mr. Joseph F. Birmingham of West Roxbury and Mr. Charles W. Parkhurst of Cambridge, reception; Mr. Wilbur H. Whitty, of West Roxbury, refreshments; Mr. Walter J. Murphy of Waban, entertainment; Mr. William the area the remainder of his life.

A member of the first class initiated by Newton Lodge of Elks, he served for 20 years as the lodge's trustee, and several years ago the lodge honored him at "Fogwill Night."

Husband of Margaret (Farrell) Fogwill, he leaves a son, William Fogwill of California; three daughters, Mrs. Susan Linnell of West Newton, Mrs. Hazel Brown of Wellesley and Mrs. Gladys Kersting of Auburndale, and three sisters, Mrs. M. Millie Beardsley of Auburndale, Mrs. Florence Allen of Auburndale, and Mrs. May L. Sweet of Newtonville.

A member of the Church of the Messiah, he was an honorary sheriff of Middlesex County. Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Eldercare would provide better care than Medicare

- More benefits for the elderly
- Less cost to the taxpayers

A new bill now before Congress would provide the best answer to the health care needs of the elderly.

It is the Herlong-Curtis ELDERCARE Bill (H.R. 3727).

Your doctors, who care for the elderly and know their medical needs, support Eldercare. Here's why:

Eldercare would offer better care than Medicare. Both Eldercare and Medicare would cover hospital and nursing home charges, but...

Eldercare would provide for physicians' services — Medicare would not.

Eldercare would provide for surgical costs — Medicare would not. Eldercare would provide for drugs in and out of hospital — Medicare would not.

Eldercare not only would provide more benefits for people 65 and over — who need care and cannot pay for it — it would cost the taxpayers less.

It would cost less because it would help those who need help. It would not use your tax dollars to provide benefits for the wealthy, the well-to-do and the self-supporting. It would be financed by federal-state funds through a program that already exists. Eldercare would not require a new payroll tax.

Yes, Eldercare offers more benefits for the elderly... less cost to the taxpayers.

By contrast, the Medicare tax plan would increase payroll taxes to provide benefits for everyone over 65 the wealthy included. Furthermore, the Medicare tax would hit hardest those least able to pay. The $5,600-a-year worker would pay as much tax as the $75,000 executive.

Eldercare is superior in many other ways: It assures free choice of physician and hospital... it provides for protection through Blue Cross®, Blue Shield® and health insurance policies... it lets people over 65 qualify for benefits before illness strikes — without a welfare type investigation.

Don't you agree when you compare — the choice is Eldercare?

Write your Congressman and Senators today. Urge them to support Eldercare (The Herlong-Curtis Bill, H.R. 3727) and to reject again the Medicare tax plan.

Riot

The majority were just satisfied with throwing objects around and pushing people. Merchants were desperately trying to close their stalls before the horde reached them. Women were shouting, running, and crying—outdone only by their children. There was panic!

The rioters now spilled out into the streets, their ranks numbered about two hundred. Two hundred emotional, frenzied people running down the Pan American Highway hurling rocks, vegetables and curses at stores, people and cars.

The word spread fast all over town. Within fifteen minutes all the stores in town were closed. The downtown area was deserted shortly thereafter. Walking down the one paved street of Chimbote, I was mentally carried back to the old western towns in the moments before the duel. It was difficult to believe that this was a town with a population of one hundred and forty thousand people.

At the beginning of the business sector, a good three blocks from the central market, the rioters captured a truck loaded with fishmeal. The driver ran for his life and three or four strikers boarded the truck and started dumping fishmeal bags on to the pavement. They spread the bags the width of the highway and some of the strikers remained there to work over any cars that approached the barricade.

The group of strikers now numbering more than three hundred continued running south on the Pan American Highway. It was now about 11:45 and the police were not in sight.

In the central police station officials were deliberating on whether to use the special forces troops that had been stationed in the city for such emergencies. They feared the troops might increase the rioting, whereas this incident now going on might die of its own accord.

Back on the highway the rioters broke the windows of the national housing authority building. Children from about eleven to fifteen could now be seen in the raging, sweating crowd. The newspaper reporter for the local daily was pushed around and even socked when he got too close to the middle of the hurricane.

A group of strikers pounced on a car and attempted to turn it over. There were not enough of them to accomplish it and their pleas for help were unheard by the mob who kept pushing up the highway.

At 12:15 the Sub-prefect, in his office, had just met with union leaders in which their main topic of conversation was how to preserve law and order during the strike.

At 12:30 it was decided that troops would not be used. "These special forces riot squads shoot first and then don't even bother to ask questions," said the commandant. Policemen with billy clubs and tear gas were rushed to the scene to put down the disorder.

By the time the police arrived, however, the union officials had already succeeded in placating the angry mob. They dispersed quietly once they were told the end of the strike was in sight.

This day God remembered the forgotten city (as some refer to Chimbote), as there were no deaths or serious injuries. Damages were confined to property: windshields,

Local Banker To Be In Association Parley

Joseph F. Bayer, executive vice president of the Garden City Trust Company of Newton, a member of the Bank Management Commission of the Massachusetts Bankers Association, will take part in a bank management conference to be held by the association in Auburn Mar. 17.

When the local radio announced the end of the riot a gigantic sigh of relief soared heavenward.

On the streets below children were laughing nervously and playing carnival again, some stores were opening again, and vendors were shouting again, and the city was returning to its usual not-quite-normal pace.

welfare, employment and race relations. During the month special emphasis was given to the need to improve the quality of education in city schools.

"The most dramatic episode of the program," Mr. Harper reported, "was the weekend our class was turned out on Skid Row with only $3.50 each to provide housing and food for the entire period. We actually lived on skid row and as much as possible shared the life of these men. We dressed shabbily and went unshaven in an effort to look the part.

"We slept in missions and flop houses. We begged for money and food. It was a sobering experience to share the life of society's rejects."

In the new ministries which Eliot Church will be developing under Mr. Harper's guidance they will be seeking the cooperation of other churches in the metropolitan area. While the exact nature of the program has not yet been determined, Mr. Harper reported five guide lines which will be important in giving its shape.

(1) It will be concerned both with person to person type ministries and larger social or community services. (2) It will be primarily a lay program in which church members will be helped to find significant places of involvement in which they can give practical expression to their religious faith.

(3) Participants will work both in church related agencies and so called secular social agencies. (4) Programs will be carried out in Newton and other suburbs as well as in the core city of Boston. (5)

It will be an ecumenical venture attempting to draw together people from various religious traditions in the common task of meeting human needs.

No Plan To Close Branch Libraries Revealed Here

Branch Libraries in Newton are not to be abandoned, asserted Mrs. George Brewer, president of the Board of Trustees of the Newton Free Library, in a statement made to the Friends of the Newton Free Library at their first meeting on Sunday evening.

To 130 library devotees, Mrs. Brewer explained, "In order to dissipate any misunderstanding in regard to the Library Survey and the attitude of the Board of Trustees toward the Survey, I would like to say first that the Survey Report does not anywhere recommend the closing of all the branch libraries. Secondly, the Board has voted only to recommend implementation of that part of the survey which calls for a new Main Library on the site of the old Mason School."

Acceptance of the Survey Report by the Library Board, she continued, did not necessarily imply complete agreement with all the proposals presented therein.

Mrs. Brewer went on to say that when the Aldermen voted to raise the Mason School it was with the understanding that the site would not be disposed of before the Library Trustees had been given time to determine whether it should be used for the Main Library. The Trustees have since voted to request the site, and no other action by them has been taken on the survey.

"Further," she concluded, "The Board is of the opinion that a library facility other than a bookmobile should be left in Newton Corner on the south side of the turnpike extension, although it is not possible to determine the exact location of such a facility at this time."

Helping to launch the Friends at this meeting were the Honorable Donald L. Gibbs, Mayor of Newton, Mrs. Norma Mintz, member of the Newton School Committee, and William Kunkel, Head Librarian of the City of Newton.

Mayor Gibbs said, "It is imperative that our libraries be up and coming, that they be commensurate with the kind of city we have. Anyone who has wandered around this building will agree that we need a new library." He then referred to John A. Humphrey and Philip J. McNiff, authors of the Library Survey which recommends a new Main Library, as being the "best doctors we knew" to cure the city's library ills. "Were it to be presented to me," he added, "I would find the money and go ahead and build it." The city budget, he later explained, would not allow for a new library until after 1966.

Harold J. Berman, Professor of Law at Harvard University, and Philip J. McNiff, Associate Librarian of the Harvard College Library, were the main speakers of the evening.

Professor Berman said, "It would be tragic to have a new library in terms of merely a building to house books. Newton needs a Great Library, not just another one." He envisioned a main library as a "center to which adults would go to partake of cultural activity. It should have a theater, a room for listening to records, art exhibits, outstanding collections of books, drawings, documents, and records which will be of special value to adults and children alike."

In depth collections, he added, in the areas of local history and local education could make it a point of interest, something to be mentioned in guide books.

Mr. McNiff reiterated the need for a dynamic library system and focused on the main library as "the central reservoir of materials for the welfare of the entire system. It would have an extensive reference collection not duplicated elsewhere."

The business part of the meeting included election of officers and adoption of the by-laws. Officers are: Mrs. Melvin Gordon, president; Mrs. George Michaels, first vice-president; Mr. Daniel J. Ahern, second vice-president; Mrs. Nathan Freedman, third vice-president; Mrs. Martin C. Kamar, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Merritt B. Saldinger, recording secretary, and Mr. George F. Brewer, treasurer.

Mrs. Melvin Gordon, president, presided over the meeting which was held at the Main Library in Newton Corner.

Newtonite Will Have Japanese Garden At Show

Jay M. Berkson, of Newton, owner of Jay M. Berkson Landscaping Inc., Westwood, will have a display in the Annual Spring Flower Show of the Mass. Horticultural Society opening Saturday, March 13 and continuing through Sunday, March 21 at Wonderland Park.

Theme of the show this year will be "Town and Country Gardens." Mr. Berkson's exhibit will feature a Japanese Tea Garden complete with rustic tea house. Rare and unusual evergreens also will be a feature.

Library Story Hours Are Set

The Newton Free Library will offer the boys and girls of Newton another series of Story Hours and Reading Hours during the week of March 15.

The Story Hours will be presented by Virginia Tashjian, Newton Free Library Storyteller, at the following places:

Tuesday, Mar. 16, 3:15 p. m., Boys and Girls Library, and Thursday, Mar. 18, 3:15 p. m., Nonantum branch.

Reading Hours will be conducted by the librarian of the children's branch on the following schedule:

Tuesday, Mar. 16, 3:15 p. m., Auburndale, and at 3:30 p. m., Waban.

Thursday, Mar. 18, 2:30 p. m., Oak Hill Park; 3:15 p. m., Newton Highlands and Newtonville; and 3:30 p. m., Newton Lower Falls and West Newton.

Saturday, Mar. 20, 10:30 a. m., Newton Upper Falls, 2:30 p. m., Newton Centre.

Youngsters six years old and over are invited to the programs.

Art Association Meets On Mar. 18

The Newton Art Association, Inc., will welcome Harry Ballinger, prominent marine artist, on Thursday evening, 18th at 7:30, at the Beethoven School, Waban.

Mr. Ballinger maintains a Connecticut studio and has exhibited throughout New England and New York. He is expected to paint a seascape in oil. The public is welcome.

LETTERS

Editor of The Graphic:

I should like to thank you for your splendid cooperation always with the Newton League of Women Voters. I was one of the charter members of the Newton League over 25 years ago, and have found its contribution to the community invaluable.

The League is non-partisan in encouraging both men and women to participate intelligently in government, by organizing study groups, arranging excellent candidates' meetings before every election and publishing many interesting and informative pamphlets. In my political life on Beacon Hill, I found the League to be one of the most respected and effective groups.

The members of the League give endless volunteer hours, but they need money to carry on their very worthwhile work. I have never seen money used as wisely and sparingly as the League does.

I am sure that the citizens of Newton will want to show their appreciation by sending contributions to the League during its finance drive, which began on March 4, a day designated by Mayor Gibbs as League Day.

Very sincerely,
Irene K. Thresher.
(Mrs. B. Alden Thresher)

Use Of Tax Money

Editor of The Graphic:

I wish to protest the use of my tax-money by the Newton School Committee for the purpose of circulating a propaganda bulletin throughout the City. By what right does the School Committee use tax-money for the purpose of brainwashing the taxpayer?

The Chairman of the Newton School Committee speaks of '300 years without outside control'. Actually, over 100 years of this period was spent under British colonial rule. From this same historical era we have inherited some equally pertinent concepts, namely that 'Taxation Without Representation Is Tyranny' and 'The Power to Tax Is the Power to Destroy'.

Whatever may have been the original intent or motivation, we can no longer tolerate an independent agency which spends 50 per cent of every tax dollar without any veto power by the responsible, elected members of the City government. The authority to spend without responsibility for the consequences is reprehensible. No private business could long endure if one department could spend half the income without any veto power by the general manager.

Mr. Volpe is not 'surrendering to the mayors', he is at last trying to get them some control over the fiscal destinies of their cities. I can only criticize Governor Volpe because he is not demanding a final, permanent end to the stranglehold which School Committees have for too long maintained on the financial security of the citizens of the Commonwealth.

I have also sent copies of this letter to Mayor Gibbs and the appropriate State officials. Unless the voice of the people makes itself heard, all that the average homeowner can look forward to in his retirement years is the loss of his home because of inability to pay the confiscatory city and town taxes.

Samuel A. Baikan, P.E.

Art Exhibit To Continue To 20th

The Gallery of World Art, Ltd., 745 Beacon St., Newton Centre, opened a one-man show with the paintings of Don Bloom, on March 7. Mr. Bloom, a former resident of Boston, graduated from the Massachusetts College of Art and earned a full scholarship at the Students Art League of New York, and a full scholarship at the University of Mexico, where he received his doctorate degree.

Mr. Bloom won the Guggenheim award in 1960-1961, and the Huntington Hartford grant for creative painting, 1964-1965 along with several other awards and honors. The exhibition will continue through March 20.

The big questions remaining to be answered are what new persons, if any, will be indicted and whether the prominent public figures already indicted will be cleared on conviction. It had been reported on Beacon Hill that Governor Volpe might move to extend the life of the Crime Commission. But the crime board members themselves decided not to request any such extension.

"No" Votes Sought In Sales Tax Poll

A Democratic legislator has been polling delegates to last June's Democratic State Convention, supposedly to ascertain how they stand on Governor Volpe's sales tax bill and who they feel would be the "strongest and most effective" Democratic nominee for Governor next year.

Representative Thomas C. Wojtkowski of Pittsfield is making the survey. He indicates in his letter that he is doing so for a group of legislators. The assumption in political circles is that he is fronting for someone else.

His reference to a sales tax is so worded that the person queried would almost automatically vote "No" unless he had other information on which to base his judgment.

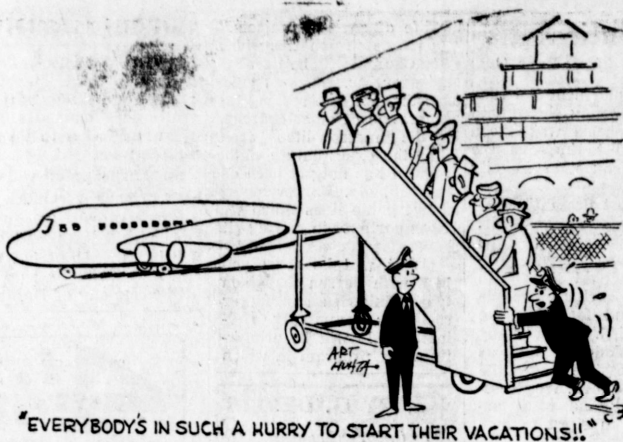

Concerning the sales tax, Representative Wojtkowski says in his letter:

"There is great concern and confusion within the Democratic Party of Massachusetts regarding Governor Volpe's proposal for a sales tax, which our party has traditionally opposed as a regressive tax. For this reason a group of Democratic legislators have decided to poll party leaders in each community in the hope that we can sample grass roots sentiment on this important issue."

There is no explanation of why a sales tax is needed, how its proceeds would be used or what the alternative would be. A delegate reading the letter might well gain the impression that his card would be torn up if he had the audacity to vote for a sales tax.

Then Wojtkowski goes on to state in his letter:

"At the same time, in spite of the fact that it is far too early to know the political lineups in the 1966 state election, we would like in this private survey to get a sampling of the party opinion regarding the strongest candidate for the office of Governor in 1966."

Political Highlights

Whether the evidence presented is of such a nature as to warrant the return of indictments is something only time will determine.

But on the basis of what has already happened the Crime Commission has left its mark upon the Commonwealth and has written an unusual chapter in the State's political history books during the less than three years of its existence.

A number of the State's best known public figures have been indicted and are now awaiting trial to determine their innocence or guilt.

Although Governor Volpe appointed the seven members of the Crime Commission in 1962, two of the officials indicted were prominent Republicans who had been named to high State positions by Volpe. Their alleged offences, however did not involve anything done in the posts to which Volpe appointed them.

Incidentally, some persons indicted almost two years ago have not yet had their day in court. This apparently is due to time-consuming legal maneuvering and not to the inability of indicted persons to obtain a speedy trial.

The Crime Commission investigations have had enormous political impact.

For example, there is little doubt that the indictment of several present and former members of the Governor's Council gave great impetus to the move to strip the Council of the statutory powers and all of its authority except that vested in it by the State Constitution.

The indictment of John F. Thompson resulted in the election of a new Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

While the indictments stemming from the Crime Commission probes gave Massachusetts unfavorable publicity in other sections of the United States, there is now agitation in several States for the creation of similar investigatory commissions.

Disappointment has been expressed by some observers that the Crime Commission did not make a broader, and deeper investigation into organized crime in Massachusetts.

Criticism also was directed at the commission for its refusal to investigate the gangland killings.

Actually, however, the responsibility for probing both the gangland murders and organized crime in the State should properly rest with the police, the District Attorneys and the Attorney General.

A new section probably will be created in the Attorney General's office to continue some of the work the crime board has been doing.

New laws also will be enacted to lessen the likelihood of corruption in government.

Even though the Crime Commission is preparing to close up shop a little more than three months from now, there undoubtedly will be repercussions from its activities for a long time to come.

The big questions remaining to be answered are what new persons, if any, will be indicted and whether the prominent public figures already indicted which will be for a four-year term."

The names of five candidates are printed in alphabetical order on an accompanying postcard. They are Boston Mayor John F. Collins, Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, Jr., former Presidential aide Kenneth O'Donnell and Secretary of State Kevin H. White.

Ex-Governor Endicott Peabody and former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti both are omitted from the list. However, a place is provided where the person being polled can write in a name of his own choice if he prefers someone to the five candidates listed.

Knowledgeable politicians pay little attention to a poll such as this. They know that the person running the poll controls it and that there is no way of checking the accuracy of any figures which are reported.

Such a poll can have value in helping a candidate to estimate his own strength.

Lamson To Succeed Fiery Buck Dumaine

Fiery Frederic C. (Buck) Dumaine appears to be definitely on his way out of the chairmanship of the Republican State Committee.

But the decision to replace him with Senator Fred I. Lamson of Malden was not greeted with much enthusiasm by some Republicans.

Lamson is a capable and likable Senator and a popular politician who has been able to win seven elections to the Senate in a district which is basically Democratic.

He served for a period as Republican leader in the Senate but was dropped from that post in 1963 and replaced by Senator Philip A. Graham because some of his colleagues felt he was not forceful enough in presenting the GOP case.

In order to survive in a Democratic district Lamson obviously must follow a moderate line.

However, the question some Republicans are asking is whether he will be forceful enough as GOP State Chairman if he wasn't forceful enough as minority leader in the Senate.

Dumaine has been about as forceful, blunt and outspoken as it's possible to be. Perhaps a change to a moderate Republican who knows how to win elections in a Democratic district might be a good thing for the GOP. Lamson may be able to supply some of the answers

Lee Loumos Says:

One of the typographical errors in last week's column may turn out to be a new advertising truism. "Seeds" of destruction came out as "suds" of destruction and with the plethora of soap operas and cleaning advertising referring to "ten foot giants," "white tornadoes" etc., etc., I feel inundated by a tidal wave of destructive suds!

For my part, I have developed a new defense against this kind of advertising. Inasmuch as I just can't escape it, I put it in my own private block list of use.

Perhaps if each person would personally refrain from purchasing such items which are poorly advertised, the copywriters might be forced to keep to the facts. To be sure, I have no objection to humor or beauty or a meaningful slogan in an advertisement as long as it doesn't indulge in hyperbole. I would like to say that the pictures on my 27 inch TV sets look 10 feet tall, but I must confess that they only add up to 400 sq. in., or only 2 3/4 sq. feet.

Headlights And Highlights From Newton High School

By KATHY WATERS

Gerald Maxwell and Ruth Morse have been chosen Editor-in-Chief and Assistant Editor, respectively, for the 1965-66 Newtonian, the school year book. Ann Solomon will head the Orange Book, school handbook, for the upcoming year.

These students were chosen at a meeting of the Publications Board held recently. This organization is made up of the advisors and editors and assistant or managing editors of all of the school publications. It also includes a representative of the language department and other members of the English department, and is headed by Miss Mary Lanigan, head of the English Department.

The teachers of Newton High have recently become very active in the basketball world. March 3 marked the Student - Faculty Basketball game sponsored by the International Club to help pay costs of Model UN trips.

Members of the club recently attended the Boston College Model UN, sponsored by the World Affairs Council of Boston. Newton High did a noteworthy job of representing the Soviet Union and Albania. Two Best Delegate Awards were shared by Stephen Jigger and Michael Davis, representing the Soviet Union; and by Ruth Morse, Stephen Kaufman, and Mark Lender, representing Albania. Both delegations won honorable mention. Other delegates included Mary Mitchell, International Club President, Charles Berezin, Andrew Klein, and Kathy Waters from the U.S.S.R., and Anne Michael, Mike Pingree, and Barbara Cort of Albania.

The teachers will hit the basketball court again on Mar. 26, when they meet the teachers of Newton South in Newton High Gym. The Key Club originated the idea, but is working in conjunction with the Newton High Student Council and the Newton South Senior Class Committee. Proceeds will be put toward the Student Council scholarship and the supporting of the Student Council's Foster Children overseas.

The Key Club, a service organization, is also active in other areas. Members Jim Gerson, Bruce Goldman, Jeff Goldfarb, Henry Fishkind, and Stan Winer are currently spending their Monday afternoons at the Sidney Hill Country Club teaching cerebral palsy children to swim. The Club is making plans for its annual party held at the Newton Community Center for 50 underprivileged children. Chairmen for the event, Jim Gerson and Bruce Goldman, have announced that a magic show and musical entertainment will be provided.

Key Club officers for next year have been elected and are Ken Trombly, president; Steve Loumos, vice president; Eric Arnoff, treasurer; and George Downing, secretary.

Countryside PTA Meeting To Hear Panel

The Countryside PTA meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, March 24. Program for the evening will be a panel discussion the pressures and tensions of school experience from the view points of parents, teachers and children.

Guest speaker for this evening will be Mrs. Eleanor Smith, social worker for the Newton schools. She was educated at the University of Chicago and Boston University, with both A.B. and Master's degree in social work from the latter. She is co-editor of "The Search for America" (Prentice Hall, 1958), a study of values and choices facing Americans in mid-century.

Through travel in Europe and Asia, she has pursued her particular interests, observing family patterns from Israeli kibbutzim to Burma, and visiting mental hospitals in England and India.

The panel will consist of, teacher, Miss Cushing; teacher, Mrs. Bond; parents, Dr. Philip Noguee, and parent, Mrs. Martin Alpert. The moderator of the panel will be Marvin Joslow. Compiling and directing questions from the audience will be principal Miss Ann Fahy.

Those interested in this program are welcome to come to this meeting.

which other Republican candidates need.

Another complaint being voiced is that Lamson would be only a part-time chairman since he would retain his position as Senator which would require a substantial portion of his time and energy.

What remains to be seen is how much of a fight will develop over the replacement of the colorful, ebullient Dumaine.

Lee Loumos Says:

contributions to medicine as researcher, teacher and healer.

The dedicatory exercises were held in the presence of hospital officials, trustees, doctors, nurses, staff and friends of Dr. Levine.

Participating in the exercises were Alan Steinert, president of the hospital; Dr. Paul Dudley White, of Belmont, honorary physician, Massachusetts General Hospital; Dr. Frederick J. Stare, of Wellesley, consultant in medicine, Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, and professor of nutrition, Harvard School of Public Health.

Also, Dr. Richard Gorlin, of Newton, senior associate in medicine, Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, and assistant professor of medicine, Harvard Medical School; Dr. Bernard Lown, of Newton, senior associate in medicine, Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, and assistant professor of medicine, Harvard School of Public Health. Dr. Samuel A. Levine, guest of honor at the Center dedication, is physician emeritus, Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, and clinical professor of medicine emeritus, Harvard Medical School.

The Samuel A. Levine Cardiac Center has glass-walled private rooms, all visible from a central monitoring station. The unit is designed and equipped to provide constant and minute observation simultaneously for patients who have suffered acute coronary occlusions.

Using advanced techniques and sophisticated automatic electronic instrumentation, a team of specially trained nurses and physicians continuously monitors vital body functions during the most critical days immediately following a coronary attack.

This new concept of intensive care also includes the personnel and facilities to respond instantly to any emergency that might arise in connection with the patient's illness.

The staff of the Levine Cardiac Center works in close contact with the patient's own physician.

Dr. Bernard Lown, of Newton, is the pilot who helped plan the Center from its beginning and who selected and supervised the installation of the electrical equipment.

He is the developer of the much acclaimed Lown Cardioverter which uses 3,000 volts of direct current to jolt the heart out of its irregular impulses.

Following the formal dedication ceremonies and reception, which were held in the hospital's main amphitheatre, a tour of the new Cardiac Monitoring Center was conducted for those attending.

Paraplegic Vets To Be Featured In Hoop Game

Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney announces an outstanding sports event with a double-barrelled impact will come to Newton on Saturday, March 20, when the New England Clippers, the dynamic basketball team of the New England Chapter, Paralyzed Veterans of America, will meet the powerful Brooklyn Whirlaways at the Meadowbrook Junior High School gym at 8 p.m.

In addition to the game between the Clippers and the Whirlaways, a first for the Garden City, Penney reports that Supervisor Robert Doherty is arranging a companion game between two junior high age Pony League teams, the league champs, the Centre Raiders, and the Pony League All Stars.

Sponsored by the Recreation Department, the evening's proceeds will benefit not only the wheelchair hoopers but also the Summer Day Camp Program for retarded children conducted by the Department.

This game, a regularly scheduled Eastern Wheelchair Basketball Conference contest, was brought to Newton through the efforts of the Recreation Department.

The Clippers are paraplegic veterans who live and work in the Greater Boston area. They travel throughout New England playing exhibition games with able-bodied teams to call the public's attention to the issues of paraplegia and to promote all wheelchair sports for handicapped persons.

This game at Meadowbrook on March 20 will help support their conference games in this, their 17th season.

The Pony League champions, the Centre Raiders, are coached by Stan Berkowitz and compiled a record of 11 wins and a single loss for the season. The All Stars, consisting of three members from each team, will be coached by George Norcross who guided the Police AA team and Pat Proia, the mentor for the Newton Boys' Club League entry.

Supervisor William Barry is in charge of arrangements at Meadowbrook Junior High School while Ralph Hamilton, Recreation Leader at the Hawthorne gym, will host the visiting wheelchair hoopers and their party.

Carlton P. Merrill, Commissioner of Veterans Services for the City of Newton, is working with Newton's veterans organization to coordinate activities with the Recreation Department.

Tickets may be ordered by phoning the Recreation Department at BI 4-4700, Extension 266, or may be purchased at the door the night of the game.

young Mrs. Clifford E. James will introduce Mr. Moseley. Coffee will be served at 10 a.m. by the hospitality committee co-chaired by Mrs. Leigh B. Liggett and Mrs. Harris Mosser. Mrs. Edward D. Leonard, a past president of the club, will pour.

The business meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Henry Cate Jr., first vice-president.

and returned to the election commission at City Hall as promptly as possible.

After efforts to make personal contact have been exhausted, the election commission will send to voters who were not listed this year, but were listed in 1964, notices that they will be dropped as voters unless they return the proper affidavit of their present residence and registration to City Hall.

This year the listing involves the following categories:

- 1.—Annual listing of all residents 20 years or more old.
- 2.—Listing of pre-school-age children by ages. This is done as an accommodation for the School Department's benefit.
- 3.—Listing of dogs and their owners.
- 4.—A separate list of all residents regardless of age as of Jan. 1. (This is the decennial census.)

The first three categories are done each year, the fourth every 10 years, but all costs are borne by the city, Heaney points out.

Wildlife Film At Garden Club Of Newton Ctr

"Our Wildlife Heritage" will be the subject of a color and sound film to be shown at the Newton Centre Garden Club's meeting on Tuesday, March 16 at the Newton Centre Woman's Club.

The film will be introduced by Mr. James Moseley, Director of the Fund for Preservation of Wildlife and Natural Areas. The film intimately portrays animals in their natural environment and also shows many varieties of birds in the four seasons as they migrate, incubate, feed and protect their

Corpus Christi Guild Has A Gala Style Show

The fashion show held Sunday afternoon in Corpus Christi Church Hall was a great success.

The hall was filled to capacity, and everyone enjoyed a preview of lovely spring hats from "Luisa's" Hat Shop and modeled by members of the Guild. Chairman for this event was Mrs. Maurice O'Connell. Delicious desserts and coffee were served by Mrs. Ambrose Rondina and her committee.

On Wednesday night, after a brief business meeting and prayers by Father Murray, members of Corpus Christi Guild listened to a lecture given by Frederick Silver, assistant administrator of St. Paul's Rehabilitation Center for the Blind, located right in our own City of Newton.

He gave a very informative speech on the different diseases of the eyes which can cause blindness. He also talked on the various rehabilitation programs which are held at the Center by specially trained Guild instructors to enable the blind to orient themselves to their environment, and to travel independently.

Mrs. Orazio Vaccaro was chairman of the evening. Coffee was served by Mrs. Ambrose Rondina and her committee.

The Guild's next affair will be held on Mar. 16, St. Patrick's eve, a catered dinner

MARCIA WEGNER

Marcia Wegner, John Eulenberg Become Engaged

Announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wegner of Chestnut Hill makes known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marcia Helen Wegner, to John Bryson Eulenberg. He is the son of Professor and Mrs. Alexander Eulenberg of Evanston, Ill.

Miss Wegner attended Newton High School and was graduated from the Simmons College School of Publication. She is now an assistant publicity director at Wellesley College.

Mr. Eulenberg, an alumnus of Evanston Township High School, Evanston, Ill., was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, class of 1964. He is presently working for his doctorate in linguistics at Harvard University.

A June 27 wedding is planned.

St. Bernard's Bantams Win Hockey Game

The Bantam Hockey Team of St. Bernard's parish, defeated the Walpole Bantam Team, 9 to 6, in a game played last Thursday at Walpole.

The St. Bernard 12 to 14-year-old pucksters now have had eight wins, four losses and one tie.

The spares: Larry Hasenfus, George Reynolds, Tommy Donovan, Michael Collins, Kevin Collins and Tom Casey. Joe Hasenfus is the St. Bernard coach.

An exhibit of distinction will open Sunday, March 14, in the parish house of The Second Church in Newton, 60 Highland Street, West Newton. Lemuel Patole of Bombay, India will exhibit his works, which embrace a wide variety of subjects from the Old and New Testaments of the Bible to Hindu and Buddhist Literature. Mr. Patole was born in Western India and studied in American Marathi schools from kindergarten through high school.

Through scholarships and part-time work in a commercial press he was able to work his way through the Bombay Art School. For the past three years he has been studying in the U.S. at the School of Visual Arts in New York under the sponsorship of the United Church Board for World Ministries. Hope College, and "Lit-Lit," the Committee on World Literacy and Christian Literature of the National Council of Churches. He was one of two winners of "Lit-Lit's" annual Christmas Art Competition for 1964.

Among his exhibitions was a special one held in the summer of 1964 at the Church Center for the United Nations in New York City. Mr. Patole is a thoroughly modern young man and an artist with a responsibility to communicate this faith through his work. A skilled craftsman who can "make a person look like a person," he is also at home in the more evocative and symbolic forms of contemporary art.

Mr. Patole will be present at the exhibit from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday afternoon. The exhibit itself will continue to be open to the public through Saturday, March 20.

Oak Hill Park Fashion Show

Coming up for the Oak Hill Park Women's Club March 17 meeting will be a gala fashion show. Featured by the members will be beautiful creations modeled by their own designers.

Mrs. Harry Sudman is chairman of this event, which gives the members a chance to display their creative talents, and at the same time present a showing of the latest fashions.

Mrs. Thomas Caulfield will be the commentator. Hostess for the evening will be Mrs. George Clayman.

The meeting will be held at Memorial School, starting at 8:15 p.m.

Water Resources Will Be Theme Of Women's Meeting

The Newton League of Women Voters will hold an open meeting on Water Resources on Tuesday evening, March 16, at 8 at the Parish Hall, Unitarian Church, 1326 Washington Street, West Newton. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The evening's program, suitably titled, "The Crying Need — A Master Plan," will deal with water conservation and the problems associated with anti-pollution measures, water storage, flood control, and other considerations to enable rivers, streams, and lakes to serve mankind efficiently and safely.

Scheduled to speak is Malcolm Graf of the Massachusetts Water Resources Commission, who will attempt to bring the audience up to date on water conservation problems and to give the Commission's views on methods to achieve their solution.

Mrs. David Epstein of the Watertown League of Women Voters will present a Charles River slide show with a map of the watershed.

In addition, there will be a discussion of the Water Resources Planning Act, R.R. 1111 which is designed to enable every state to get the benefit of the recommendations of a Council to be composed of the Secretaries of all the leading water agencies. It also authorizes creation of river basin commissions where one half of the states in the basin and the Water Resources Council concur in their formation, and to encourage states to develop and carry out their own comprehensive water and land resources plan, with financial aid in the form of grants of $5 million dollars a year for ten years.

Water Resources: support of national policies and procedures which promote comprehensive long-range planning for conservation and development of water resources," is on the Current Agenda of the National Program of the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. James Lewis is chairman of the item for the Newton League, and Mrs. Ralph Almsmeyer is co-chairman. Other members of the committee include: Mrs. Ira Dyer, Mrs. Joe Leighton, Mrs. Arno Heyn, Mrs. David Jackson, Mrs. Victor Penzer, and Mrs. William Curby.

Cub Pack 272 Of Oak Hill To Dine On Monday

Monday night, March 15, at 6:15 p.m., Cub Scout Pack 272 of The Oak Hill School, will follow a tradition of many years, and hold its annual Blue and Gold Dinner for all Cubs and their fathers at Valle's in Chestnut Hill.

Dr. Fred Lanes, Cubmaster of Pack 272, had indicated that a most fascinating evening is in store for all Cub Scouts attending. After a hearty meal at New England's famous Valle's, awards will be presented to those Cubs who have completed their achievements, which will be followed by a most interesting and exciting presentation of the space age.

Chairman of the evening, Assistant Cubmaster Sydney Katz, has stated that the success of the evening will be due in large part to the many parents assisting in the preparation for this annual event, which include Irving Backman, also Assistant Cubmaster; Mrs. Irma Dana and Gretta Cohen, chairmen of decorations; Mrs. Mildred Goldman, reservations chairman; and Mrs. Charlotte Backman, publicity chairman.

Den leaders also assisting include Mrs. Thelma Bargar of Den 1, Mrs. Cera Narva of Den 3, Mrs. Joyce LeVine of Den 4, Mrs. Daniel Goldberg of Den 6, and Mr. Harold Shapiro of Den 7.

Guests for the evening will include Marvin Golden, chief of Webelos Den 2, and various members of Norwega Council, including Douglas Crichton of the executive staff, Ralph Sisson, South District Commission, and Dan Bloom, South District chairman.

The attractive usherettes will include Janet Crosby, Olive Samson, Eileen Seymour, Amy Scott, and Ann Hill. Serving as stagehands will be John B. G. Paen, Jr., Dudley Cotton, and David Stoner, and as Wardrobe Mistress, Mrs. Richard Packard, assisted by members of the Tuesday Evening Club. Mrs. Richard Crosby and Mrs. R. Curtis Reed are co-chairmen for the production.

Mrs. Robert Athas is creating the scenes for this professional presentation of spring fashions. Included in any who might be interested."

Those requiring further information concerning membership or available facilities are urged to call the Temple office.

Fun Galore At Temple Shalom Purim Carnival

Mrs. Theodore Samet, PTA president, and Mrs. Aaron Sacks, festival chairman, have announced plans for Temple Shalom's Gala Purim Carnival, to be held in the temple social hall Sunday afternoon, Mar. 14, from 2:15 to 4 o'clock.

Arrangements have been made for the children of the Religious School, who will be coming in costume, to enjoy an afternoon of carnival fun. Bob Benjaminson, popular local folk singer, will entertain the children along with Walter Childs, who will present his Wonderful World of Magic. Holiday cookies and punch will be served to all. New games of skill and fun will be available as well as a fortune teller and rummage exchange booth. The Temple social hall will be decorated as the city of Shushan from the story of Purim. A series of door prizes will be awarded. The highlight of the Carnival will be a costume judging contest in which the King and Queen will formally be crowned.

The committee working on plans for this year's Purim Carnival are: prizes, Mrs. Austen Madson; games, Mrs. Manuel Mandell; carnival workers, Mrs. Martin Phillips; ushers and supervision, Mrs. Melvin Schwartz; refreshments, Mrs. Melvin Darack; entertainment, Mrs. Aaron Sacks and Mrs. Irwin Weiman; construction, Edward Leventhal and John Shapiro; decorations, Mrs. George Brown; publicity, Mrs. Milton Cohen and master of ceremonies, Arnold Shaw.

A CRUCIAL ISSUE LONG TERM DISABILITY

A man's most important asset is his ability to earn income, but it is the last asset a man usually protects.

A man will insure his life, his house, and his car before he will insure his income, but isn't it true that a man could lose much of the property he had accumulated, including his life insurance, if his income ceased for an extended period of time.

A man's income will cease if he suffers a serious accident or illness because there are few firms who can or will provide a pay check for a disabled employee beyond a temporary period. Simple economics dictates that you cannot pay two people for one job.

The Accident and Health Department of this agency can offer a wide range of disability income plans tailored for your situation. This is another reason why it will pay you to talk to the people at the "Sign of Sound Insurance."

Airman Scott Ends Basic At Lackland AFB

Airman David E. Scott, son of Mrs. Mary G. Scott of 106 Gardner St., Newton, has completed Air Force basic military training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Airman Scott has been selected for technical training as a communications-electronics specialist at the Air Training Command (ATC) school at Keesler AFB, Miss.

His new unit is part of the vast ATC system which trains airmen and officers in the diverse skills required by the nation's aerospace force. The airman is a 1962 graduate of Newton High School.

Added Training To Local Airman

Airman David E. Scott, son of Mrs. Mary G. Scott, 106 Gardner street, Newton, and Stephen A. Johnson, son of William F. Johnston, 710 Oxford road, Newton Centre, have completed Air Force basic military training at Lackland AFB, Texas.

Scott will be trained as an electronics - communications specialist at Keesler AFB, Miss. He is a graduate of Newton High School.

Johnston has been selected for technical training as an administrative specialist at the Air Training Command School, Amarillo AFB, Texas. A 1963 graduate of Sacred Heart High School, he attended Newton Junior College.

29 Do Well In Math Test For High Schoolers

According to officials of the Massachusetts Association of Mathematics Leagues, four students from Newton High and four from Newton South High were among 155 high school students in the Commonwealth who will compete for a total of $1000 in cash prizes in the first annual statewide olympiad competition in mathematics.

The competition, conducted by MAML, is sponsored by the Actuaries Club of Massachusetts.

The first level examination, given last January, attracted 6331 student participants from 191 secondary schools. In addition to the finalists, 27 students, including 11 from Newton High and 10 from Newton South High, were awarded certificates of merit for their achievements.

The Newton High finalists were Mark L. Levinson, Joseph M. Marcus, Coin T. Page and Donald I. Topaz. Finalists from Newton South High were Stanley M. Cole, James J. Horwitz, John B. Penney and James S. Shaw.

Certificates of merit were awarded to the following Newton High students: David B. Aronow, Michael S. Davis, Robert S. Dealy, Edward J. Devore, Ralph E. Gorin, Denise E. Hootstein, Marvin E. Krakow, Douglas F. Levinson, Stephen E. Selkowitz, Steven L. Tanimoto and Charles H. Weiss.

Certificate winners from Newton South High were: Charles R. Coleman, Gordon T. Darwin, Leonard M. Finn, Richard V. Gold, Samuel Gray, Edward M. Levin, Audrey S. Solomon, Steven M. Wolfson, Beverly T. Woo and Philip D. Woodbury.

GOP Teens To Meet Sunday; Hear Reports

The TARS, Newton Teenage Republicans, will hold their regular monthly meeting this Sunday evening, March 14 in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Malvin F. White, Chestnut Hill.

The members of the group will hear the report on their successful dance held last week at the Community Centre. Plans for coming social events will be discussed. Information may be obtained by calling Star Willmarth, BI 4-3454.

Hostess Meeting Held To Plan Gala Luncheon

Mrs. William Carmen, chairman for the 1965 Temple Shalom Sisterhood luncheon to be held on May 12, announced that a hostess meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Daniel Coven to honor hostesses for the luncheon.

Mrs. William Carmen and Mrs. Meyer Hoffman, chairmen of hostesses, spoke briefly to those present.

A wig fashion show was presented by Fontana of Brookline with commentary by Mrs. Arthur Karol and Mrs. Rose Daly.

Hostesses for this year's luncheon are Mesdames: Justin Gould, Samson Grunes, Murray Glickman, Walter Weiner, Sylvan Linn, Arnold Tofias, Gordon Bronson, Robert Levin, Leonard Luchner, Herbert Salomon, Matthew Kotzen, William Carmen, Samuel Brecher, Sidney Sim-mill work for house construction. It is also particularly meaningful that they have turned out a piece of work that is on a par with the fine woodwork done over a century ago.

It is hoped that Newton citizens who learn this story will take pride in the approach to the Jackson Homestead, not only because it is such a fine example of the architecture of its period and that the Jackson Homestead is maintained with excellent care, serving students and adults as a working museum, but also because it represents work of young, inspired Newton students who are learning a fine trade and who volunteered to donate their skills to the Homestead.

Dan Murrow In Talk On Harlem At Eliot Church

On Sunday, March 14, Dan Murrow will be a guest speaker at the Eliot Church of Newton at 8:00 p. m. in Fellowship Hall. He will speak on "Crisis and Opportunity: Commonwealth Service Corps and Harlem."

Mr. Murrow brings many qualifications for this talk. He is a social worker who has spent six years in Harlem working with the people there through the American Friends Service Committee (Quakers), is now working with the Commonwealth Service Corps, was in the NBC documentary "Manhattan Battleground" and now lives in Newton Highlands with his wife and family.

The public is cordially invited to attend this evening, sponsored by the senior high and young adults group of the Eliot Church.

Museum Offers 2 Outstanding Study Courses

Local residents who would like to take advantage of two splendid evening courses to be given by the Museum of Science in Boston, may register by calling RI 2-1410.

The course, for which a nominal fee will be charged, are "Realm of the Stars," beginning Apr. 13 and given entirely in the museum's Hayden Planetarium, with its realistic man-made skies, and an informal course in geology called "Face of the Land," that starts Thursday, Mar. 25.

An action model of an erupting volcano is used in the latter course material, and there will be two Saturday field trips to places of unusual geological interest during the 10-week course.

"Realm of the Stars" is a six-week course denigrating, with the help of the amazing Korkosz projector, how skies change through the seasons, how to find the constellations, how to use sky maps, and other fascinating facts about the heavens.

Glee Club Spring Concert In Gala Program March 16

Newton's young musical talent will be featured by the Highland Glee Club of Newton in their spring concert on Tuesday evening, March 16, at 8:15 o'clock in the Meadowbrook Junior High School in Newton Centre.

Pianist-composer John M. Harutunian, Jr., a Newton High School senior, and the Madrigal Singers of Newton High School will appear as guests on the Glee Club program.

John Harutunian, Jr., began piano lessons at the age of seven and during the intervening nine years has studied with Gladys Ondrick of Boston. He has participated in several national auditions sponsored by the National Guild of Music Teachers and in annual festivals sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs, always with top grade ratings for his performance.

In Newton High School, John has been studying musical theory and appreciation with Mr. Harry Lasker who has developed many outstanding young musicians and composers. John has been composing piano solos for many years and he has composed a concerto "Concert-stroke" with full orchestration which he performed recently with the Newton High school orchestra. John lives at 355 Newtonville avenue with his family and plans to continue his study of music at the Wheaton (Ill.) College Conservatory of Music, majoring in composition and theory.

The Madrigal Singers of Newton High School under the direction of Miss Geraldine Seaver of the music department faculty will sing some of the well-known English Madrigals in which the group specializes.

The Madrigal Singers unit was started by Miss Seaver in 1958 and has been appearing on an average of 14 times per school year before church and social club audiences, fraternal societies, state and local music organizations, and has performed for various school assemblies in Greater Boston as well as in the Newton schools.

Singers for this unit, consisting of 18 mixed voices, are carefully selected from the a cappella chorus after serving one year apprenticeship in that group. Consequently, only juniors and seniors are eligible.

The glee club portions of the program will include a group of folk songs representing Ireland, Russia, Wales, England and a spiritual; two humorous numbers, four love songs by Brahms and selections from popular Broadway musical shows. Incidental solos will be sung by tenors Douglass Storie of Needham, and Ermond Lewis of Waban, and by Irving Middleton of Belmont, baritone.

Director of the Highland Glee Club of Newton is Dr. Homer Whitford of Belmont, with Herbert Hobbs of Malden as the accompanist. George Brewer of Newton Highlands is president of the Highland Glee Club.

Users for the Tuesday evening concert will be in charge of Mrs. Stoddard Jenney, 78 Summer street, Weston, as chairman and will include Margaret Clinton of Newton Lower Falls, Joyce Libbey of Waban, Karen Rummel of Auburndale, students in the Newton High Schools with Marilyn Jenney and Deborah Skehleton both living in Weston and attending the Weston High School.

Report

ing equipment now currently utilized in the merchandising field.

A summary of the department's official activities follows:

During 1964 the department tested, inspected, and calibrated the following: 819 scales and balances, 243 of them requiring prior adjustment, and 85 condemned. A total of 1587 weights used in connection with the scales and balances were sealed and 14 were condemned.

During 1964 meters on 59 retail fuel oil delivery trucks were approved and sealed, 8 required prior adjustment, and 2 were condemned. These trucks plus those from out of town delivered some 53,662,000 gallons of fuel oil in Newton for heating purposes worth $6,507,000.00, and the report points out that a 2 per cent error would amount to a loss of $252,000.

Gasoline and diesel oil pump meters vended through Newton's pumps 42,000,000 gallons of motor vehicle fuel valued at approximately $12,600,000.

A two per cent error would amount to $252,000. The report states that a total of 357 such pump meter inspections and tests were accomplished, 66 meters required prior adjustment, and 6 were condemned.

The department approved and sealed 50 taximeters both as to the time element and mileage for actual test on the city's measured mile course, 10 taximeters were condemned as inaccurate.

Six thousand, six hundred and seventy eight trial weighings of merchandise prepackaged in anticipation of sale were conducted, mostly of food products, and totaling over 7 tons, 447 units were correct, 986 overweight, and 1216 overweight.

Miscellaneous inspections and tests and investigations totalled an additional 8228.

Dinner Dance March 27 To Aid Mental Health Center

A large Newton representation will attend on Saturday evening, March 27, when the Louis XIV Ballroom of the Hotel Somerset will be filled by the friends of the Massachusetts Mental Health Center for the Auxiliary's fund raising dinner dance.

The ballroom will be splendid with bouquets of gold and white roses on gold tables. To provide music for dinner conversation and after-dinner dancing there will be Ruby Newman's orchestra.

The proceeds of the dance help the Auxiliary to finance hospital projects and patient services beyond those provided for by state and federal aid. Many of the sparsely furnished patient wards have been made more comfortable and cheerful by Auxiliary sponsored and planned redecoration.

One of the lounges has been enlivened by a vividly colored oriental rug. For others there have been new curtains, lamps and even a vacuum cleaner. Books for the adolescent unit, supplies for the patient beauty shop, ward coffee hours and two annual patient parties are among the projects made possible through support of the annual dance.

The dance committee is headed by Mrs. Preston K. Munter of Newton and Mrs. Paul A. Walters. Other members include Mrs. Fred Lowell, Mrs. John Reichard of Newton, Mrs. Harry Senger and Mrs. Stephen Zaslow.

The chairman of sponsors is U.S. Sen. Maurine Neuberger Solomon. Among the sponsors from the Newton area are: Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Adler, Dr. and Mrs. Morris H. Adler, Dr. and Mrs. William S. Appleton, Dr. and Mrs. Martin A. Berezin, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Bojar, Dr. and Mrs. William G. Carmichael, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence R. Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert I. Chapter available in the lobbies throughout the month. Anthony Jauregui, chairman of the Newton Chapter; Mrs. Marjorie Vancellette, executive director of the Chapter; and Nathan I. Greene, president of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, were present in the office of Mayor Gibbs when he officially released the proclamation designating Red Cross Month here.

In issuing the proclamation, Mayor Gibbs described the Red Cross as the "means by which each of us lends a helping hand to his neighbor in distress. It does for us the job which we cannot do ourselves but which we would want to do if we were able and available."

Here is the text of the proclamation: WHEREAS, Each year, under the Red Cross symbol, millions of Americans of good will pool their resources and efforts to provide health and emergency welfare help to those in need; and WHEREAS, In Newton, our Red Cross has given quick aid to disaster-stricken families and helped them begin their recovery from the ravages of fire, flood and storm; and WHEREAS, Each year our Red Cross collects whole blood from voluntary donors and distributes it and such life-saving blood components as gamma globulin, serum albumin, and fibrinogen for use by our hospitals, health agencies, and doctors; and

WHEREAS, Our Newton Red Cross Chapter helps us keep our families healthy and safe through training in home nursing, first aid, lifesaving and swimming; and

WHEREAS, Through the Red Cross in elementary and secondary public and parochial schools, our young people gain the rewards of selfless service to others by participating in all Red Cross services and conducting numerous community, national and international Red Cross projects that are interwoven into regular classwork; and

WHEREAS, To make possible the continued growth of its services in Newton, Massachusetts, this country and around the world, the American Red Cross, using the slogan "Join Up . . . Join In," will launch its annual campaign for members on March 1; and

WHEREAS, Any one of us at any time may need help through our Red Cross; and

WHEREAS, All of us at all times can help support our Red Cross with our funds, blood and skills.

NOW, THEREFORE, I Donald L. Gibbs, Mayor of Newton, by the power invested in me, do hereby proclaim the month of

"Return Over Cost"

In all of these examples the net cost of insurance at the end of five years is very low when compared with the premiums paid.

In ten years, and beyond, the policy's cash value and the sum of dividends amounts to much more than total premium payments. The difference is called your "return over cost."

Return over cost figures are even more attractive when dividends are allowed to accumulate at interest.

The true "cost" of any life insurance policy can be determined by weighing the premium against the dividends the policy earns and comparing the result with the growing cash and loan values. Low premiums, high dividends and generous cash values are ideal.

Our new booklet, "You can afford SBLI", illustrates the true "cost" of all policies with understandable charts like the above. When you consider the long-range benefits, you'll insist on Savings Bank Life Insurance.

Visit your Mutual Savings Bank or Institution for Savings

There are over 300 Mutual Savings Bank offices in Massachusetts. Several are probably located near where you work, live or shop. Savings Bank Life Insurance has been available since 1907 exclusively for people who live or work in Massachusetts. Policies totaling more than $1,000,000,000 are now in force.

Dividend illustrations in the above chart cannot be guaranteed but are based on March 1, 1965 dividend scale paid by 31 of 36 Savings Insurance Banks on policies issued since April 2, 1962. If you need more life insurance protection than you can afford Pyramid Plan uses your dividends to buy amazing extra coverage.

Monday night, the crew set up its equipment in the School Committee meeting room. All during the proceedings, one crew member, shoeless in order to keep silent, lay on the floor and pointed a wand-like microphone at each member of the committee as he spoke, and at other speakers who were there to explain some of the ways in which education is handled in Newton. Other crewmen operated television cameras and an audio recorder, and supervising it all was an attractive young woman whose title is producer.

Monday night's operation was the climax of two weeks of work, and the overall result is destined to appear on home receivers in many areas, including this one. WGBH-TV will present the show around the first week in June.

The singers and musicians were 7th, 8th and 9th grade students at Newton's junior high schools. They came in uniform, the girls in black skirts, the boys in black trousers, and all wearing gold sweaters bearing a student-designed crest proclaiming their membership in the Newton Junior High Troubadors. Their musical directors, who came with them, are Donald R. Sullivan and Raymond W. Smith, and Peter Cobb, who led the woodwind quintet.

The directors explained that their group was organized a year ago with the School Committee's permission, and that Operation Troubadors had far exceeded expectations. The Troubadors have been invited to perform this year at the World's Fair in New York, they said, and would like to accept other invitations to appear in schools of cities through which they would pass going to and coming from the fair.

"They are here tonight," Mr. Sullivan said, "to perform for the committee with the hope that a little cash, perhaps $500, could be realized to cover travel expense for the project."

"Chester," a Revolutionary War hymn, was the first vocal selection, sung a capella. The quintet then played Mozart's "Divertimento No. 14." The final vocal offering was a Galilean folk song with accordion accompaniment and sung in Hebrew.

The concert completed, the School Committee quickly voted unanimously in favor of a motion to try to locate the necessary $500.

The rest of the meeting's time was occupied with routine business, and with still another demonstration of the school system's high position in the field of education.

Introduced by Dr. J. Bernard Everett, assistant superintendent of schools, Miss Dorothy White and Harold Beatty described, with the help of colored slides of second graders in their classrooms the individualized reading project that has made almost unbelievably good readers and spellers of seven and eight-year-old youngsters.

Miss White, who has taught here for many years, told how the project was started two years ago, with the help of a Ford Foundation grant. She described the way in which the children are permitted to choose the books they will read, and how the children themselves check on the progress of their little classmates.

The children, she said, are allowed to stay with a book so long as it holds their interest, and they are

Anniversary Sabbath Eve Service Here

Rabbi Dudley Weinberg, the spiritual leader of Congregation Emanu-El Jeshurun in Milwaukee, Wis., will be the guest speaker at the 15th anniversary Sabbath Eve Service at Temple Shalom of Newton, 175 Temple street, West Newton, on Friday evening, March 19.

Rabbi Weinberg, formerly rabbi of Temple Ohabei Shalom in Brookline spent nine years in this area and then accepted the call to the pulpit in Milwaukee where he has been since 1955. He is president of the Wisconsin Council of Rabbis and co-chairman of the Milwaukee Conference on Religion and Race.

The Anniversary Sabbath is the 15th birthday of the founding of Temple Shalom and will be commemorated with a weekend of special events for its congregation including the Special Sabbath Service with Rabbi Weinberg on March 19 and a dinner-dance honoring its past presidents which will take place in the Temple Shalom Social Hall on March 20. Mr. Harold Levin is chairman of this Crystal Anniversary Celebration.

This Friday, March 12 will be the beginning of a weekend of conversation. On Friday evening, the congregation of the 2nd Church of Newton with Dr. Ross Cannon will be guests at Temple Shalom. The service will begin at 8:15 p.m.

On Sunday, March 14, Rabbi Rothman and the Congregation of Temple Shalom of Newton will be guests of the Second Church at 10 a.m. At both Friday and Sunday services Rabbi Murray I. Rothman and Dr. Ross Cannon will engage in pulpit conversations. Rabbi Rothman will conduct all services at Temple Shalom. Friday evening receptions for the congregation and its guests will follow the services, at Temple Shalom.

Gerald D. Palmer, a junior at Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Palmer, 130 Woodchester Dr., Chestnut Hill, was named to the Dean's List for work completed in the first term. He is member of the Young Democrats and Psi Chi, the national honor society in psychology. He is a graduate of Newton High School.

encouraged to make a list of the words they don't understand. In the class work, emphasis is placed on the meaning of a word, rather than on its pronunciation.

Last year, Miss White said, 28 children in one class read 2169 books.

To illustrate the project's results, she exhibited a resume of a book on "Satellites in Outer Space" printed in block letters by the book's reader, a seven-year-old girl who described what she had learned about outer-space events, from the Russian Sputniks through the more recent achievements at Cape Kennedy in Florida. Incidentally, the child had the correct spelling of a great many lengthy, technical terms.

Miss White and Mr. Beatty, who worked out the details of the individualized reading project, told the committee that educators all over the country, and even in the Virgin Islands and Japan, were familiar with the results that had been obtained with it here in Newton.

Miss Janet DeMichele Weds Mr. Gerald T. Rooney

The marriage of Miss Janet A. DeMichele to Gerald T. Rooney took place recently at the Sacred Heart Church, here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph DeMichele of 15 Floral place, Newton Highlands, and Mr. and Mrs. George Rooney of Belmont are the couple's parents.

The Rev. John W. Corcoran officiated at the 3 o'clock double-ring ceremony. A reception followed at the Maugus Club in Wellesley Hills.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white peau de soie gown designed with a beaded bodice and a matching cape which terminated in a train.

The shoulder-length illusion veil fell from a beaded peau de soie headpiece, and she carried pink and white tea roses.

Miss Elizabeth Cullen of Brighton was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Joan Palmer of Brighton, Mrs. Robert DeMichele of Somerville, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. William Nisbet of Marlboro.

Joseph Carney of Belmont served as best man. The ushers included Richard Brydon

St. Martha's Guild To Hold Charity Party

Plans have been completed for the whist, bridge and food sale sponsored by the Guild of St. Martha to be held Friday evening, Mar. 19 in the ballroom of Boston's Hotel Madison.

Newton residents serving on the committee include Mrs. William J. Paul, 15 Harrington street, Newtonville, Miss Sally Steele, 9 Baldwin street, Newton, Mrs. Walter J. Malloy, 251 Otis street, West Newton, Mrs. Lawrence Kerr, 417 Albermarle road, Newtonville, and the Misses Corrine and Mabel MacLean, 115 Church street, Newton. of New York City, Richard Cahaly of Belmont and Robert DeMichele of Newton Centre, brother of the bride.

The couple left for Quebec. They plan to make their home in Arlington.

The bride was graduated from Newton High School and the Chandler School for Women.

A graduate of Belmont High School and the Armed Forces Institute, Mr. Rooney served with the Marine Corps for four and one half years.

Miss Henick - Mr. Weinstein Wed; To Live In Dedham

Miss Dorothy Susan Henick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Osiaz J. Henick of 46 Shaw road, Chestnut Hill, and Richard Weinstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Israel Weinstein of 37 Stephen place, Newton Highlands, were married recently at the Beacon House in Brookline.

Rabbi Albert Yanow officiated at the single ring service, which was followed by a reception.

The bride's full-length sheath-skirted gown of white peau de soie had short sleeves and a court train. A beaded bow held in place her elbow-length illusion veil. She carried traditional white flowers.

Mrs. Stephen Gerome of Brookline, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, while Miss Sheral Swartz of Brookline was the other attendant.

Serving as best man was Stephen Weinstein of Dedham, brother of the bridegroom.

New York City is the honeymoon destination of the couple, who will make their home in Dedham.

Lesley Senior Nancy Hailer, Engaged to Wed

Of interest here is the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Florin J. Hailer of North Scituate which makes known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Nancy Carroll Hailer, to Donald Bruce McKinnon. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. McKinnon of Arlington.

Miss Hailer was graduated from Newton Country Day School of the Sacred Heart. Now a senior at Lesley College, she is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Florin J. Hailer of West Newton and Mrs. Frederick A. Carroll of Cambridge.

Mr. McKinnon is a graduate of Dartmouth College, class of 1963, where he was a member of Beta Theta Pi.

HELENE GETTER

Helene Getter Engaged to Wed Dr. Albert Martin

Mr. Seymour S. Getter of Waban makes known the engagement and approaching marriage of his daughter, Miss Helene Taylor Getter, to Dr. Albert Rene Martin. He is the son of Mrs. Elie Martin of San Francisco and the late Mr. Martin.

Daughter of the late Mrs. Getter, the future bride was graduated from Wheaton College and the Columbia University School of Social Work. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Taylor of Brighton and the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Getter of Boston.

Dr. Martin was graduated from Stanford University, class of 1959, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, and the Harvard Medical School, cum laude. Now an assistant resident in internal medicine at the Massachusetts General Hospital, he is the grandson of Mrs. Albert Zerah and the late Mr. Zerah.

The wedding will take place at King's Chapel on the evening of March 20.

Double-Ring Nuptials Unites Miss Fish-Mr. Bouchard

Miss Marilyn M. Fish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Fish of 919 Watertown street, West Newton, formerly of West Medway, became the bride of Edward A. Bouchard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bouchard of Franklin, at a recent ceremony in St. Joseph's Church, Medway.

The Rev. Francis Mara officiated at the double-ring ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

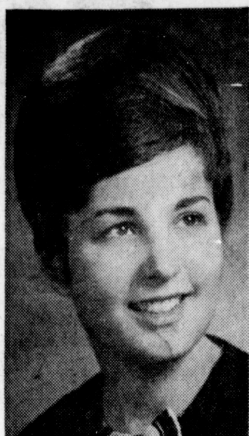

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a full-length white faille gown fashioned with a lace bodice and matching skirt panel, entraine. A pearl crown held in place her elbow-length illusion veil. She carried a Colonial bouquet of traditional white flowers.

Miss Judy Calnan of Medway was the bride's sole attendant.

Serving as best man was Anthony Taddeo of Franklin.

Mr. Bouchard and his bride left for New York City. They plan to make their home in Franklin.

Mrs. Bouchard is a graduate of Newton High School. Her husband was graduated from Franklin High School.

TOBY RUTMAN

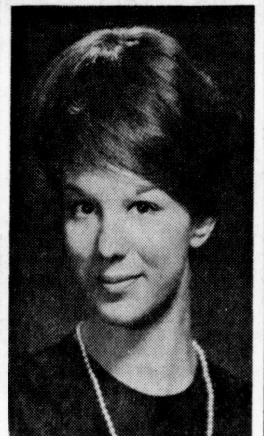

Barnard Senior Future Bride Of William Albert

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene S. Rutman of Beechwood, Ohio, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Toby Renee Rutman, to William C. Albert. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Albert of Overlook Park, Newton Centre.

Miss Rutman is a member of the senior class at Barnard College, where she is a French major. She also attended the McGill University Ecole Francaise D'Eté, where she was awarded a notation of merit from the French Government. She plans to join the teaching staff of the Boston public schools in September.

An honor graduate of Newton High School, Mr. Albert is a senior at Columbia College. He is a member of the Columbia University Glee Club and has served as chairman of the student government at Columbia College. He has been awarded both the gold and silver crown service awards by his college and is recipient of a fellowship for graduate study. He expects to attend Tufts Medical School in the fall.

A June wedding is planned. Paul J. Boylan, 142 Pine Grove Ave., Newton Lower Falls, and Janice S. Jones of 68 Roundwood Rd., Newton Upper Falls, attained the honor list at Chamberlayne Junior College, Boston.

EDNA FOX

Miss Edna Fox Future Bride Of Robert Wainer

Announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Edna Fox, to Robert Alan Wainer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wainer of Brookline, are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fox of Newton.

Miss Fox, a graduate of the Boston University College of Liberal Arts, attended the Sorbonne, where she received her Certificate de la Francaise. She is now teaching French in the Randolph public schools.

Mr. Wainer was graduated from Tufts University, where his fraternity was Tau Epsilon Phi. He is a third-year student at the Tufts University School of Medicine.

An August wedding is planned.

Delta Omega Sorority Plans Annual Dance

Delta Omega Sorority of Newton, Brookline, Brighton plans to celebrate its 25th annual dance on Mar. 19 at Chestnut Hill Country Club. Ken Reeves and his orchestra will provide the music. This being the sorority's silver anniversary, the girls are working hard to locate and invite all alumni.

The sorority, a non-profit organization, strives each year, with the help of its advisor Mrs. William Leyser, to give a large contribution to "Aid To Muscular Disease Research Foundation." The sisters accomplish this through work days, raffles, cleaning fraternity houses, and the proceeds of the dance. Officers of Delta Omega are: Beth Leavitt, president; Betsy Leyton, vice president and chairman of the dance; Barbara Tarlow, senior coordinator; Marsha Sheer, recording secretary; Shelia Cohen and Paulette Gray, corresponding secretaries; Paula Greenberg, treasurer; Toby Swartz, pledge mother, and Renee Stern, sergeant-at-arms.

"SWING INTO SPRING" DANCE — The Temple Reyim PTA "Swings Into Spring" with its annual dance and midnight supper, Saturday evening, March 20 in the social hall. Planning the event, are, left to right: Mrs. Sidney Fruman, reservations; Mrs. Seymour Smoller, general chairman; Mrs. Warren Marcus, telephone squad; and Mrs. Arthur Sparr, reservations co-chairman.

ADA Chapter To Discuss Vietnam

"Vietnam and the Far East" will be the topic of the meeting of Newton Chapter, Americans for Democratic Action, tomorrow evening (Friday) in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Nemetz, 1221 Kirkstall Rd., Newtonville.

The meeting is first in a series on major issues of national policy being held as a prelude to the national convention in Washington, D.C., Apr. 2 to 4.

Professor Donald Hindley, of the Department of Politics, Brandeis University, will be the guest speaker. A discussion period will follow.

A coffee house will begin at 8 p.m., and members and friends are invited.

Test

Hard work and grim determination were the ingredients which produced a 2-1 victory for Newton at the jam-packed Boston Arena Monday night over a Melrose team which had been unbeaten in its previous 20 games.

Melrose generally was listed as the favorite not only to beat Newton but also to capture the State tournament title, and the win was the most exciting of the year for the Tigers.

Dick and Bob Toomey, John Coyle scored the two goals which toppled Melrose from the ranks of the undefeated.

Every member of the Newton team played a great game as the Tigers turned in an outstanding team performance.

Dick and Bob Toomey, John Coyle, George Mechem, Jeff MacLaughlin, Dave Mullare, Dick Dezotell, Kim Britt and Elliot Feldman all came in for their share of well-deserved praise from Coach Kinlin.

But the hero of the night was goalie Kevin McLatchy who turned away 25 Melrose shots and saved the game time after time for Newton.

Newton rooters swarmed around McLatchy when the contest ended, and he was carried to the dressing room after playing the best game of his career.

While McLatchy was turning away 25 Melrose shots, the Melrose goalie made just seven saves, but the two which blazed past him were enough to give Newton a thrilling victory.

The game was less than a minute old when Dick Toomey took a pass off the boards from his brother Bob, flashed in alone on the Melrose goalie and flipped the puck into the net.

Melrose tied the score early in the second period. But near the end of that period John Coyle took a lead pass from Jeff MacLaughlin, faked a Melrose defenseman out of position and then skated in alone on Melrose goalie Jerry Healey to make the tally.

That gave Newton a 2-1 lead, and the Tigers clung tenaciously to it with the help of some brilliant net-minding by McLatchy.

Now it's on to the semifinals of the State tournament tonight and then, hopefully, to a State championship.

PTA Council Meeting Gets Reports On Various Plans

Plans for a Newton Youth Center as a project of the junior class of Newton High School were discussed by Miss Susan Parker, class advisor, and students Susan Gradone and Frances Deats. The Class, which is about to rent a building to be used as a youth center, has earned $1500 towards this end. Working closely with faculty at Newton High School, the class now needs "connections and money." Those who could supply either for this project (which is approved by School and Recreation Departments) may contact Miss Parker at Newton High School, extension 330.

A report on legislation, given by Arthur Laughland, principal of the Hyde School, resulted in a motion to express favor for bill H.1087 (concerning authorization for school committees to employ legal council) and to express opposition to bills H.2164 (placing school budgets under municipal control) and H.3164 (the provision limiting fiscal independence for school committees.) A motion was also carried to favor bills H.51, H.52, and S104.

Puerto Rican Pianist To Be Featured Here

Newton Junior College will present a concert by Jesus Maria Sanroma, noted pianist, as the next event in its Art and Music Series at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday, March 17th, at College Hall, Washington Park, Newtonville.

Mr. Sanroma, a native of Puerto Rico, was sent to this country by the Puerto Rican Government to complete his musical education at the New England Conservatory of Music, where he won the Mason and Hamlin prize. He has studied with Mme. Antoinette Szumowska in Boston, Alfred Cortet in Paris, and Arthur Schnabel in Berlin.

In 1924 he made his recital debut in Boston and in 1926 his orchestral debut with Serge Koussevitsky and the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Since then he has given recitals in London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Madrid, Barcelona, Central and South America, and many American cities. He has appeared with orchestras in France, Canada, Mexico, Central and South America, Hawaii, and the United States. He has also played at the Latin-American Music Festival at Caracas, the First Pan American Chamber Music Festival in Mexico City, and other notable music festival in all parts of the world.

In addition, Mr. Sanroma has given World Premiers of works of Dukelsky, Walter Piston, Hindemith, and others. Besides recording over 30 albums, he has received Honorary Degrees of Doctor of Music from Boston College, the University of Puerto Rico, and the University of Miami.

The program will include works by Casals, Beethoven, Chopin, Debussy, and Ravel.

The audience is invited to meet Mr. Sanroma at a reception in his honor following the concert. This event is free and open to the public.

Dr. Fallaw Is Lenter Speaker

Greenleaf Resigns Local Health Post

Dr. Henry M. Greenleaf of West Newton, the city's commissioner of public health, submitted his resignation yesterday to Mayor Donald L. Gibbs.

The resignation becomes effective on June 15 when Dr. Greenleaf will assume a post in Brookline where he will be paid $3000 a year more than he is now receiving.

Dr. Greenleaf now gets $14,500 a year as Newton's public health commissioner, and Mayor Gibbs in his budget message recommended that his salary be raised to $15,500 a year.

That recommendation is now pending before the Board of Aldermen and reportedly has been slated for approval next Monday.

Even with the proposed raise, however, Dr. Greenleaf still would be getting $2000 less than he has been offered by Brookline.

Mayor Gibbs sought to dissuade Dr. Greenleaf from quitting his Newton post but declined to enter any bidding competition for his services.

Dr. Greenleaf was brought here from Hartford about two and a half years ago. He had been deputy health administrator in Hartford.

The Mayor has written to Dr. Charles A. Thompson, chairman of the Advisory Council on Public Health, asking him to call a meeting of the council as soon as possible.

Volpe Says Drop In Tax Rate Due

Newton's tax rate would be reduced by $4.44 should Governor John A. Volpe's 3 per cent sales tax be adopted, according to an estimate released by the governor last week.

The reduction, it was explained, was arrived at by dividing the tax's total revenue by the 1964 assessed valuation of the community.

DONALD BERIG

Newton Young Democrats In '65 Election

The Newton group, although only one year old, is one of the fastest growing clubs in New England. Much of this rapid growth is a result of the effective leadership of the officers who served in 1964.

Mr. Berig is pledged to expand their policies and promote membership through a vigorous educational program aimed at further stimulating the growing interest in the Newton Democratic Party.

Mr. Berig, a graduate of Our Lady High School and Bentley College is a member of the firm of D. David Berig Associates-Registered Public Accountants and has motel

Marathon Session To Face Local Aldermen

A marathon session of the Board of Aldermen is scheduled for next Monday night (March 22) when the city fathers will undertake to trim down the $17,013,161 municipal budget submitted to them last month by Mayor Donald L. Gibbs.

Members of the Aldermanic Board have predicted that they will cut about $500,000 from the Mayor's budget. Such a reduction would be equivalent to about $1.70 on the tax rate which appears certain to rise about $6 or $7.

An order officially calling next Monday's special session was adopted at this week's meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

Aldermanic President Wendell R. Bauckman cautioned the members that the meeting would be a long one and urged them to be on time for it.

Mayor Gibbs submitted a message to the Aldermanic Board Monday night recommending five changes in the budget which would reduce it a total of $62,865.

A proposal recommending that lawsuits resulting from injuries suffered by spectators at the 1961 Newton High School football game, when temporary bleachers collapsed, be settled, was approved at Monday night's meeting of the Board of Aldermen, and it was voted to appropriate $5900 to cover the city's share of settling the suits.

This action was recommended by the city solicitor and was endorsed unanimously.

Missionary From Congo Speaks Here

A dedicated woman missionary, Miss Ruth Hege, left for dead after an attack by Communist terrorists in the Congo, will speak in Newton next Thursday night, March 25th.

Miss Hege will tell her story at a meeting to be held at the Cabot School auditorium starting at 7:30 o'clock, under the sponsorship of Faith Baptist Church of Newton.

She recently returned to this country from the Congo, where she narrowly escaped ly by the Aldermanic Claims and Rules Committee.

Chairman Harry H. Ham, Jr., of the Claims and Rules

Committee recalled that the bleachers collapsed when all the spectators seated on them suddenly stood up at one point in the game.

He said the temporary stands were erected by the Marr Scaffold Company which carried no casualty insurance.

Injuries suffered in the collapse of the bleachers Ham pointed out, included: fractured leg, a fractured vertebrae and a displaced disc.

While Ham said it has never been determined whether the city is liable, he added that if the case of the 12 plaintiffs were to go before a jury, the city's share of the cost of printing the various claims would exceed the $5900 figure.

The total figure for settling the claims is $15,000, with the Marr Scaffold Company paying $9100 and the city paying the remaining $5900.

In another action the Aldermanic Board voted 17-2 to appropriate $2000 for the

Cardiac Center Is Tribute To Doctor

The Samuel A. Levine Cardiac Center of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, named in honor of the noted Dr. Levine, a Newton resident was dedicated with impressive ceremonies recently.

A fund of more than $150,000 was presented to the Hospital to establish the Cardiac Center by a group of patients and friends of Dr. Levine. It was a tribute to him for his outstanding contributions to medicine as researcher, teacher and healer.

The dedicatory exercises were held in the presence of hospital officials, trustees, doctors, nurses, staff and friends of Dr. Levine.

Participating in the exercises were Alan Steinert,

Democratic Leaders Intend To Present Own Tax Program

Democratic leaders on Beacon Hill are planning to produce a tax program of their own to offer as an alternative to the sales tax proposed by Governor Volpe.

A tax expert is now in the process of working out the so-called Democratic plan, and it probably will be ready for unveiling some time next month.

Exactly what the plan will be and whether it will draw any more public support than a sales tax bill is not known even by those Democratic law-makers who want their own tax program.

One portion of the Democratic plan is certain to recommend a tremendous increase in the State income tax.

While the plan undoubtedly will call for lesser taxes which would yield a few million dollars each,

Judge Yesley To Speak At Scout Dinner

Judge Julian L. Yesley, presiding justice of the Newton District Court, will be the principal speaker for the 16th Annual Family Supper meeting of Troop No. 225, B. S. A., Explorer Post No. 217 and Cub Pack No. 217 on Wednesday, March 31, in the Temple Emanuel of Newton Community Hall.

An unusual feature of the program will be the raising of two Scouts to Eagle Rank. An unusually stimulating and interesting program has been arranged by the Committee.

Members of the three troops will present demonstrations of Scout lore gained from their participation in scout activities.

Abraham Stadlen, Temple Emanuel executive director, is supper chairman. Dr. Jack Lapuck, assistant scout master, of Troop No. 225, is co-chairman.

Members of the committee are: Morris Danovitch, institutional representative; Harry Weiner, chairman, scout committee; Benjamin Lofchie, council commissioner, Norumbega Council, B. S. A.; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Frutkoff, Cub Pack Master and Den Mother; Joseph Weiner, scoutmaster; Paul Roberts, Explorer Post leader; Harry Friedman, Scouts; Marvin Berkowitz, Cubs; and Daniel Bloom, Scouts.

Happy Winning Smiles

Newton College of the Sacred Heart senior Nancy M. Mangan and her faculty sponsor, Mother Caroline Putnam, are happy over the news of Nancy winning a National Fellowship.

Wilson Fellowship To Newton Student

Newton College of the Sacred Heart was the recipient of good news scholastically over the weekend when Nancy M. Mangan, a senior at the college, was announced a winner in the 1965-66 Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship competition.

Nancy is a Latin major and Dean's List student at the college and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Mangan, 276 Rugby road, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Miss Mangan was one of 1,395 winners selected from more than 11,000 faculty-nominated college seniors in the United States and Canada.

Selma Report Given Here By Newton Leader

A capacity audience at the Claffin School, Lowell avenue, Newtonville, was given a first-hand report of the terror in Selma, Alabama, by Mrs. Robert (Jan) W. Hallgring, 167 Woodward street, Newton Highlands, who had led a delegation from the Catholic Inter-Racial Council of the Boston Archdiocese.

Herbert F. Regal, chairman of the Newton Democratic City Committee, invited Mrs. Hallgring to be a special speaker at the meeting of the Newton Democratic City Committee.

"It was like being in another country," stated Mrs. Hallgring. "As we marched, danger was ever-present. Every tree, every building

52 Teams To Report On Building Fund Pledges

The first report of pledges made to the $3.5 million Newton-Wellesley Hospital building fund will be made on Thursday, March 25, at a full-scale meeting of the advance gifts organization at the Brae Burn Country Club, Newton, at 6:30 p.m.

The announcement was made by Robert C. Casselman, chairman of the Advance Gifts Committee.

"We have strong indications at present," Casselman said, "that our hopes will not only be equaled but surpassed. This is especially so because of the large number of memorials being reserved, particularly for the planned new Intensive Care Unit and for new X-ray facilities."

The Advance Gifts goal is $2 million. Overall, a total of $3.5 million is sought for the construction and modernization program. Report will be forthcoming from some 52 volunteer teams.

"This phase of the campaign," Casselman emphasized, "is actually the solid core of the entire effort, the foundation upon which all else is built."

His announcement followed the second meeting of the Advanced Gifts Committee, held Tuesday evening at the Waban Neighborhood Club and attended by several hundred persons. The initial Advance Gifts Committee meeting was held at the Maugus Club, Wellesley, on Monday, March 8.

New committee members enlisted this week are: Kenneth Kurson, Philip Fine, Maurice Silverman, Lester Doucet, Kenneth Rogers, Kevin Hughes, all of Waban; Dr. Eugene M. Binder, Michael B. Mosko, Walter H. Dietz Jr. Newton Centre; the Rev. John Scammon, Newton Highlands; David McWhorter, William Carmen, John Gurry, Newton;

In the community building will be an assembly hall large enough to accommodate the residents of all three Newton housing developments at one time.

This will be the third development to be erected by the Newton Housing Authority.

The first two developments constructed for elderly persons in needy circumstances are the 64-unit Jackson Gardens at 111 John F. Kennedy circle completed in 1963 and the 33-unit Parker House finished last year.

Construction of the Horace Mann development will start immediately. The apartments should be ready for about April 1 of next year.

Attending the signing of the contract were: Pat Franchi, President, Franchi Construction Co., Inc.; William Carmen, Chairman, Newton Housing Authority; Irene K. Oak Hill Improvers Vote To Observe Anniversary

A 30th anniversary celebration will be held this May by the Oak Hill District Improvement Association, according to a unanimous decision by the Board of Directors recently.

The three decade birthday will provide the organization an opportunity to tell residents in Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, and Chestnut Hill, as well as others in Newton, what it has been doing to serve the best interest of the district and the city itself, according to Irving Karg, 31 Fox Lane, Newton Centre, president of the Association.

A committee headed by Leon Gainesboro, 44 Sharpe Rd., Newton Centre, was established to make arrangements for the observance.

The Board also discussed aspects of a traffic survey requested of the Planning Department of the City of Newton on the South Side of Route 9. According to James Miller of this department, a comprehensive traffic report should be available about April or May.

It was also voted unanimously by the Board to support a bill before the state legislature (S. 442) "for legislation to authorize the Department of Natural Resources and the M.D.C. to prepare a general plan for developing and preserving the scenic and recreational potentialities of the Charles River." The river is the boundary line for part of the Oak Hill District.

The Board also voted to express concern about extending a soil-removal permit taken on the St. Joseph Novitiate on Winchester Street unless a new bond is posted. Soil was removed from the property about a year ago and that area has not been re-landscaped to meet zoning requirements since that time.

Since another accident took place in January of this year, the Board voted to request the City of Newton to erect a stop sign on Parker Avenue at the approaches of Walnut Hill Road.

was looked at with suspicion. The hatred we saw in the eyes of the natives of Selma was unbelievable. It was our dedication and determination to carry on that gave us courage.

A collection was taken at the meeting to be forwarded to Dr. King to help the cause.

Sen. Kevin Harrington of Salem, addressed the gathering on the "Willis Report." School Committee Chairman Haskell Freedman was called to the platform, and urged the support of all those present for the recommendations included in the Willis report.

Among those present at the meeting were: Mayor Donald L. Gibbs, Alderman Adelaide Ball, Rep. Irving Fishman, Rep. Joseph Bradley, Rep. Paul Malloy, City Clerk Monte Basbas and Alderman William Carmen.

The M.D.C.'s K-9 Corps is made up of six police officers and six German Shepherd dogs.

Death Penalty Pro And Con Is Theme Of Panel

"Should We Abolish the Death Penalty?" is the subject of the supper forum meeting of the Temple Emanuel Couples Club on Sunday evening, March 28.

Panelists who will discuss this controversial subject, which has occupied the State Legislature again this year, includes: Senator Beryl W. Cohen of Brookline, one of the sponsors of the Bill for abolition; Representative David H. Locke of Wellesley, a leading opponent of abolition and Mrs. Sara Ehrmann, life-long chairman of the Mass. Committee for the Abolishment of the Death penalty.

Rabbi David M. Weiss, associate Rabbi of Temple Emanuel, will serve as moderator. Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Shapiro are chairmen.

The supper forum periodically discusses vital issues of public concern. It is sponsored by the Couples Club of Temple Emanuel of Newton whose purpose is to afford a full program of religious and cultural activities for young members of the Temple family. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Graham are president of the Couples Club.

Sisterhood Of Temple Plans Event March 24

"Is Silence Golden?" is the title of a program planned by Temple Reyim Sisterhood Wednesday evening, March 24, in the Ord's Social Hall of the Temple, 1860 Washington street, Newton. Speakers will be James Bishop, vice-chairman of the Congress for Racial Equality (CORE), and Mrs. Frances Perkins, vice-president of the board of directors of Freedom House.

The meeting, according to Sisterhood president Mrs. Gilbert Salk, will be the group's first "gentlemen night" with all members of the Brotherhood and the Congregation invited to attend.

Mrs. Louis Green, chairman of the Sisterhood's Social Action Committee, said that the speakers will be available for a question-answer period.

Orson Welles Film at NHS PTA

"Citizen Kane," a movie starring Orson Welles, will be shown Thursday evening, Mar. 25, at 8 o'clock, by Newton High School PTA in the high school auditorium.

The showing will be in conjunction with the fund-raising efforts of the PTA Ways and Means Committee, under the direction of Mrs. William M. Glosky, chairman, and Mrs. Maurice Crevosha.

Refreshments will follow the program.

The committee on arrangements includes Richard Adams, PTA vice president and master of Beals House, Mrs. Louis Kessler and Mrs. Francis E. McDonough.

Seat belts, designed to keep passengers from falling out, were part of the equipment of several early horseless carriages around 1895-1905, notes the Automobile Legal Association.

Republicans Of Ward 6 Review Spring Plans

Plans for spring activities were reviewed at a recent meeting of Ward Six Republican Committee in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Green, 41 Daniel St., Newton Centre.

Chairman William Lane Bruce presided.

The committee voted an expression of appreciation to Theodore Green for his part in the finance drive recently completed under the direction of William R. Horner.

Details of the census being continued this Spring throughout Ward Six under the direction of Mrs. Herman Smerling and Mrs. Frederick Hovey were discussed at length.

Those present at the meeting included Mr. and Mrs. Bruce; Mrs. Jan Bucuvalas, Samuel Citron, Col. Wendell R. Freeman; Theodore Green, Mrs. Frederick Hovey, David A. Lurensky, Philip Plumley, Mrs. Herman Smerling, Edward A. Winsor.

Church Group Entertained By Hyde Ensemble

The Hyde School String Ensemble, under the direction of Mrs. Catherine E. Abele, provided the music for a recent meeting of the Women's Association of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church.

In addition to three numbers by the entire ensemble, a trio and a string quartette completed the program.

Children participating were: Violins — Miriam Axelrod, Louise Band, Olivia Cohen, John Ebb, Cindy Fallows, Diane Kaplan, Suzanne Friedman, Laurie Gilbert, Michele Gould, Frederick Lein, Dan Perlman, Mary Quinan, Jonathan Sack, Jane Starkman, David Stein, Martha Sue Snodgrass, Sonja Merian, Audrey Gluntz, Gail Woodbury, Cellos — Alan Tailby, Jennifer Snodgrass, Bass — John Corley, Piano — Mary Ann Juillerat, Willie Osman, Jane McMullen.

Sports Night To Be Held On Next Wednesday

On Wednesday evening, March 24, the Franklin School P.T.A. will hold a Fathers' and Sons' Sports Night in the school auditorium at 8 p.m.

Gerry Moore, public relations director of the Boston Patriots Football Club, and former Boston newspaper sportswriter, will be the featured speaker.

While a writer Gerry visited training camps, traveled with the major league sports teams and knew and wrote about all the stars in baseball, football, hockey and golf. Movies of the Boston Patriots team will also be shown.

Albert C. Caterina is chairman of the committee presenting this program. Admission is free and all parents and pupils of the Franklin School are cordially invited to attend.

About two out of every three new cars are purchased on credit, notes the Automobile Legal Association.

Clergy Comprise Panel At Auburndale Meeting

"How We Know God" was discussed by a panel at the annual guest night of the Auburndale Woman's Club held Tuesday, March 9.

The inter-faith theme of the meeting was augmented by the presence on the panel of Rev. John T. Feeney, Corpus Christi Church; Rev. Roland W. Jenkins, Centenary Methodist Church; Rev. Robert W. Gollidge, Church of the Messiah, who served as moderator; Rabbi Philip Kieval, Temple Reyim, and the Rev. Eugene Meyer, Auburndale Congregational Church.

Mrs. J. W. Hitchcock, religious chairman of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, was the guest of honor. Men and women from the various Auburndale churches were special guests.

Mrs. LeRoy A. Faulkner, club president, was the chairman of the evening; refreshments were served by Mrs. Harold Silverstein and members of the executive board.

Mrs. Theodore Gilmore, Mrs. Earle D. Wood, Mrs. R. Emerson Sylvester, Mrs. Hugh B. Huntley and Mrs. James I. Glasser served as hostesses.

Weeks Jr. High Board Sets Its Coming Events

Prime interest was shown by the executive board of Weeks P.T.A. at a recent meeting, on the annual meeting on Education scheduled for Mar. 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Levi, program chairmen, announced that the topic to be discussed would be "New Directions in Social Studies."

Scheduled for Apr. 7 is a program of sacred music featuring Isadore Freed's "Chassidic Service" with Cantor Alex Zinner as soloist, and the last third of Honigster's "King David." This is an annual event, presented by the combined choral groups and orchestra of the Music Department, under the direction of Raymond Smith.

In May there will be general participation in the Arts Festival, being planned on a city-wide basis.

June 8 and 9 are the dates of the annual Pops concert.

Temple Emanuel Offers Jewish History Series

The Adult Education Committee of Temple Emanuel will offer a series of four lectures on "Challenge and Response in Jewish History" by Professor H. H. Ben Sasson, it was announced by Mr. Herbert Berman, chairman, and Mrs. Irving Gelman, co-chairman.

The series will be given on four successive Tuesday evenings at 8:30 in the Benjamin Vestry beginning March 30.

Professor Ben Sasson is professor of Medieval Jewish History at the Hebrew University, Jerusalem, and is serving this year as visiting professor at Harvard University. A native of Russia, he received his education at the Hebrew University where he has been on the faculty since 1950. His major work, "History of the Jews in the Middle Ages" received the Israel Book Award of 1958. He is the author of a number of other major studies and is an editor of the Hebrew Encyclopedia. He is an outstanding lecturer and students flock to his courses.

The lecture series will present the following subjects:

March 30 — "The Challenge of the Classical Past."
April 6 — "The Challenge of Medieval Persecution."
April 13 — "The Challenge of Change."
April 20 — "The Challenge of the Modern World."

All lectures are open and the public is cordially invited to attend. They will be held at Temple Emanuel, 385 Ward street, Newton Centre.

Temple Purim Carnival Held

The religious school of Temple Beth Avodah had its first Purim carnival on Sunday, March 14. The 160 children of the school enjoyed games and refreshments.

A Purim play under the direction of Mrs. Selma Sage, music director of the school, was presented by the upper grades. Refreshments were prepared by Mrs. Alfred Maleson and the ladies of the Temple Sisterhood.

Vermont, visited by Samuel de Champlain in 1609, was the first state to join the Union after the original 13 states, says the Automobile Legal Association.

Waterfront Director and real estate interests on Cape Cod.

In past election campaigns he has served various candidates in the positions of manager and treasurer. He is a member of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Elks, Ancient Order of the Hibernians and was elected to the Ward 5 Committee.

Serving as vice-president will be Joseph T. Morrissey who has been an active election campaigner for many years serving candidates as a manager, co-ordinator and strategist. He was educated in the Newton schools and at Boston University. He is a real estate broker and insurance agent presently employed by the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority.

He holds membership in the Knights of Columbus, Ancient Order of the Hibernians, Suffolk Democratic Club, and was co-chairman of Heart Sunday in 1964. Kathleen Mullen, who was elected secretary, is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School and Framingham State College. She is a teacher in Woburn.

Treasurer-elect Thomas B. Concannon, a teacher in Maynard, holds a master's degree from Boston State College and a B.S. in economics from Boston College.

Mr. Concannon works with retarded children at the Wallace Reading Clinic and is a member of the board of directors at the Glen Haven School for emotionally disturbed children in Natick. He also is a licensed real estate broker with investments on Cape Cod.

Returned to the board of directors were George Mead and Richard McGrath who were both instrumental in starting the organization. Also elected to the board were Peter F. Harrington, who served the past year as president, and Paul R. Derensis.

Session

Installation of red and yellow flashing traffic lights at the intersection of Centre, Cabot and Sargent streets as recommended by Public Works Director Willard S. Pratt. The intersection is considered a hazardous one, and a fatal accident has occurred there.

Aldermen Jack M. Roberts and David W. Jackson cast the two votes in opposition to the appropriation. Five members of the board were absent.

Bruce of the Aldermanic Public Works Committee reported that the city originally intended to install stop-and-go traffic signal lights at the intersection but that this idea was dropped because of the expense involved as a result of a new State Public Works Department rule that such lights must include "walk" and "don't walk" signals for pedestrians.

An amendment to the zoning regulations eliminating the limitation on basement apartments in garden-type developments, was approved by the Aldermanic Board.

Alderman Ham said the regulation has been a deterrent to the erection of garden-type developments in Newton and that its elimination should help to encourage this type of construction.

Also approved was a petition by the Hills and Falls Nursery School for permission to conduct a cooperative nursery school at St. Mary's Church, 258 Concord street, Newton Lower Falls. There was no opposition to a petition by Clay Chevrolet Inc., 431 Washington street, Newton for the right to increase its storage of inflammables. C. P. Clay, testifying at the hearing on the petition, explained that his major reason for seeking more storage space was that he needed 8000 gallons of fuel oil on hand in order to heat the establishment without interruption. The present tank, with a capacity of only 1000 gallons, frequently runs dry, he declared.

Girls Swim And Gym Classes To Start At YMCA

The Newton YMCA announces the starting date for the 3rd ten week session of Girls' Swim and Gym Classes will be Friday, March 19. The group of swimming instructors is directed by Elaine Thomas, a teacher in the Watertown School System. She has devoted much time, during the past several years, to developing a fine program of instruction in all swim classes — beginners through the most advanced Porpoise class.

The trampoline and gymnastic apparatus has proven to be a most popular part of our gym program encouraging girls to better physical fitness.

Registration for these classes will be held on one day only: Friday, March 12, starting at 9:00 a.m. Adults interested in having their girls participate in these popular classes are urged to be prompt on registration day, to avoid disappointment.

Robert E. Jacobs of 33 Coolidge Rd., Newton Centre, has been accepted for admission to Wentworth Institute. A Newton High School senior, he will study highway and engineering technology.

Question Head Of Library Trustees

In the Newton Graphic of March 11, Mrs. George Brewer, president of the board of trustees of the Newton Free Library reports, "I would like to say first that the survey does not recommend the closing of all the branch libraries."

I would like to know, Mrs. Brewer, if you do not plan on closing all the branches, just how many branches and which ones do you plan on closing?

Do you have any children you would care to see brave the traffic in that "mad triangle", where the Mason-Rice school was and the proposed central library is to be? What does the traffic commission have to say about this addition to Newton Centre traffic? Have they been consulted?

Have you considered putting a branch library in the centre?

According to the Humphrey-McNiff survey, South High has a modern, well stocked library. Could a site be found in Newtonville, where North High pupils and Newton Junior College could be served?

These are some questions I would like to have answered frankly and honestly.

Mrs. George C. Jones

Dislikes Proposed Library Location

Editor of The Graphic:

Recently I received a request from the Friends of the Newton Free Library for a donation to the new central library to be located on the site of the old Mason School.

I have talked with people who cannot endorse this new project any more than I can. I believe that the need for the small local library in Newton cannot be overstated. When our family moved from the Crystal Lake area to our present Newton Highlands address, we were greatly impressed with the services of the Newton Upper Falls Library.

Miss Hester Billings, the faithful librarian, is a true public servant, friend and mentor to the children who are started on the adventure of reading through her warm encouragement and understanding of the individual child.

Older people from our local nursing home and the Stone Institute can walk just that distance and no more. They find a friend in Miss Billings, books to help them in their loneliness, a place to visit where they are always welcome.

So many older citizens have no car and cannot travel as far as the newly proposed library. They are the ones who use the libraries perhaps most of all, and need books and friendly greetings.

To me it is a great disaster that these "friends" of the Newton public library are depriving little children and senior citizens of any library facility within reach. They will lose readers, not gain. They will not help to give the best library service, but hinder.

I believe this so strongly that I would fight this project bitterly. I wish this letter would arouse people who are interested in promoting the cultural advantages of Newton, and that such people could come forward and voice their opinions.

Praises League

Editor, Newton Graphic It has been called to my attention that Mayor Gibbs declared March 4th as League of Women Voters Day and that the League is conducting a financial drive.

It appears to be an appropriate time to express my respect and appreciation for the support the League has given to numerous civic projects through their 35 years of service to the citizens of Newton.

Because of the League's activity, voters have had the opportunity to meet with all candidates for public office. Candidates replies to League-prepared questionnaires have been distributed to voters throughout the City.

Pamphlets outlining departmental operation of the City government have been prepared for educational purposes. All informative material in civic projects is set forth in a factual non-partisan basis.

Very important is their attendance at all Aldermanic meetings to lend support to the Aldermen by their presence. If history repeats, the women of the League will be the only citizens sufficiently interested to be present when we pass our annual budget of approximately $29,000,000 at our March 22nd meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

Political Highlights

there is no way of raising $100 to $150 million except through a sales tax or a staggering hike in the State income tax.

There are two obvious risks for the Democratic strategists at the State House.

One is that if their program is enacted and proves unpopular, they must assume the responsibility for it.

The second is that they may unintentionally promote support for Governor Volpe's sales tax proposition if their own plan arouses a storm of objection.

Surveys of public sentiment, which have been made, show the people don't want any new taxes but that a majority of persons would prefer a sales tax to a big increase in the State income tax if they had to make a choice.

Published reports that Governor Volpe's sales tax proposal is dead and is just waiting for a decent burial are extremely premature.

Volpe is just beginning to mount his drive for a sales tax, and he is attracting increasing support.

That doesn't mean the sales tax necessarily will be adopted. But it does mean that the fight is far from over.

Dumaine Ouster Move May Be Sidetracked

Republican leaders are finding themselves in an increasingly awkward dilemma over the matter of replacing controversial GOP State Chairman Frederic C. (Buck) Dumaine.

The situation is fraught with so much uncertainty that it may eventually be decided to permit Dumaine to continue as chairman.

A trial balloon sent up to determine what the reaction would be to replacing Dumaine with Senator Fred L. Lamson of Malden resulted in a broadside of objection to Lamson.

Lamson's critics argue that he was ineffective as Republican leader in the Senate and that there is no reason to assume he would be any more effective as State Chairman.

Governor Volpe probably would be able to install Lamson as Republican State Chairman if he puts his prestige on the line and makes it a personal fight. There is a question whether Volpe is prepared to do that far.

I heartily endorse the excellent work being done by the League of Women Voters for our citizens, and it is my hope they will receive City-wide financial support from the people who value the continuation of this public service to our community.

Aid To Good Cause

Editor of The Graphic: Our heartfelt thanks go to you and The Newton Graphic for your help in bringing the program and appeal of Greater Boston's Cerebral Palsy Association to the attention of this community.

We feel that it contributed immeasurably to the success of our drive. The children, parents, volunteers and staff of United Cerebral Palsy of Greater Boston join with me in this expression of appreciation.

We would also like to publicly acknowledge the cooperation of the personnel of the Fire Department. Marchers who have not yet made their returns may still do so at their earliest convenience.

Honor To Martyr

Editor of The Graphic: We honor the memory of martyred Reverend James Reeb, who died on the battlefield at Selma, Alabama.

His weapon was not the billy club or the gas pellet that chokes and burns. James Reeb was armed with love. A love for all men who are made in God's image and likeness. God has raised him up where he has fallen and his spirit leads us on. We will overcome the hatred that turns man against man wherever it exists and replace it with love in memory of James Reeb and for the glory of God.

Mrs. Robert W. Hallgrang, Catholic Inter-racial Council, Boston Archdiocese, 167 Woodward street, Newton Highlands.

Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, Secretary of State Kevin H. White and former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti. Donahue, McCormack and White all are regarded as probable candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor next year. Bellotti is expected to run for Attorney General but might decide to jump into the gubernatorial race.

Suddenly, Toastmaster Daniel M. Keyes asked "Will the real Democratic candidate for Governor please stand up?"

The hall was still. The eyes of the audience were riveted on the head table.

McCormack, Donahue, White and Bellotti sat in complete silence. None of the four so much as flexed a muscle. The situation was weighted with embarrassment.

Then Volpe stood up, and the assembled guests roared their delight. The Republican Governor not only demonstrated his sense of humor but stole the show in the process.

Joe Snow Fires Typical Blast

The only occasion on which the State Crime Commission drew any newspaper criticism was when it hired Joe Snow as an investigator.

When Foster Furcolo became Governor in 1957, Snow was his chauffeur and companion. The two had a falling-out and parted company. After that Snow levelled a series of attacks at Furcolo. The feeling between them was obviously bitter.

Snow's employment by the Crime Commission was criticized because most observers felt the commission should hire objective investigators with no grudges to settle and no axes to grind.

When Snow was notified that the Commission was winding up its affairs in preparation for going out of business and that his services would not be needed after the end of this month, he fired a typical blast at Governor Volpe who fathered the crime board.

Ironically, Snow worked a much longer period for the crime board than it was indicated he would when he came here from Florida last year to take the job.

Cancer Society Film on Smoking A Huge Success

Dr. Gerald C. Garcelon of 60 Temple St., West Newton, chairman of the American Cancer Society's Public Education Committee, has announced that the Society's new weapon in its educational effort to change the image of the cigarette non-smoker has become a striking success in Massachusetts.

Released last December, "The Huffy, Puffy Dragon," an animated cartoon film which uses humor and satire to emphasize the health hazards of smoking, has attained a national distribution of more than 425 copies and a Massachusetts circulation of 12 copies, for which the demand is increasing.

Dr. Garcelon explains that the 8-minute color film consists of a cast of tough, fire-eating dragons led by Drag Goon, leader of the cigarette smoking dragons. The film's hero is Drag Knight, the only non-smoking dragon. Urged by other dragons to smoke, he refuses and provokes the anger of Drag Goon who calls Drag Knight a square. To prove who is the better man — or rather, dragon — Drag Knight takes on all comers and defeats them all, including Drag Goon, the leader. In the final scene, Drag Goon collapses as all his followers drop their cigarettes.

"The moral is clear," the Newton surgeon said. "The facts are in about cigarette smoking and health. It's smart to be a non-smoker."

Donna Nye of 35 Caldon Path, Newton Centre, a graduate of Newton South High achieved the Dean's List at Mount Ida Junior College, where she is a medical secretarial major.

First Church In Newton Has Lenten Series

The First Church in Newton—United Church of Christ, announces its 1965 Lenten program series. It includes several prominent speakers and the use of "The Lord's Day Service," a newly-proposed order of worship presented by the Committee on Worship of the United Church of Christ.

Speakers included Dr. Walter G. Muelder, Dean of the Boston University School of Theology. Dean Muelder was a Protestant observer at the Vatican Council and he spoke last night on "The Vatican Council—Its Scope and Hope."

Bishop Thomas J. Riley, pastor of St. Peter's Church, Cambridge, will speak on Wednesday, March 24. Bishop Riley is a participant in the Vatican Council and he will speak on "The Council's Meaning for Roman Catholics."

Noel Day, executive director, St. Mark Social Center, Roxbury, will speak Wednesday, March 31, on "What's Happening in Roxbury?" First Church has contributed a part of its 300th Anniversary Fund through the Metropolitan Boston Association of the United Church to St. Mark Social Center.

On Wednesday, April 7, D. Ralph Maclean and Rev. Frank M. Weiskel will conduct a musical program on "The Lenten Hymns of the Church."

All services will be held in the Brigham Chapel of First Church at 8 p.m. The congregation will adjourn to the Parish Hall to hear the speakers. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

William Kunkel To Address Phi Beta Kappas

Newton members of Phi Beta Kappa will meet at the Nonantum branch library on Mar. 23, as guests of A. William Kunkel, city librarian. At this meeting, which begins at 8:00 p.m., Mr. Kunkel will explain the needs of the city's library system and its plans for the future. All members of Phi Beta Kappa resident or working in Newton, and their guests, are invited to be present.

For the past several years, this Phi Beta Kappa group has awarded an annual book prize to a graduating senior from Newton High School and Newton South High School. These students are chosen by their schools on the basis of academic excellence. The most recent recipients of prizes, in June 1964, were Lee Kathy Sherman and Leslie Claff. Their names, along with those of previous prize winners, are inscribed on plaques placed in the vestibules of their respective schools.

Members of Phi Beta Kappa whose names have not yet come to the attention of the group are invited to attend this meeting. They are also urged to make themselves known to either the secretary of the group, Edward H. Merrill, 106 Cedric Rd., Newton Centre, or the chairman, Frank M. Chambers, 59 Oxford Rd., Newton Centre.

Ward Four GOP To Hear About Volpe Tax Plan

A member of Governor John A. Volpe's staff will be at the Ward Four Republican Committee meeting tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock to explain the governor's tax program in depth.

The meeting is scheduled for the Newton Community Centre, Cherry street, West Newton, with Louis I. Egelson, chairman, presiding.

In addition, State Representative Edward Dickson and Senator Leslie B. Cutler will speak, giving reports on the legislative program of the current session of the General Court. Mrs. Betty Amesbury, state committeewoman, will speak to the group on the latest developments on the Republican State Committee level.

Raggedy Ann Here Mar. 20

Emerson College Strolling Players will present "Raggedy Ann and Andy" at Newton South High School Saturday morning, Mar. 20, at 10:30 o'clock.

Veterans Call For Crowd At Wheelchair Basketball

Many Newton veterans' groups are working to assure success of the benefit wheelchair basketball game between the New England Clippers and the Brooklyn Whirlaways, Veterans Services Commissioner Carleton P. Merrill reports.

This unique contest will be held at Meadowbrook Junior High School in Newton Centre, Saturday, March 20. Interest in this benefit affair is heightened by the addition of a Pony League basketball game before the main event.

Among the organizations distributing tickets are the following: American Legion Posts: Newton Post 48, George Carson Post 141, Nonantum Post 440 and Newton Women's Post 410 and Italian-American Post 50; Chaplain William J. Farrell Chapter Post, Disabled American Veterans; Sergeant Eugene Daley Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Newton Veterans Honor Guard.

The game between the Clippers and Whirlaways is sponsored by the Newton Recreation Department. Proceeds over and above the guarantee for the wheelchair hoopers will benefit the department's summer day camp program for retarded children.

The Clippers travel throughout New England playing exhibitions against able-bodied teams to publicize the issues of paraplegia. The team is composed of paraplegic veterans who live and work in Greater Boston. The team is a member of the New England Chapter, Paralyzed Veterans of America.

Preceding the Clipper-Whirlaway contest scheduled for 8:30, is a preliminary game between the Recreation Department's Pony League champions, the Centre Raiders, and an all-star squad composed of three players from each of the other league teams.

The Centre Raiders, coached by Stan Berkowitz, compiled an 11 and 1 record for the season. The lineup includes Bob Berkowitz, Jary Lenox, Tom Rezzuto, David Gelfond, Roger Resnick, Bob Snyder, Dean Vernon and Skip Stearns.

The All Stars, to be coached by Boys' Club mentor, Pat Proia, and Police A. A. coach

George Norcross, include the following players:

Boys' Club, David Qualters, Neil Silverman and Eddie Klieman; Police A. A., John Columbo, Charles Pendergast and eGeorge Norcross; St. Bernard's, Kevin Cox, Dick Burke and Paul Carvelli; Patriots, Tom Guisti, Patriots, Tom Guisti, Mike Deehan and Fran Dalicandro; Globetrotters, Bob Rosenberg, Alan Shapiro and Neil Jacobs and Community Center, Rudge McKenney, Chris Quinn and Norm Westlund.

Anyone wishing to purchase tickets may contact any of the veterans' organizations, or the Newton Recreation Department at City Hall, BI 4-4700. Tickets will also be available at the door the night of the game.

Open House On Sunday At Jackson Homestead

Visitors at the Jackson Homestead Open House, 527 Washington St., Newton, on Sunday afternoon, March 21, from 3 to 5 o'clock, will enjoy a glimpse of informal Victorian "Parlour Days" of the middle 1800's.

Mrs. Orin E. Skinner, assisted by Mrs. E. Graham Bates and Mrs. Blake Tewksbury, have created a warm, folksy, quiet scene with such nostalgic pieces as a fireside chair, hand-carved sofa and chairs, a table with a fringed drapery cover, knick-knacks, portraits, a Friendship Book, calling cards and old letters—to name just a few.

Sharing some of their treasures for this exhibit are Mrs. Frederick S. Bacon, Miss Anne Bunker, Miss Jean Howard, Mrs. John B. G. Palen, Mrs. Edward J. Sawyer and Lasell Junior College.

Mannequins will be dressed in old fashioned costumes, as will two Girl Scout hostesses.

Assisting Mrs. S. J. Ten Broeck, Jr., president of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, as hostesses in the various rooms will be Mrs. William E. Bailey, Miss Gretchen Clifford, Mrs. Charles H. Day, Mrs. Stewart W. Holmes, Mrs. Harold R. Keller, Mrs. Laurence Simonds and Mrs. Dexter C. Whittinghill, Mrs. Earle D. Wood, president of the "Friends," will be at the front door to greet the guests.

Members of the Chestnut Hill Garden Club who will decorate the rooms include Mrs. Myron B. Barstow and Mrs. Laura Benedict of the Flower Arranging Group, and Mrs. John M. Hall, Mrs. Hugh O'Neill Hencken, Mrs. Richard Walcott and Mrs. Stephen Wheatland of the Greenhouse Group.

PLAN SCHOLARSHIP LUNCHEON — Serious thought is being given by, left to right, Mrs. Karl Joslow, Mrs. Ezra Sherman, and Mrs. Meyer Gofkin, to plans for 58th Annual Luncheon of Women's Scholarship Association on April 28.

Fashion And Art Shows To Highlight Luncheon

Exciting plans are being announced for the 58th Annual Luncheon of the Women's Scholarship Association to be held in the new Sheraton-Boston Hotel in the Prudential Center on April 28. Luncheon co-chairmen are Mrs. Karl Joslow and Mrs. Lawrence Phillips; Mrs. Ezra Sherman, is in charge of theme and centerpiece design, and Mrs. Meyer Gofkin, of decorations. All are of Newton. Mrs. Al Gold, also of Newton, is association president.

The luncheon will feature a fashion show by Ann Barron's and an art show by prominent Newton artists, Charlotte Lockwood and Ruth Golub, of the Golub-Lockwood Art Studio.

It was announced that three prizes will be awarded, two of which will be paintings by the two artists, and the third a fabulous vacation at the Sheraton Puerto Rican Hotel.

Flower Expert To Be Speaker Monday Evening

The Sisterhood of Temple Beth Avodah, Oak Hill, Newton, will hold its March meeting next Monday evening, the 22nd at 8 o'clock at the Temple. A special spring program is planned.

Mrs. Ezra Sherman, winner of the 1965 Award of Distinction at the Jordan Marsh Flower Show, and recipient of many citations in this field, will present "Imagination in Arrangements."

The dynamic Mrs. Sherman is an accredited flower show judge. Guests are cordially invited to attend and enjoy this entertaining and informative program.

Tuesday Evening Club Has Planned Gala Style Show

Modes, models and melodies, a fashion show being planned by the Tuesday Evening Club of the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, on Friday evening, March 26, at 8 p.m., promises to be one of the most gala affairs of the spring season.

Mrs. Robert Athas and her committee are working, as one works to prepare a flower show, making sure that the spring flowers they plan to use for decoration will be at their height the night of the show. Flower boxes will be decked the parish hall, adding a charming background for the many attractive models.

The latest in spring fashions for all occasions and ages are being readied by Barron's, Inc., of West Newton and Luisa's of Auburndale. Commentating will be Irene Hennessey, television and radio personality.

Tickets will be available at the door, or may be purchased ahead of time at Barron's, Luisa's, Jo Beecher's, or Keyes Drug Store. Mrs. John Hatch has designed the very attractive posters which are on display at the shops where tickets are available.

Several dinner parties are being planned by members of the Tuesday Evening Club and their friends, who will then attend the fashion show together, rounding out a truly festive evening. There will be refreshments and door prizes in addition to the fashion show, with background music provided by the Baron Four.

Mrs. R. Curtis Reed and Mrs. Richard Crosby are co-chairmen of this event, assisted by the officers and members of the club presided over by Mrs. Record Rogers. Among those working to make this event a success are Mrs. Philip Stoner, Mrs. John Wallstrom, Mrs. Charles Valley, Mrs. John B. G. Palen, Miss Eleanor L. Bartlett, Mrs. Henry Ide, Mrs. Florence Osborne, Mrs. Ernest Flagg, Mrs. Robert W. Gollidge, Mrs. Richard Packard, Mrs. Charles Higgins, Mrs. Robert Smith, and Mrs. Ray Simpson.

Local Women In Camp Fire-B.U. Girls' Project

The Council for Greater Boston Camp Fire Girls and the Human Relations Center of Boston University are combining in a project to study the needs of girls and young women in heavily populated areas of cities.

Boston's South End has been chosen as one of three special areas in the country for development and implementation of the project.

Included in the Boston team for the project are Mrs. Jane Skinner of West Newton, a member of the human relations staff who will take charge of research and evaluation, and Mrs. Benjamin Loeb of Newton Centre, a volunteer trainer of leaders.

Local Woman To Give Course In Gardening

Registration for an evening course in spring gardening, to begin Tuesday evening, Mar. 23, at 7:30 o'clock, in the Boston Center for Adult Education, and conducted by Mrs. Archibald (Wilhelmina) Feinberg, 215 Franklin street, Newton, is now open.

The eight-week series will include soils and fertilizers, garden plans, lawns and maintenance, trees and shrubs, pruning and spraying, roses, annuals and bulbs.

Mrs. Feinberg will also lead an eight-week class in Flower Arranging on Tuesdays at 8:30 p.m. The imaginative uses of fresh spring flowers for artistic home arrangements and the Ikenobo School of Classical Japanese flower arranging will be included in this class.

For further information and a free program booklet phone the Center at 267-4430.

Dr. and Mrs. Stein At Optometric Parley

9th Graders Do An Excellent Reporting Job

This good account of an event at Weeks Junior High School was written by James Hyman and Robert Stearns, 9th grade students:

The well-known science and science-fiction writer, Isaac Asimov, spoke to a group of 50 9th grade students and teachers.

The well-spoken scientist explained his beginning as a writer in boyhood days. From the age of 13 until the spring of 1958, Professor Asimov wrote more than 60 books of science fiction. Then, with the launching of Sputnik I, he turned toward general scientific writing.

He has proven to be as accomplished a scientific writer as he was a science novelist with such books as "A View from a Height," a collection of essays in various fields of general science, and "The Realm of Algebra," an interesting explanation of the age-old field of numbers. He stated that he turned to scientific writing in order to interest laymen in the ever-growing realm of science.

In response to a student's question concerning the likelihood of his fictional predictions, he commented that his works fall in three basic categories — those that may materialize, those that have become a reality and those that have been scientifically disproven, such as "Lucky Starr and the Oceans of Venus."

To summarize, the personable Isaac Asimov has the extraordinary ability to impress the listener as well as the reader by stimulating interest and imagination.

Teachers-To-Be Take Classes In Their Subjects

The following University of Massachusetts students did practice teaching in the university's Elementary or Secondary School Block Program of last fall:

Susan Glickman, 235 Jackson St., Newton Centre, taught second grade at the Deerfield Elementary School in South Deerfield.

Edward Tanner, 27 Jerome Ave., West Newton, taught physical education at Lexington High School.

Cooperating schools at which classes in physical education were taught by U of M student teachers included: Meadowbrook Junior High, where the cooperating teacher was Mrs. Joan Rutherford; Warren Junior High, Miss Pat Smith cooperating teacher, and Weeks Junior High, Miss Wilma Thompson, cooperating teacher.

Miss Barbara Hall was the cooperating teacher in Newton elementary schools where a U of M student practice-taught.

BUY WHILE THE SUPPLY LASTS!

New GUARANTEE has Twin Features

First Feature — FREE ROAD SERVICE FOR LIFE OF TIRE.

If a Double Eagle, with or without LifeGuard, ever goes flat — for any reason — Goodyear will pay for any road service involved.

Second Feature — CUSTOMER SATISFACTION GUARANTEED!

No fine print — no complicated mathematical formula or adjustments — no wild claims — no misleading language. Just a simple, straightforward assurance to the purchaser from Goodyear that if — for any reason — he is not completely satisfied with his Double Eagles — "we'll make it right."

The Double Eagle is everything a premium tire should be — it's distinctive — it's beautiful — it's different — it has excellent traction — it's long wearing — it rides well — it's 100% Vytacord. It doesn't thump, bump, or flat spot. It contains no sticky sealant — it does have our famous grip-seal construction that turns punctures into "slow-outs." It defies comparison with any other premium tire — and IT'S PRICED RIGHT!

emeritus, Harvard Medical School.

The Samuel A. Levine Cardiac Center has glass-walled private rooms, all visible from a central monitoring station. The unit is designed and equipped to provide constant and minute observation simultaneously for patients who have suffered acute coronary occlusions.

Using advanced techniques and sophisticated automatic electronic instrumentation, a team of specially trained nurses and physicians continuously monitors vital body functions during the most critical days immediately following a coronary attack.

This new concept of intensive care also includes the personnel and facilities to respond instantly to any emergency that might arise in connection with the patient's illness.

The staff of the Levine Cardiac Center works in close contact with the patient's own physician.

Dr. Bernard Lown, of Newton, is the pilot who helped plan the Center from its beginning and who selected and supervised the installation of the electrical equipment.

He is the developer of the much acclaimed Lown Cardioverter which uses 3,000 volts of direct current to jolt the heart out of its irregular impulses.

Following the formal dedication ceremonies and reception, which were held in the hospital's main amphitheatre, a tour of the new Cardiac Monitoring Center was conducted for those attending.

Award-Winning Children's Books Are On Display

Books whose authors and illustrators were winners of 1965 awards as "most distinguished books for children," are being displayed at the Boys and Girls Library, 126 Vernon St., Newton Corner.

The Newbery and Caldecott Awards for the most distinguished books for children, published in 1964, have been given to Maia Wojciechowska, author of "Shadow of a Bull," illustrated by Alvin Smith, and to Beni Montresor, illustrator of "May I Bring A Friend?" written by Beatrice S. de Regniers. Both books are published by Atheneum Press.

Runner-up for the Newbery Medal is "A Cross Five Aprils," written by Irene Hunt and illustrated by Albert J. Pucci (Follett). Caldecott Medal runners-up are: "Rain Makes Applesauce," written by Julian Scheer, illustrated by Marvin Bileck (Holiday); "A Pocketful of Cricket," by Rebecca Caudill, illustrated by Evaline Ness (Holt); "The Wave" by Margaret Hodges, illustrated by Blair Lent (Houghton).

The Newbery Medal, first awarded in 1922, is given each year to the Author of "the most distinguished contribution to American literature for children published during the preceding year." The Caldecott Medal, first given in 1938, is awarded each year to "the artist of the most distinguished American picture book for children, published in the United States during the preceding year." These two awards, established by the late Frederic G. Melcher, publisher and former resident of Newton, have done much to raise the standard of quality in the writing and illustrating of children's books. These annual awards are highly esteemed by authors and illustrators of children's books.

Hootenany Is Planned For Young People

The Special Class PTA of the Newton schools is sponsoring a Hootenany, March 26 for young people who are now in the Junior and Senior High Special Classes and also for those who were former students in the Newton school system. Invitations have been mailed to those who are eligible to attend who must also be sixteen years of age or older.

Mrs. Florence Kaitz, recreation chairman of the PTA, has formed a committee which is planning three parties for the teen-agers. Mrs. Emily Axt and Mrs. Louise Whittlesey are in charge of refreshments and decorations; Mrs. Shirley Shingold, PTA President, is handling correspondence; and Miss Maureen Danahy will be the group leader.

Raymond Brown, a student of Newton North High, has volunteered to provide musicians for the evening of March 26.

It is hoped no one has been overlooked, however, for further information Mrs. Kaitz may be reached at BI 4-7388.

Gabrielle Husson, R.S.C.J., the happy senior's faculty sponsor, Mother Caroline Putnam, R.S.C.J., and the entire student body.

Another senior at the college, Priscilla A. Durkin, of Melrose, received honorable mention in the competition.

Girl Scouts Reaffirm Their "Bridge To Future" Theme

Newton March 11th. D.W. "A Bridge to the Future," theme of the Girls Scouts of America, was reaffirmed by more than 350 Westdale (West Newton-Auburndale) neighborhood Girl Scouts, leaders, assisting mothers and invited guests at the recent annual breakfast in Warren Junior High School.

All 19 troops in the neighborhood's five district were present. They are a part of the Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council, comprising the Williams School, Burr-Murray Road Schools, Franklin School, Davis School and St. Bernard's School.

Honored guests attending from the districts were Merton C. Tefft, principal of Williams; Miss Charlotte Forgon, principal of Burr-Murray Road; Mrs. Marion Cobb, secretary from Davis School, and the Rev. John Griffin, of St. Bernard's.

Troops from St. Bernard's attended a special early Mass for their scouts. Game-time, conducted by Mrs. Thomas Hayden of West Newton and her Cadet Troop No. 596, opened the morning's activities, followed by a brief flag ceremony presented by Senior Scouts from Warren Junior High.

After the singing of "America the Beautiful," the troops marched to the cafeteria, where they were seated at individual tables. Troop table designations were presented in various forms — 5-ft. sunflower centerpiece, paper-napkin flower rings, potted paper tissue plants and interesting centerpiece diorama depicting various phases of scouting.

Mrs. Thomas Lepore, of West Newton, neighborhood program specialist, lead the group in the pre-meal Grace.

Mrs. A. L. Alameyer of West Newton, neighborhood chairman, presided at the head table. The four special guests from the scout districts each spoke a brief word of welcome to the girls and praised the many mother helpers and hostesses who contributed so much to the breakfast. Each speaker, in turn, received resounding cheers of welcome from scouts in their respective districts.

Miss Elizabeth Blair, representing the Bay Path Colonial Council, briefly addressed the audience and noted the celebration in March of Girl Scout Month which commemorates its founding in March, 1912, by Girl Scouting's beloved Juliette Low.

Miss Blair was also very warm in her praise of the many volunteering mothers who planned, prepared and guided the work at the breakfast, and who are the vital life-line to this continuing program of activities offered to girls from 7 to 17. She also noted that this carefully designed program for girls, related to the arts, and the out-of-doors, was geared to their changing needs and interests in the decisive decade of their lives and helped develop an understanding of their responsibilities to themselves, to others, and to God.

Other representatives from the Neighborhood Service Team were Mrs. Thomas Lepore, program specialist, Mrs. Walter Tower, chairman LaSelle College assistants; Mrs. Ralph Karsh, arts & crafts specialists; and Jack Crosby, Boy Scout representative.

Also attending breakfast with their own troops were other members from the service team — Mrs. George Michaels and Mrs. Newton Teixeira, Brownie Troop consultants; Mrs. S. Russell Power, junior troop consultant; Mrs. Thomas Hayden, Cadette Troop consultant; Mrs. Charles Levy and Mrs. Stanley F. Ross, troop organizers. Mrs. Alameyer also gratefully acknowledged the enthusiastic assistance from the 30 mother-hostesses and clean-up helpers who served the breakfast of juice, boxed cereals, donuts, milk and coffee.

The morning's activities concluded with a program of skits and songs under the direction of Mrs. Lepore. Songs were specially prepared and sung by Troops No. 543, 686 and 840. Troop No. 563 performed a Maori stick game and Troop No. 614, under the direction of Mrs. Michaels and Mrs. A. W. Kunkel of Auburndale, presented a play with the girls attired in costumes of other lands.

Betty Taymor Gives Talk On Work Of Unesco

Mrs. Betty Taymor of 44 Fairfax street, West Newton, a member of the U. S. National Commission for UNESCO, recently described its work to 100 members of the First Unitarian Church in Plymouth.

The talk was given in response to a request by the State Department.

Mrs. Taymor, incidentally, outlined the activities of the Newton International Cooperation Year Committee, expressing the hope that other communities would follow Newton's example in celebrating International Cooperation Year as proclaimed by President Johnson.

The Newton committee, of which Mrs. Taymor is chairman, functions from headquarters in the Newton Community Peace Center at the Eliot Church. The Rev. Harold Fray Jr., is general coordinator of this effort to call on all citizens to undertake intensive educational programs and to inform themselves and others of recent progress in international cooperation under the United Nations.

Norwood Ends Local Tourney Dreams 2-1

Newton High School's hockey team was knocked out of the State tournament when it was defeated 2-1 by a surprising Norwood High team before a near-capacity crowd at the Boston Garden on Thursday night of last week.

Norwood's winning goal, which crushed Tiger hopes of a tourney championship, came in a sudden death overtime period while Newton was a man short on the ice.

For the first two periods Newton and Norwood battled to a scoreless deadlock.

After a little less than four minutes of play in the third period Richie Heberner scored the first goal to send Norwood into a 1-0 lead. On the play Norwood wingman Paul Angelo screened Newton goalie Kevin McLatchy so that McLatchy didn't see the puck as it blazed past him.

Dick Toomey, the GBI League's high scorer who tallied 10 goals during the tournament, scored an unassisted goal less than three minutes later to knot the count.

There the score remained until Blaine Maus scored for Norwood in the overtime while Newton was short-handed.

It was a nip-and-tuck struggle right down to the deciding goal although Kevin McLatchy kept Newton in the contention with a total of 19 saves while the Norwood goalie had only eight saves during the encounter.

Scholarship Bridge Party Set For Apr. 6

For a breath of spring, after the drab and dreary winter, circle Tuesday, April 6 on your calendar for the Scholarship Bridge Party of the Newtonville Woman's Club.

St. John's Parish House, at Otis Street and Lowell Avenue, will be glowing with forsythia and other spring blossoms, and an air of gaiety will pervade the afternoon.

Mrs. Harry W. Abells and her committee will serve dessert and coffee at 1 p. m., and during the afternoon "Miss Gertrude of Newtonville" will show the gayest of spring bonnets, modelled by Mrs. Charles W. Laffin, Mrs. Edward Raphael, Miss Theresa L. Cram and Mrs. Edward I. Raymond.

There will be unusual table prizes and door prizes for all. Mrs. Abells will be assisted by Mrs. Edmund Miller (co-chairman), Mrs. John R. Clark, Mrs. L. Harold DeWolf, Mrs. John F. Farrington, Mrs. P. T. Livingston, Mrs. Edward Raphael, Mrs. Harold S. Rice, Mrs. Vaughan A. Richardson, Mrs. Charles W. Tenney, and Mrs. Henry W. Webster.

For reservations call Mrs. Abells, 244-9199, or Mrs. Laffin, club president, 244-5945. A few tables are still available.

Urges Support For Groups At Work For Peace

Speaking to college and public audiences in St. Thomas and St. Croix, Virgin Islands, under the auspices of the College of the Virgin Islands, Edmund C. Berkeley, president of Berkeley Enterprises, Inc., of Newtonville, and editor-publisher of "Computers and Automation," predicted nuclear annihilation of the human race unless stronger support is given to organizations working vigorously for peace.

On the two occasions, he was introduced by Walter M. Taylor, former president of Newton Junior College and director of continuing education for the College of the Virgin Islands.

On the subject of automation, Mr. Berkeley branded as "cruel cliches" the notions that automation can be handled by re-education and training, and that automation will produce more jobs. He noted that 38 percent of the population of the U.S.A. is already supporting the other 62 percent.

TO AID CANCER RESEARCH — Committee members who planned successful hostess drawing last Monday in preparation for the Aid For Cancer Research Luncheon at Sidney Hill Country Club April 5 and 6. Left to right, Mrs. Alvin Ludwig, decorations; Mrs. Herbert Shivek, publicity; Mrs. Roy Sossen, souvenirs, and Mrs. Murray Shlager, luncheon chairman.

Women Plan Luncheon For Cancer Research

Keeping in mind the urgent need for funds to be used for Cancer Research, the members of Aid for Cancer Research are striving for a successful luncheon to be held at Sidney Hill Country Club on April 5 and 6. Fashions by Mae Laskey will be featured.

Mrs. Murray Shlager is chairman of the luncheon. Officers of the organization for this year are, Mrs. Melvin Norris, president; Mrs. Murray Shlager, first vice president; Mrs. Bernard D. Frank, second vice president; Mrs. Irving Goodman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Max Mayer, treasurer; and Mrs. Melva Grossman, recording secretary.

This is a local organization of twenty-six Greater Boston women and not a chapter of larger national group. The major fund raising function of the organization will be the luncheon on April 5 and 6.

Among grants given this year by the Aid to Cancer Research group are, one of $3000 to a research fellow from Israel studying in the department of Bacteriology at Harvard Medical School; $3400 to Dr. Shu Chu Shen at Holy Ghost Hospital; and $5000 to Dr. Shields Warren toward a new research building at the Deaconess Hospital.

There is also a special fund used to grant cancer research beds which enables doctors and scientists to study and help cancer patients at no cost to the patient.

The tireless efforts of these women have made it possible to raise more than $300,000 in recent years to be used to aid research without delay.

Shalom Choir In Hingham For Lenten Program

A program of Jewish Liturgical music by the Choir of Temple Shalom, Newton, will be presented at the Church of St. John the Evangelist, Hingham, Mar. 21, at 8 p. m.

Explanatory passages concerning the theology of Reformed Judaism will be given by Rabbi Murray I. Rothman of the Temple, and the Choir will furnish the musical settings illustrating the various points stressed.

Richard J. Reynolds, Mus. B., F.T.C.L., director of music at the Temple, will be organist and conductor. Soloists are Joan Stevens, soprano; Patricia Haslam, mezzo-soprano; Richard Colgrove, tenor; Sidney Blanchard, baritone, and Maynard Orris, bass.

This program was recently presented under auspices of the Boston Congregational Club in Gordon Chapel, Old South Church. It is free to the public. It is the third in a series of Community Lenten programs, sponsored by the Hingham Council of Churches, and will be held on a Sunday, instead of the usual Wednesday.

Local Women's Club Members In Festival Roles

Newton members will play important roles in the two-day Fine Arts Festival of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs and the Sears Roebuck Foundation to be held in the Worcester Memorial Auditorium Mar. 30 and 31, according to an announcement by Mrs. Frederick J. Wood of Newtonville, president of the state organization.

Mrs. Wood will welcome the special guests and visitors, including Emily Kimbrough, first lady of the lecture program.

Mrs. Charles E. Gibson of West Newton will serve as a member of the drama committee in charge of the proposed workshops.

Among the Literary Committee will be Mrs. S. Russell Powers of West Newton and Mrs. Daniel J. Sheehan of Newton Centre. This committee is conducting two of the workshops.

Assisting with registration for the entire festival will be Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell of Newton and Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver of West Newton.

John Gurry of Newton was promoted to captain in the University of Maine's ROTC program.

School Board Head Rebukes Lax Members

Atty. Haskell C. Freedman, Newton School Committee chairman for the past seven years, took his contemporaries to task in an article he prepared for the Mar. 30-31 Tufts Assembly on Massachusetts Government.

He declared in his article that despite the fact that the summary report of the Willis-Harrington Study allows for independent action in administration of a solid educational policy, Massachusetts school committees have, since their creation in 1826, "failed for different reasons, some valid and some not, to provide themselves with information and resources to serve as a basis for establishing good educational policy."

Freedman's paper is the second in a series of four being studied by eminent educators, businessmen, legislators, civic leaders and laymen for a two-day examination of "Public Education in Massachusetts — Its Problems and Challenges."

Throughout his lengthy paper, Mr. Freedman accents the importance of school control by laymen. He stresses that school committee members have a responsibility to prepare themselves for coping with all the problems they will encounter.

Offers Help In National War Against Crime

A Newton resident, General Daniel Needham, has recommended immediate organization of citizens crime commissions throughout the United States.

General Needham is vice president of the New England Citizens Crime Commission, headquarters at 3 Joy St., Boston.

The former state public safety commissioner and former YD commander, in a telegram to President Lyndon B. Johnson, said that the New England Citizens Crime Commission pledges support to the President's action against crime, whose "appalling increase demands the mobilization of all good citizens for more effective law enforcement."

He told the President that the 87-year-old New England commission would be glad to assist other states to organize similar bodies, and indicated that commissions would be organized in Connecticut, Maine and Rhode Island with the help of NECC.

"The New England Citizens Crime Commission is working on the whole problem in this area," the general said. "We propose to extend our crime prevention program through the use of such pamphlets as 'Laws Teenagers Should Know,' 'How You Can Prevent Crime,' a pamphlet for little children on child molesters, and many others."

"The public has successfully supported campaigns against cancer, polio and heart disease. Many authorities believe crime is a disease. An aroused citizenry can wipe it out."

45th Community Club Birthday Party Mar. 18

Celebration of the Newton Community Club's 45th birthday, begun last spring, will be climaxed Mar. 18, with a gala party in Grace Church Parish House.

Mrs. Sterling N. Loveland and Miss June Graham who are in charge of arrangements, have planned a program of two colored moving pictures, "Turn the Wheel West," a journey through America's great West, and "The Hand of the Mahara-jahs," a trip to exotic India.

The films are to be shown at two o'clock. Following them, the birthday cake will be presented and cut by the past presidents, who have been issued special invitations. Charter members will officiate at a tea table decorated with spring flowers.

Mrs. Ray A. Eusden is in charge of refreshments, and Mrs. Lowell U. Hammett, president of the Evening Division, will make and decorate the birthday cake and tea cakes.

All club members are most cordially invited.

Senator Murphy To Speak At Heckler Fete

Former movie star George Murphy, now a freshman member of the U. S. Senate, will be the principal speaker at an appreciation dinner to be tendered Governor's Council Margaret M. Heckler at the main ballroom of the Sheraton Plaza Hotel on Monday night, April 5.

Murphy defeated Pierre Salinger, press secretary to the late President John F. Kennedy, in a spectacular upset last November and achieved election in the face of a strong Democratic tide. He is now considered one of the most colorful figures in the Republican party and is one of the GOP's most sought-after speakers.

A registered Democrat until 1939, Murphy shifted to the Republican party about a quarter of a century ago and served in a number of appointive positions during the Eisenhower administration.

During his career as an actor he was known primarily as a song and dance man, but he has been anything but a comedian on Washington's Capitol Hill where he is serving on the Senate Public Works Committee and the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare.

He has stated that his objectives as a freshman Senator are to assist in finding the answers to such problems as an ample water supply, farm labor sources and unemployment.

Members of the committee planning the appreciation dinner for Councilor Heckler who holds the highest elective office filled by any woman in Massachusetts, expressed delight that Senator Murphy has accepted an invitation to speak at the dinner.

Mrs. Heckler is now serving her second term in the Executive Council.

A virtual political unknown in 1962, she was elected to the Governor's Council in what was considered at the time as an upset, winning by 8900 votes.

During her first term as a Councilor she became known as a symbol against political wheeling and dealing. Last November she was reelected to the Council by a whopping 40,000 votes.

Mrs. Heckler has attracted attention by her efforts to improve pardon and parole procedures.

She was responsible for obtaining improved facilities for persons being rehabilitated for employment at the Cambridge Workshop for the Blind. Mrs. Heckler also was successful in keeping Pondville Hospital in operation for the treatment of cancer patients.

Temple Shalom Contributes To Rev. Reeb Fund

The Board of Trustees of Temple Shalom of Newton, at its meeting this week, unanimously passed a resolution expressing its indignation at the violently discriminatory behavior of the Alabama officials who seek to deny the full rights of citizenship to the Negro population of that State.

It went on to make clear its abhorrence of the brutal tactics employed by those officials in response to the Negroes' petition for redress of grievances and, in order to participate more tangibly in the struggle for civil rights and social justice, the Temple Board members, Donald L. Daniels, president of the congregation, and Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, its spiritual leader, made a collective contribution to the Massachusetts

Council of Churches James Reeb Fund.

In addition, the 900 children of the Temple Shalom of Newton Religious School will set aside their weekend Philanthropic Fund collection for the support of the same cause.

The Rabbi and Board expressed their abiding commitment to the cause of justice and their prayerful hope that the present struggle and pain would help speed the day of triumph for the freedom impulse which characterizes America at its best.

Infantidings

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Jaffee Gun (Eleanor Margolis) of 66 Alexander road, Newton Highlands, announce the recent birth of a son, their first child, Howard Neal, at the Beth Israel Hospital. Mrs. Bessie Cohen of Revere and Mr. and Mrs. Newman Margolis of Brookline share grandparent honors.

Shower Honors Bride-Elect Anne Langan

A surprise shower was given recently for Miss Anne Langan by two of her future attendants, Miss Priscilla Langan of Newton Highlands, who will be her sister's maid of honor, and Miss Betsy Herring of West Newton, sister of her prospective bridegroom, who will be a bridesmaid.

Miss Langan and her fiancé, John F. Herring Jr., opened their score of gifts beneath an arbor of pink and rose colored streamers as well as a matching umbrella.

The bride-elect, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael B. Langan of 20 Columbus street, Newton Highlands, has chosen Saturday, May first, for her wedding, which will take place at the Sacred Heart Church in Newton Centre.

Mr. Herring is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Herring of 456 Crafts street, West Newton.

Miss Langan will have two other attendants, another sister, Miss Evelyn Langan and Miss Mary Caulfield, cousin, both of Newton Highlands.

Miss Ann Taitelbaum Bride of Mr. Norman M. Zinman

The marriage of Miss Ann Linda Taitelbaum to Norman M. Zinman took place on Sunday, March 7, at Temple Reyim, here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Leonard Taitelbaum of Newton Centre. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Franks of Newton are the bridegroom's parents.

Rabbi Philip Kieval officiated at the one thirty o'clock afternoon ceremony. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Wearing a traditional white brocade dress, the bride chose an attractive crown caught with a shoulder-length illusion veil. Her flowers were orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Carolyn Taitelbaum of Newton Centre, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Serving as best man was Richard Silverman of Newton.

The couple, who left on a trip to Miami, Florida, plan to make their home in Newton.

Mrs. Zinman was graduated from Cambridge Academy in Cambridge. Her bridegroom is a gradu-

Miss Indursky N. K. Mahlowitz Engaged to Wed

The engagement of Miss Barbara Ellen Indursky to Naaman K. Mahlowitz, son of Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Mahlowitz of Belmont, has been made known by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Indursky of West Newton.

Miss Indursky attended Colby Junior College and was graduated from Tufts University, class of 1964. She is now teaching in Waltham.

Mr. Mahlowitz attended Belmont Hill School and is an alumnus of Oberlin College. He is attending the Boston University School of Law, class of 1967. A June 20 wedding is planned.

Regis Alumna, Mary Folan Weds Mr. Paul C. Farry

Miss Mary Elaine Folan, daughter of Mrs. Coleman John Folan of Walpole, and Paul Christopher Farry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farry of 1062 Beacon street, Newton Centre, were married recently at the Blessed Sacrament Church in Walpole.

The Rev. Phillip Lavin was celebrant of the 10 o'clock nuptial mass at which two rings were exchanged. A reception followed at the Lord Fox in Foxboro.

Escorted by her brother, Mr. John Farrell Folan of Walpole, the bride wore an empire gown fashioned of white silk faille. A matching head piece, marked with pearls and crystals, held in place her fingertip illusion veil. She carried a cascade arrangement of white roses, stephanotis and miniature carnations.

Miss Patricia Farry of Newton Centre, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Miss Maureen Cassidy of Dedham, Miss Maureen Gibbons of Stoughton and Miss Elaine Farry of Newton were the other attendants.

Robert Farry of Newton Centre served as best man for his brother. Ushering were Robert Murphy of Waltham, Michael Lydon of Northwood and Charles F. Cox of Medfield.

The couple left on a trip through Vermont. They plan to live in Walpole.

The bride was graduated from Regis College.

Mr. Farry is a graduate of Boston College.

Prof. Johnston Speaks To Smith Club Members

Professor William D. Johnston spoke at a meeting of the Newton Smith College Club Tuesday, Mar. 18, in the home of Mrs. James B. Dealy Jr., 49 Temple St., West Newton. His topic: "What Smith is Planning for the College Theater."

The professor has been chairman of Smith College's Department of Theater and Speech since 1961. A native of Ireland, he promoted the Dublin Theater, and for 10 years was a script writer and war correspondent for BBC in Belfast, London and the Middle East.

He has had nine plays published, including "The Moon in the Yellow River," produced by the Theater Guild in this country in 1932, and revived on Broadway in 1961.

Professor Johnston was introduced by the program chairman, Mrs. Thomas S. Dell. Mrs. Stephen B. Wellington was hostess for the afternoon, and Mrs. Dealy was tea chairman, assisted by Mrs. Samuel D. Bell, Mrs. Martin C. Linden Jr., and Mrs. Jeremiah Mead. Pourers were Mrs. Hollis T. Gleason and Mrs. Edward W. Pride.

CANDACE TUTTLE

Newton Beauty First Winner In New Contest

A comely Newton lass has been adjudged the winner of the first weekly contest for the "Miss Kopper Kettle" title, sponsored by the Graduate Supper Club of the School of Business Administration at the University of Massachusetts.

The winner is Candace "Candy" Tuttle, a freshman English major from Newton. She is a graduate of Newton South High School.

The purpose of the contest is to enable more co-eds to receive recognition than is allowed in the university's many "Queen" contests.

From the weekly winners a monthly winner will be chosen to compete with other such winners for the title of "Miss Kopper Kettle."

Lee Loumos Says:

I am happy to report that CBS has finally opened its mind and door to color television. Starting this fall, CBS will schedule three shows in color each week, the first regular use of color on this network.

The ABC network will double its color-casting this fall but the big news of the week, which apparently precipitated the CBS action, was from good old NBC. Starting this fall, 27 out of the 29 regularly scheduled evening shows will be in color. Virtually 96% of its prime time schedule!

With so many programs to be shown in color, the ultimate is in sight and color TV now, more than ever, become your most advantageous new purchase. And now, during our annual Magnavox sale, you can not only anticipate the expected shortages, but realize substantial savings on the latest and most advanced color TV on the market. Come in tonight at 7:30 and see what you have been missing.

RECENT DEATHS

Michael J. Kelly

A solemn requiem Mass for Michael J. Kelly of 140 Crafts street, Newtonville, was to be offered Thursday, March 11, in the Church of Our Lady. A native of Londonderry, Ireland, Mr. Kelly died March 8 in Lemuel Shattuck Hospital, Jamaica Plain. Until his retirement in 1956, he was owner of the Metropole Hotel in Londonderry.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Alice G. (Clasby) Kelly; a daughter, Mrs. Brandon (Mildred) Thomas of Ashland; three sons, Michael J. Jr., of Newton, John H., with the Army medical department in Anchorage, Alaska, and Frank E. Kelly, with the Air Force in Battle Creek, Mich., and a brother, John H. Kelly of Winthrop.

Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Harriet W. Davidson

A memorial service for Mrs. Harriet W. Davidson of 19 Prescott street, Newtonville, lifelong Newtonville resident, was held Mar. 1 in Central Congregational Church, Newtonville.

Mrs. Davidson, who had a summer home in Jefferson, N. H., died Feb. 25 after a brief illness. She was the widow of Charles M. Davidson, president for many years of the Thomas Long Company, Boston jewelers.

She was active in the affairs of Central Congregational Church, and was a long-time member of the Every Saturday Club.

She leaves three brothers, Raymond Willey of Pittsburgh, Penn., Clinton Willey of Honolulu, and Norman Willey of Holbrook.

Alma M. Frechette

A requiem Mass for Mrs. Alma M. (Aubin) Frechette, 87, of 76 Dalby street, Newton, one of the founders of the St. Jean parish and a member of the St. Anne Society of the church, was sung Wednesday, Mar. 17, in St. Jean's Church.

Mrs. Frechette, a native of St. Antoine, Quebec, who came to Newton when a young girl, died Mar. 14 at her home after a long illness.

She leaves a son, Aime Frechette of Newton; three daughters, Mrs. Blanche Gagnon of Marshfield, Mrs. Medora Bessette of Newton and Mrs. Gertrude Daley of West Newton, and nine grandchildren.

Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Edward E. Valente

A solemn funeral Mass for Edward E. Valente, 58, of 128 Westland avenue, West Newton, trucking contractor and West Newton resident for 46 years, was offered Wednesday, March 10, in St. Bernard's Church.

Mr. Valente died March 7 in Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a long illness.

A native of Gaeta, Italy, he operated his own business in West Newton.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Frances R. (Albano) Valente; two sons, Donald E. and Joseph A. Valente, both of West Newton; two daughters, Mrs. Marie R. Perry of Waltham and Miss Frances M. Valente of West Newton; a sister, Mrs. Mary Mitrano of Revere, and five grandchildren.

Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Mary E. McGrath

A requiem Mass for Mrs. Mary E. (Thompson) McGrath, 77, of 55 Falmouth Rd., West Newton, was offered in Sacred Heart Church, Monday, Mar. 15.

Mrs. McGrath, who lived in Newton Centre more than 50 years before moving to West Newton seven months ago, died Mar. 12 in Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a brief illness.

She received a testimonial from Cardinal Cushing during World War II for having the most members of any family in Sacred Heart parish in the armed forces.

She leaves her husband, Patrick J. McGrath; eight sons, Joseph L. of Brighton, Maurice W. of Waltham, Robert F. of Allston, J. Donald of Newton Centre, Frederick T. of Holliston, Bernard A. of Cambridge, David P. of Waltham and John L. McGrath of Columbus, Miss.; three daughters, Mrs. M. Evelyn Kelly of Boston, Mrs. Rita A. Lombardi of Natick and Mrs. Barbara E. Choquetts of West Newton; a sister, Miss Nellie

E. Thompson of Newtonville; 31 grandchildren, and a great-grandchild.

Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Nora F. Crowley

A requiem Mass for Mrs. Nora F. (Lynch) Crowley, 92, of 10 Hammond Pond Parkway, Chestnut Hill, was celebrated Tuesday, Mar. 16, in Sacred Heart Church.

Mrs. Crowley died Mar. 14 at her home.

Born in Ballingari, Ireland, she was a member of Sacred Heart Parish and of the Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters.

Thurs., Mar. 18, 1965, The Newton Graphic Page 13

She leaves two sons, Daniel H. of Weston and John F. Crowley of South Yarmouth; and two daughters, Miss Mae Crowley of Newton and Mrs. Margaret C. Tonneson of Boston.

Burial was in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

Excellent Program Supervised By Qualified Teachers

Successful Meeting Is Held To Form Band Here

On Monday, March 15, an informal meeting was held at the Y.M.C.A. in Newton for the purpose of looking into the possibilities of starting a Popular Music Band to play the smooth swinging sounds of the 30's and 40's.

The purpose of the group, it was decided, would simply be just for self amusement, self musical rejuvenation and hopefully, self amazement, but not for any commercial enterprise.

The group, chaired by Donald Keddy of West Newton, moved on a motion by Arnold Tompkins of Newtonville to hold a session next week Wednesday, March 24 at 8 p.m. at the Newton "Y". The present nucleus assisted by Charles Blauer of Newtonville set up a program for growth and contact.

There are still openings for trumpet, trombone and saxophone players as well as the need of a couple of drummers. There are basic traps available so that potential drummers would just have to present themselves with sticks or brushes.

It would be greatly appreciated if folks would dig out any orchestrations that they might have from the era of Glen Gray, Ray Noble and others of that time.

Just in case there are any questions about time, place, etc. regarding the group, please call Leonard Garfield at BI 4-8050 between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. or Donald Keddy at LA 7-7267 after 6:00 p.m.

Hospital Work Subject of Talk

Guest speakers at a recent meeting of Brookline Auxiliary, Jewish Memorial Hospital, were Bernard B. Grossman of Newton, vice president of the 256-bed chronic disease hospital, and Paul Benzaquin, award-winning host of "Conversation Piece" on Station WEEI.

Mr. Grossman spoke on the work of the hospital. Benzaquin's topic: "How to Offend People Without Even Trying."

Mrs. John Krigman, Chestnut Hill, gave the invocation. Mrs. Leo Cole of Newton was program chairman.

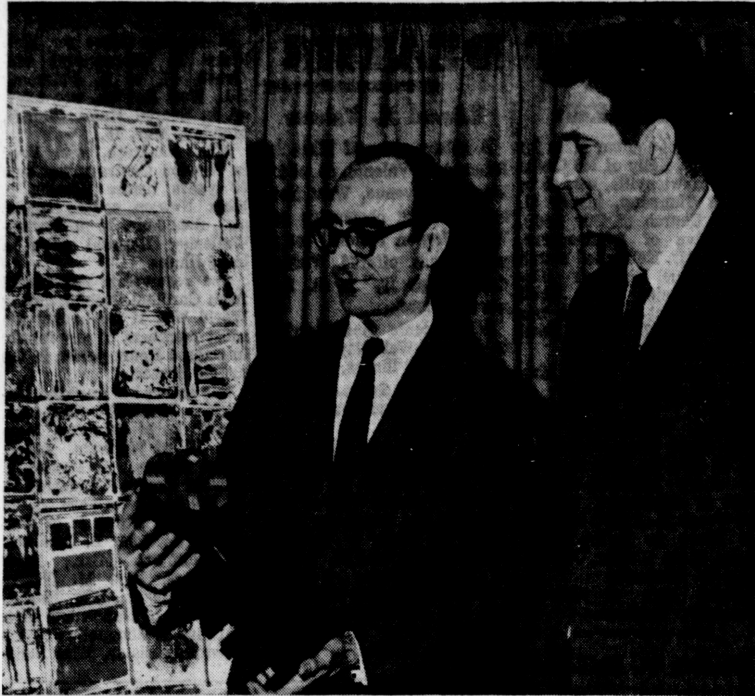

Safety Speaker

Theodore J. Hoppe, 73 Glen Ave., Newton Centre, member of Northeastern University's Planning Committee and a Boston delegate to the President's Committee for Traffic Safety, will be one of 80 speakers at the 44th annual Massachusetts Safety Conference Mar. 22 and 23 in Boston's Statler Hilton Hotel.

"GALLERY 65" OPENS APRIL 3—Artist Edward Movitz, at left, stands next to his oil painting and holds mahogany sculpture created by Arthur Hoener, at right. They will exhibit at Gallery 65 at Temple Beth Avodah in Newton and will also serve on jury of judges.

Many Artists Are Entered In Temple Show At Newton

"Gallery 65" to be held at Temple Beth Avodah in Newton on April 3 to 7 will feature a display of paintings entered by associated artists.

Three prominent artists will form the jury to select the paintings for exhibition. More than 100 paintings have been entered and will be judged on March 23 by the jury.

Comprising the judging panel will be Edward Movitz, an assistant professor of art at the Massachusetts College of Art. He is associated with the Oblisk Gallery; Arthur Hoener, professor of art at Massachusetts College of Art and an associate at the Nexus Gallery, and Arthur Polansky, a teacher of design and painting at Brandeis University, who is associated with the Boris Mirsky Gallery.

Entries to be submitted to the jury close on Monday, March 22.

Artists who wish to submit no more than two works of art for selection by the jury may obtain application blanks from Julius Eaton at BI 4-5886. "Gallery 65" is under the supervision of Art Unlimited.

Mrs. Bates In Garden Lecture

Mrs. E. Graham Bates, an Auburndale Garden Club member, will give a colored-slide lecture on "Gardening Dividends" Tuesday, Mar. 23.

A member of the Boston Camera Club as well, she has presented a variety of garden lectures. In this one, she will discuss the question, "Do We Get Adequate Returns From Gardening?"

Professor W. Northrup Morse will be welcoming host. Miss Clara Dillaway will do flower arrangements, and refreshments will be served by Mrs. Herbert W. Gleim, Mrs. Robert D. Dame and Mrs. Howard G. Hobbs.

Mrs. Normand A. Cartier, 30 Old Colony Rd., Chestnut Hill, served as a hostess at a meeting of the Boston College Faculty Wives, at which the Rev. John R. McCall discussed "Child Development."

Noted Scientist And Author At Junior College

Dr. Isaac Asimov, noted scientist and author, will speak at the Newton Junior College Convocation to be held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, Mar. 23, in Newton High School Auditorium. His topic will be, "Escape Into Reality."

A resident of Newton, Dr. Asimov was graduated from Columbia University, where he received BS, MA and Ph.D. degrees. He is currently assistant professor of Bio-Chemistry at the School of Medicine, Boston University.

He has also served as Chemist with the Naval Air Experimental Program.

In addition to many scholarly papers, he is author of more than 40 books on a variety of scientific subjects. He has written a two volume survey entitled: "The Intelligent Man's Guide to Science" as well as books on algebra, geometry, outer space, time, the sun, the human body, the human brain, and many books of science fiction. One of his most recent books is "Words from Exodus."

Dr. Asimov brings to his subject a range of knowledge and experience that promises a stimulating program.

This event is free of charge and open to the public.

Local Racial Tensions To Be Discussed

Sources of local racial tension will be one topic discussed next week at the League of Women Voters unit meetings on human relations in Newton.

The discussion also will cover the Human Relations Study Report issued recently by the Newton Community Council, and other cities' attempts to improve racial harmony.

The meetings will be held at five different times and places on Wednesday and Thursday, March 24 and 25.

Wednesday: 9:45 a.m. at the home of Mrs. E. P. Little, 216 Highland street, West Newton, with Mrs. Roy Green as leader; 1:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Gordon Hurwitz, 12 Clark street, Newton Centre, with Mrs. George Gerard as leader; and 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Norman Rosenberg, 131 Sargent street Newton, with Mrs. Roy Lapidus as leader.

Thursday: 9:45 a.m. at the Newton Highlands Workshop, 72 Columbus street, Newton Highlands, with Mrs. John W. Locke as hostess and Mrs. Mathew Ross as leader; 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Herbert Shuster, 6 Wamesit road, Waban, with Mrs. Maynard Slessinger as leader.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization whose purpose is promoting political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government.

Women who would like to join or learn more about the League may contact the membership chairman, Mrs. Robert Wolfsey. Her telephone number is WO 9-7668.

Bridge Proceeds To Buy Smock Material

Invitations have been put in the mail for the Candy Stripe Dessert Bridge of the Newton - Wellesley Hospital Junior Aid Association to be held Thursday afternoon, March 18, at 1 o'clock, in Allen Riddle Hall.

Proceeds will be used to buy material for volunteer smocks.

The committee, headed by Mrs. J. Marshall Leydon and Mrs. Samuel L. Lowe Jr., of Newton, include Mrs. N. L. Fullington of Auburndale. Mrs. David Rallsback has charge of refreshments.

Ecumenical Panel To Discuss Peace

The Eliot Church Fellowship Hall will be the scene of an ecumenical gathering of panelists the evening of March 29th, for a Pacem in Terris (Peace on Earth) Convocation by metropolitan area notables.

This local Pacem in Terris Convocation, called by the Newton Community Peace Center in cooperation with the Newton Council of Churches, the Newton Fair Housing and Equal Rights Committee, Sacred Heart Catholic Church, St. Bernard's Catholic Church, the United Church Women of Newton, the Voice of Women, the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom and the World Affairs Council, will present a report on the City In Top Three As GOP Fund Raiser

Newton was in the top three when it came to raising funds for the Republican State Committee in its recent Residential Finance Drive conducted in nearly 400 Massachusetts communities.

In a report released this week by Ladd Plumley, chairman of the Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee, Newton is surpassed only by neighboring Wellesley, and by Worcester, a much larger municipality.

Newton's achievement was revealed in the final report on the drive submitted to City Chairman Edward C. Uhlein by City Finance Chairman William R. Horner.

Responsible for Newton's success in the financial effort is the local City Finance

Aldermen In O.K. Of Pay Raises Here

Salary increases for city officials ranging from $200 to $1700 a year, were approved by the Board of Aldermen when the 1965 municipal budget was adopted early Tuesday morning.

The biggest raise—a hike of $1700 a year — went to Public Works Director Willard S. Pratt whose annual pay was boosted from $13,800 to $15,500.

Two other city officials — City Solicitor Matt B. Jones and Director of Public Health Henry F. Greenleaf — also were raised to $15,500 a year. They had been getting $14,500 annually.

Pratt, Jones and Greenleaf now receive $500 more a year than does Mayor Donald L. Gibbs who gets $15,000.

Police Chief Philip Purcell and Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., received $700-a-year raises. Their annual pay was boosted from $11,500 to $12,200.

City Clerk Monte G. Basbas was given an $1100-a-year increase, sending him from $10,900 to $12,000 a year.

City Treasurer Archie R. Whitman was increased from $11,900 to $13,000, getting an $1100 raise.

Other increases were as follows: Public Buildings Commissioner from $12,800 to $13,800.

Dr. Kinsey Is Awarded Major Science Grant

Dr. James L. Kinsey of 9 Holden Rd., West Newton, assistant professor of chemistry at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was one of 91 scientists chosen from throughout the United States and Canada to receive fellowships totaling nearly $1,400,000 from the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation to be used for unrestricted research.

Dr. Kinsey, who also has held a Sloan Research Fellowship for the past two years, will use the present grant to continue experimental studies of atomic and molecular collisions.

Two kinds of collision process will be studied: elastic collisions, from which information is obtained about intermolecular forces, and relative collisions, from which it is possible to learn something about the dynamics of chemical reactions.

Dr. Kinsey was educated at Rice Institute where he

An $8.60 jump in Newton's tax rate this year, boosting the rate to a $72, was predicted as the Board of Aldermen early Tuesday adopted a record-high city and school budget.

That forecast was made by Alderman John P. Nixon of West Newton, chairman of the Aldermanic Finance Committee.

However, Mayor Donald L. Gibbs told the Graphic he is hopeful of holding the tax rate at $69.80 and indicated that he will be able to do so if he gets the cooperation of the Board of Aldermen.

The tax rate would rise $6.40 over last year's figure of $63.40 if Mayor Gibbs achieves his objective.

Even at the $69.80 figure at which Gibbs is aiming, the tax rate would be the highest in Newton's history.

Whether the Mayor will be able to win Aldermanic support for the proposals he will advance for preventing the tax rate from exceeding the $70 mark is uncertain.

He will recommend that about $1,073,000 be taken from the city's surplus fund and that $225,000 be taken from the water surplus fund in order to lower the amount which would have to be raised by real estate taxes.

Mayor Gibbs may obtain $100,000 more in motor excise taxes than is presently anticipated. If he does, he would

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Leverett Saltonstall's Son To Seek State Senate Seat

William Saltonstall, son of Senator Leverett Saltonstall, intends to seek election to the State Senate to fill the vacancy which will be created when Republican Senate Leader Philip A. Graham is appointed clerk of the Salem court.

This could mean that Senator Saltonstall is planning to retire from public life at the end of next year and that his son is now endeavoring to carve out his own niche in politics.

The younger Saltonstall has been working as an aide to his father in Washington.

It seems reasonable to assume that he would continue in that capacity if he believed his father will be a candidate for reelection next year.

Instead, he plans to quit his federal job and run for the State Senate when Graham is named a court clerk.

There have been reports, incidentally that William Saltonstall might run for the U. S. Senate next year if his famous father decides to end his public career at the age of 74.

Alderman Nixon Predicts $72 Rate For 1965

Mayor Gibbs Sets Sights On $69.80 Tax Rate Here

trim down the amounts he would ask be taken from the city's surplus fund and the water fund.

Alderman Nixon in his statement to the members of the Aldermanic Board during the marathon session

Monday night and Tuesday morning anticipated that $500,000 — not $1,073,000 — will be taken from the city's surplus fund to meet current expenses.

Nixon made no reference to taking any money from the surplus water fund.

But Mayor Gibbs pointed out that the city's surplus and presently amounts to $1,833,000 and that if $1,073,000 were transferred from the fund, there would still be a surplus of $410,000. He said the city ordinarily carries a $500,000 surplus.

The Mayor further declared that the water surplus now totals $525,000 and has been increasing at the rate of $100,000 a year.

He said that if $225,000 is taken from the fund, there still would be a water surplus of $325,000, approximately the same amount that was in the fund two years ago.

Gibbs added that he could see no reason why his suggested transfers from the city's general surplus fund and the water surplus should not be made in order to lessen the amount of real estate taxes Newton property owners will be obliged to pay this year.

The Board of Aldermen pruned $354,766.89 from the municipal budget submitted to them by the Mayor.

Mayor Gibbs yesterday commended the Aldermen for doing "an excellent job in researching the budget" and declared the municipal departments can live with the

Another Suit Against Toll Road Possible

During a conference last week with Mayor Donald L. Gibbs and Public Works Director Willard S. Pratt, Chairman John T. Driscoll of the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority declared that the Authority would not pay the city for the Newton Corner fire station that was taken for the toll road extension unless the city withdrew its court action on construction of a footbridge over the toll road at Newton Corner.

That refusal will result in another court suit by the city, Mayor Gibbs has announced.

Fund Leaders Confer

Robert C. Casselman, left, confers about future plans in hospital building fund drive with Frederick C. Ober, center, and Howard E. Hansen.

Drive Hits $1 - Million

The Newton-Wellesley Hospital Building Fund will surpass the $1 million mark tonight and head for the second million, it was confidently predicted by Robert C. Casselman, advance gifts chairman.

The announcement was a prelude to the meeting this evening at 6:30 at the Brae Burn Country Club, Newton, at which the first report of pledges will be made.

Reports will be forthcoming from individual village chairmen, representing the efforts of more than 400 campaign team workers.

Special summary reports will be made by Frederick C. Ober and Donald B. Conant, advance gifts chairmen for Newton, and Howard E. Hansen, advance gifts chairman for Wellesley.

"Understandably, this is our most important meeting to date," said Casselman. "It marks the first visible results of the campaign's initial thrust."

The Advance Gifts Goal is $2 million. The overall goal for the construction and modernization program is $3.5 million.

Bernard D. Grossman, building fund chairman, will preside at the session which will be attended by leaders at all levels of the area effort and hospital officials including William S. Brines, director, and George L. White, president.

The village chairmen are Calvin Hill, Waban; W. P. Ripley, Newton Centre; Henry B. Shepard, Jr., Newton Highlands; Harry H. Crosby, Newton; Richard C. Hesselbee, Newtonville; Louis Egelson, Newton Lower Falls; John K. Bottomley, Auburndale.

Crackdown Due On Auto Tax Dodgers

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs this week appointed a three-member committee to work with police in a proposed crackdown on Newton automobile owners who fail to pay their motor excise taxes.

Philip Berquist of the Board of Assessors was designated as chairman of the committee. Serving with him will be City Treasurer Archie Whitman and Deputy Comptroller Charles Scammon.

In a letter to the three men, Mayor Gibbs expressed the belief that Newton can collect a higher percentage of motor excise taxes through improved administration and collection procedures.

He added that such a move is only fair to those car-owners who pay their excise taxes promptly.

The Mayor's letter to Berquist, Whitman and Scammon, informing them of their appointment, follows in part:

"I am in receipt of a letter from the Registrar of Motor Vehicles noting an alarming upward trend (on a State-wide basis) in unpaid Motor Vehicles Excise Tax

Break Ground At Site Of 3rd Elderly Homes

Ground-breaking ceremonies this week formally marked the start of construction of the 72-apartment Horace Mann housing development for elderly persons in needy circumstances.

At the same time Chairman William Carmen of the Newton Housing Authority announced that his board is now seeking a suitable site for another proposed development which would contain 56 dwelling units.

The Horace Mann development, which Carmen said will cost approximately $1.2 million and is scheduled for completion on April 1 of next year, is the third such project to be undertaken in Newton.

When it is ready for occupancy in 1966, it will make a total of 169 dwelling units available for elderly Newton citizens in the low-income brackets.

The proposed fourth development would increase the number of dwelling units for elderly persons to 225, the figure requested and authorized by the Newton Housing Authority and ap-

Tape Recorders Set Up New Hospital Patterns

Increased efficiency and speed in transmitting and receiving reports and orders on all floors, and a reappraisal of the sound of their own voices among the nursing staff, have resulted from the pioneering at Newton-Wellesley Hospital of a complete tape recorded system of communication.

The pioneering project launched by Newton-Wellesley Hospital is the subject of a display designed by a nursing supervisor with a flair for art.

Miss Helen A. Smith R. N. of Weston has planned and constructed a whimsical, educational exhibit describing a new communications program developed by the 260-bed hospital.

Working in her spare time for about three months, the creative nurse fashioned a dozen tiny figurines that tell working random nights or how the hospital uses tape re-

Cabot School Registration On March 30th

The Cabot School kindergarten registrations will be held next Tuesday, March 30 from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Children to be enrolled should be five years old by Dec. 31 of this year.

Parents are requested to bring birth certificates of children to be enrolled, also their vaccination certificate and certificates of all immunizations.

Science Wonders Seen By Newton School Students

Students from Underwood, Memorial, Mason-Rice and Meadowbrook Schools, Newton and Newton Center, witnessed an eye-opening program on the science of "Light and Sight" this past week at Boston's Museum of Science.

They saw a giant eye that blinks and sees things upside-down (just as people do), an eery one-color world, a Jolly Roger dancing on the walls, and other intriguing and unusual demonstrations designed to give them insight into the complexities of the human eye and how it works.

In addition to the stimulating 40-minute lecture-demonstration, which was conducted by a member of the museum's Education Department, the students visited the exhibit halls, with their many exciting exhibits on natural history, physical science, industry, man and medicine, and astronomy.

The School Visits Program, which last year was enlarged by legislative action to encompass the entire Commonwealth, is cosponsored by the Metropolitan District Commission and the State Department of Education. It began in 1952 and has been growing ever since. It now serves some 100,000 Massachusetts private, parochial, and public school students.

Woman Missionary From Congo Speaker Tonight

Ruth Hege, a veteran missionary of 33 years in Venezuela and Congo will be speaking at Cabot School Auditorium, 229 Cabot street, Newtonville, tonight, Thursday, Mar. 25, at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Hege, a graduate of Wheaton College, Wheaton, Illinois, now serving under Baptist Mid-Missions, is the surviving member of the missionary team on Mangungu Mission Station on Kuluw Province of Congo. Mangungu and several other sister stations were the target of sudden and brutal attack by the Communist-inspired Jeunesses in late January, 1964. Some stations were burned to the ground, missionaries were abused and severely beaten by the Terrorists.

Miss Hege, of Wellington, Ohio, and her co-worker, Miss Irene Ferrel, of Jerome, Idaho, were attacked by frenzied African youth in the early hours of the morning, dragged from their home, pushed and threatened with death.

Miss Ferrel was struck in the neck by a terrorists arrow which severed a jugular vein bringing about almost instant death. Miss Hege was also wounded in the fray and left for dead.

After four days of alternating capture, escape, and pursuit, Miss Hege was evacuated by helicopter to Leopoldville, the capital of Congo, and flown to the States. A book of the four-day pursuit by the Jeunesses Communists has been written by Miss Hege and is in the hands of the publisher. Copies of the book, We Two Alone, will be available at the meeting for purchase.

Miss Hege is planning to leave the States in April to go to Costa Rica where she will take a refresher course in Spanish preparatory to leaving for further service on the missionary field of Venezuela. The meeting, sponsored by Faith Baptist Church, is open to the public. No admission charge.

Fried Lecture On Drug Types For Infections

The fifth of the 1964-65 Fried Lectures will be held next Monday evening March 29 at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Speaking at 8:30 p.m. in the hospital's Usen Auditorium is Dr. Louis Weinstein of Newton. He is associate physician-in-chief at the New England Centre Hospital and is chief of the Infectious Disease Service at the Boston Floating Hospitals.

He will discuss "New and Old Drugs for the Treatment of Infection."

The lectures are open to practicing physicians, to medical students and to others in the health professions. Dr. Weinstein is a professor of medicine at Tufts University School of Medicine, a lecturer in medicine at Boston University School of Medicine and a lecturer in infectious disease at Harvard Medical School.

He earned his M.S. and his Ph.D. degrees at Yale University, and received his M.D. at Boston University School of Medicine. His membership include the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine, American Society for Clinical Research, Trudeau Society, American College of Physicians, American Academy of Microbiology, American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and Alpha Omega Alpha.

He has published numerous articles and abstracts about infectious disease.

The Authority, which paid the city $255,000 for the fire station that stood in the toll road's path at West Newton, bases its refusal to pay a similar amount for the Newton Corner Facility on a Supreme Court case that held that the state did not have to pay the city of Worcester for a school that was taken for highway construction.

The city contends that the Worcester case does not apply to this situation where there was an agreement for payment made several years ago.

The proposed footbridge would cost approximately $80,000, of which the city has offered to contribute $20,000. The late William F. Callahan, Authority chairman, gave assurance that the bridge would be built, Mayor Gibbs said.

Centre Women To Hear Talk On Albert Sweitzer

Dr. Edwin P. Booth, noted historian, will be guest speaker at the second of three mornings of diversion, held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House Thursday, Apr. 1, at 11 o'clock. His topic: "The Life and Work of Dr. Albert Sweitzer."

Mrs. Harold Keller and her co-chairman, Mrs. Henry S. C. Cummings, will be assisted at the meeting by the following Committee members:

Mrs. Henry S. Adams, Mrs. W. Lloyd Allen, Mrs. Julian Anthony, Mrs. Elmer C. Bartels, Mrs. William P. Beetles, Mrs. William H. Brine Jr., Mrs. Joshua Clark, Mrs. P. Edward Eden, Miss Niada Flanders, Mrs. Orville W. Forte, Mrs. Benjamin Shattuck, Mrs. Homer C. Sowles and Mrs. Earl P. Stevenson.

Newton Junior College Honors To 45 Students

Newton Junior College's honor list for the first semester of this academic year, just published, names 45 students, the largest number in the history of the college.

Heading the list with highest honors are Mrs. Shelia Hollis and Mrs. Marilyn Rawnsley, both second-year students in the Nursing Program.

The following 38 students attained academic distinction with honors: First-Year Students — Barry Benson, Mrs. Harriet Betley, Phyllis Ceglia, Ora DeJesus, Henry Gardner, Brother Luke Gerardot, Brother Ignatius Sudol, Diana Gresty, Joel Kohn, Carol Ritchey, and Diane Shaw as well as Eric Branzberg, Robert Glickman, Paul O'Connell, Franziska Plendl, Frederic Robert, Michael Ryan, Jonathan Patton, Arnold Schneider and Malvina Spitz all of Newton.

Second-year students are: Carmela Auditore, Phyllis Berkman, Sheldon Chandler, Diane Janiak, Raymond Patten, Edward Podolsky, Ellen Raeke, Mrs. Nancy Sergi, and Mrs. Ruth Youska, as well as John Bracken, Sister Mary Vincenzo Burke, Noreen Devito, Alan Hopkins, Carolyn Hurley, Joseph Lyons, Lois Marchand, Burgess Needie and Helen Andressian all of Newton.

Students on the Honors List will be feted at an Honors Convivium to be held at the end of April.

"The records of the Registry indicate that as of December 31, 1964, over ten million dollars is still owed to the cities and towns. In 1960, 77,195 notices of non-payment were received by the Registry, with 36,604 still unpaid. In 1963 these notices received reached 113,609, of which 74,053 remain unpaid.

"As you are well aware, the Excise Tax is an important item to Newton, amounting to nearly three million dollars, or ten dollars of our tax rate. We must watch this source of income very closely, taking every step commensurate with 100% enforcement.

"With this in view it would seem expedient to appoint a committee of three to explore every facet of this situation, making any recommendation to the Mayor that they would deem necessary.

"I am fully cognizant that our position compared to this State-wide average is considerably better. I am not, however, satisfied that we cannot improve both our administration and collection procedures, resulting in less uncollected Excise Taxes. Such a goal is only justice to all taxpayers who have paid promptly."

Floral Theme For Meeting Of Sisterhood

Floral Decor in the Home will be the theme of the April meeting of Sisterhood Beth El — Atereth Israel of Newton, according to Mrs. Edward Joseph, program chairman.

The program will feature Mrs. Greta Marmorek of the Flower Cottage at Quint's, Newton Highlands, and Mr. Eric Erickson, floral consultant.

Mrs. Marmorek will display some of the unique arrangements of artificial and dried flowers for which she is noted. Mr. Erickson, who participated in the floral design for the Kennedy Inaugural Ball, will explain and demonstrate practical ways of creating floral moods in the home through

Newton Elks Massachusetts Top Ritualists

Newton Lodge of Elks was adjudged winner of the recent ritualistic excellence contest held at the home of the Lexington Elks.

There were 10 contesting teams. The skillful selection of unusual containers and accessories. Mr. Erickson's fresh-flower arrangements will be raffled at the conclusion of the evening.

The meeting will take place at 8:15 p.m., Thursday, April 15, at 15 Lincoln st., Newton Highlands. Mrs. Nathan Finkelstein will conduct the business meeting, and Mrs. Sidney Smookler will read the invocation.

Following the contest an open house and victory party was given the Newton team by the House Committee at the Newton Lodge home.

Carl Westland of Newton was judged the outstanding Esteemed Leading Knight in the contest, and Joseph Marucci of Newton was the second place Esquire. Four other Newton officers placed on all-state teams.

As top ritualistic team in Massachusetts, the Newton team will represent the state at the New England contest in Laconia, N.H., Sunday, Mar. 28, and in the national contest at Miami Beach in July.

The Newton officers are: William J. Sparkes, Esteemed Leading Knight; Ambrose C. Rondina, Esteemed Loyal Knight; Herman Dodson, Esteemed Lecturing Knight; Joseph Marucci, Esquire; Joseph Desmond, Chaplain, and Paul Cavicchi, Inner Guard. Coach of the team is Michael DeGeorge, P.E.R., and the candidate is W. Edward Wilson, P.E.R.

Library Answer

Editor of The Graphic:

Following is an open letter to a local citizen whose remarks on a proposed new library appeared in local papers last week.

Mrs. George C. Jones
256 Auburndale Ave.,
Auburndale, Mass.

This is in answer to your questions as they appeared in the local papers last week.

Dear Mrs. Jones:

First you asked how many branches the trustees plan to close. We plan to close one—the Newton Centre branch. I think everyone will agree that we do not need both a branch and a main library in Newton Centre Square.

Regarding children crossing the street in Newton Centre: There are residential areas on all sides of Newton Centre square. The children who now cross Centre, Beacon, Cypress and Sumner streets on foot to go to school, to Sunday school, to the present branch library (of which you apparently not aware), to the drug stores, toy stores, novelty stores, etc., will probably continue to do so after the library has been built. The children whose parents drive them will probably still drive them. The children of today are both competent and intelligent in their ability to use pedestrian traffic lights. A centrally located library in Newton Centre square would seem to be more accessible than the present main facility at which there are no traffic lights at all.

Yes, we have spent many hours in conference with various department heads and city officials. We have found them to be co-operative, objective dedicated people, and I have every confidence that if the library is built on the old Mason School site they will use their knowledge and experience not only to answer the traffic question, but to make Newton Centre an outstanding business and cultural focal point.

Service to high schools: Newton South High School has a library of nearly 11,000 books, about 7 per student. Newton High School has a library of nearly 11,000 books, about 5.3 per student. Newton Junior College has a library of 1,400 books, about 2.3 per student.

Our largest branch library is located near adjacent to both the high school and the junior college. This houses a collection of 19,700 volumes, about three-fourths of which are adult books, making an additional four volumes per capita available to these two schools. It, therefore, seems logical that if one of the primary functions of the main library is to provide reference and research materials to ALL students, it should be equally available to all. Having it in Newton Centre would make it so.

I might also add that in 1964, 21,000 reference and information inquiries were handled at the main library, and that adult use exceeded student use by 39 percent.

I hope I have answered your questions frankly and honestly. The public library belongs to all the people—children and students, and also to shoppers, scholars, businessmen, teachers, browsers.

If I can be of any further help, I would be glad to do so. We have a slide program which we will show to any group of 25 or more interested people, and we will take any group of 15 to 20 people on a tour of the main library by appointment.

Sincerely,
JOSEPHINE T. BREWER,
(Mrs. George F. Brewer)
President, Board of Trustees, Newton Free Library.

Praises League

Editor: Newton Graphic:

May I add my felicitations to the many others honoring a valiant, effective and dynamic group of Newton citizens during League of Women Voters Month.

As one who has been a candidate for public office I can attest to the untiring efforts of the ladies of the League in providing information for the enlightenment and education of the voters of Newton. As a public official I am grateful for the League's intensive research on political issues and its recommendations and positions which merit the attention and respect of the entire community.

In the election last November the League played a vital role in passing Question 5 to curb the powers of the Executive Council. This long overdue reform is a landmark in the progress of our Commonwealth.

In expressing my admiration and high regard for the League of Women Voters of Newton I believe I am echoing the sentiments of many of my fellow citizens.

Irving Fishman,
Representative 5th Middlesex District (Newton).

League Commended

Editor: Newton Graphic:

It is most appropriate during this month of March, which has been designated League of Women Voters Month in Newton, that I take this opportunity to acknowledge the effort that the League of Women Voters has put into creating public forums, for discussion of many important issues of our day.

I have served in elective office, in the City of Newton since 1958, and find that the League of Women Voters has been a most valuable tool in framing and discussing the pertinent issues of the day. My hat is off to the League for their contribution in the past, and may they have many more years of fruitful work ahead of them.

Joseph G. Bradley,
Representative, 4th Middlesex District.

Not Fund Raisers

Editor of The Graphic:

There appeared last Thursday in your Letters column a statement that one of your readers had received a request from the Friends of the Newton Free Library for a donation to a new library. THIS IS NOT TRUE.

I should like to make it completely clear that the Friends are not a fund-raising group, and we make no appeal for donations to any building. The receipts from our low membership dues are used for educational mailings to members and for educational activities sponsored by the Friends.

The same reader had some pleasant things to say about the Newton Upper Falls branch library and its dedicated librarian. What she wrote is very interesting to me, as I lived for ten years in the Falls.

The reader, however, has been misinformed about the purpose of the Friends of the Newton Free Library. We believe that a new main library on the old Mason School site will provide for more effective branch library service. We are trying to foster closer relations between the Library and the citizens; to promote knowledge of the functions, resources, services and needs of the Library; and to support the Library Trustees.

Very sincerely yours,
Barbara G. Michaels
(Mrs. George Michaels)
Vice President for Membership.

Newton South High Seniors Sponsor Play

The senior class of Newton South High School and Wheeler House will sponsor "Waiting for Godot" by Samuel Beckett by the Theatre Company of Boston at the school auditorium, Friday evening, April 2.

Tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. Jack Bloom at DE 2-2920 or Mrs. Alfred Bickelman at 223-9035.

Hats, Politics Topics As GOP Women Gather

Gay hats and political problems will vie for attention when the Newton Women's Republican Club holds its "Spring Brunch" in Valle's Steak House Tuesday, Apr. 6, at 9:45 a.m.

Representative Mary B. Newman, of Cambridge, will speak on "One Third of a Legislature." Mrs. Newman, who is serving her tenth year as a representative from the Second Middlesex District in the Massachusetts House of Representatives, has also held many prominent positions in civic and Republican party organizations. Her discourse will reflect her extensive background in the field of public affairs.

Mrs. Victor D. Baer and Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell are co-chairman of this event, and they will be assisted by the president, Mrs. Robert Tennant, and Mrs. Frederick G. Fisher, Jr. Republican women who desire tickets for the "Brunch" are invited to telephone either Mrs. Baer or Mrs. Campbell.

Library Friends To Give Tours Of Main Building

"We have about 700 paid up members with the total climbing steadily each day," reported Mrs. George Michaels, vice president for membership of the Friends of the Newton Free Library, at a recent meeting of its Executive Board held at the home of Mrs. Melvin Gordon, president, 11 Fenwick Road, Waban.

The Newton League of Women Voters, the PTA Council of Newton and the Meadowbrook PTA, she said, have joined as organizational members. The purpose of the Friends of the Newton Free Library is to present to the community knowledge of the library's resources, services, and needs. It supports the Trustees of the Library in their recommendation for a new main library building on the site of the old Mason School in Newton Centre.

It does NOT, however, raise funds for library buildings. To bring firsthand knowledge to Newton residents of the needs of the present main library, the Friends have arranged with A. W. Kunkel, head librarian, for a series of conducted tours of the main library. Appointments for tours may be made for groups of from 8 to 12 by calling Mr. Kunkel at the Library, 527-7700.

Newtonites To Take Part In Tufts Assembly

Prominent citizens of Newton will take part in the seventh annual Tufts Assembly on Massachusetts Government Mar. 30-31 on the Medford campus.

This year's Assembly will delve into a most timely topic, "Public Education in Massachusetts."

One of two continuing undertakings of its type in the nation, the Tufts Assembly is conducted by the Lincoln Filene Center for Citizenship and Public Affairs at Tufts. The participants have been preparing themselves by studying a series of hard-hitting background papers prepared by experts in education. At the final plenary session of the Assembly, they will present recommendations to be considered by legislators, educators, and the general citizenry in the process of remodeling and upgrading our state's education program.

The group from Newton includes Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools; Haskell C. Freedman, school committee chairman; William F. Chouinard, 169 Tremont St., Newton; Alan Katz, Tufts student, 27 Sycamore Rd., Newton Centre; George Levenson, Tufts student, 6 Shuman Cir., Newton Centre; Robert M. Segal, 74 Sylvan Ave., West Newton; Harvey L. Friedman, 24 Margaret Rd., Newton Highlands; Kenneth A. Johnson, 162 Elliot St., Newton Upper Falls, and Mrs. Frances S. Litman, 107 Franklin St., Newton.

Beryl W. Cohen of Brookline, State Senator whose district includes a part of Newton, is also a member of the group.

Win Albums In Radio Contest

Mrs. Haywood Jones, 321 Lexington St., Auburndale, and Louis Glaser, 70 Botsford Rd., Chestnut Hill, each won a "Sound of Music" album by the original Broadway cast, including Mary Martin and Theodore Bikel, in a Station WNAC contest in which 1500 listeners sent in "something green" as contestants.

As matters stand at the moment, Dumaine has the votes in the State Committee to beat back any attempt to replace him with Senator Fred I. Lamson of Malden.

Dumaine's place apparently is safe unless or until the forces which want to see him out can agree on a successor they would all support. The possibility such an agreement will be reached in the near future.

Political Highlights

It is doubtful, however, that he could win the nomination against an opponent of the stature of Governor Volpe, Attorney General Edward W. Brooke or Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson.

Whatever may eventually develop, the fact that young Saltonstall is planning to run for the State Senate has caused a flurry of conjecture in political circles.

Graham is seeking the Salem court post because he feels he cannot support his family adequately on his present salary as a Senator as a result of the action of the voters last year in cutting back the pay of legislators.

His appointment presumably will be delayed until after the fight over Governor Volpe's sales tax proposal is concluded.

State's Financial Picture Appalling

The longer one studies the fiscal problems confronting Governor Volpe, the more appalling looms the financial mess in which the State government is presently mired.

Statements have been made periodically that the State needs about $60 million in new revenue to pay its bills.

The fact of the matter is that the Commonwealth needs closer to $130 million in new money in order to get out of its present dilemma.

This is largely due to the failure of ex-Governor Endicott Peabody to face up to hard realities during his two years at the head of the State government.

Not only did Peabody use the gimmick of accelerated tax collections as a stop-gap device to get necessary money and avoid the imposition of additional taxes, but he also failed to pay the cities and towns money the State owed them.

Except for a half-hearted attempt to increase State income taxes, he made no effort to impose the new taxes necessary to balance the State's budget.

The general fund is short by between $60 and $65 million.

In addition, the State owes $58 million to the cities and towns which should have been paid during the past two years.

An extra $14 million is needed for the State highway fund if the State is to carry out its scheduled road-building program.

That adds up to a total of between $132 and $137 million. The deficit in the highway fund presumably will be made up by raising the gasoline tax.

This amount of money is needed even if the State launches no new programs, does nothing to improve the quality of public school education and gives no aid to the cities and towns to ease their crushing real estate tax burdens.

It's not exactly a pretty picture, but it's a problem which must be met unless the State is to go bankrupt.

When politicians claim that no new taxes are needed, they're indulging in utter nonsense. What they should explain is why they permitted this situation to develop into its present proportions.

Buck Dumaine Safe For Now

Indications are that controversial Frederic C. (Buck) Dumaine will continue as chairman of the Republican State Committee despite the fact that a couple of prominent GOP leaders ardently desire his ouster.

As matters stand at the moment, Dumaine has the votes in the State Committee to beat back any attempt to replace him with Senator Fred I. Lamson of Malden.

Dumaine's place apparently is safe unless or until the forces which want to see him out can agree on a successor they would all support. The possibility such an agreement will be reached in the near future.

But they sure have been keeping a sharp eye out for any package store proprietor who cuts 50 cents or a dollar from the price of a bottle of liquor in order to promote good will and keep a customer coming back.

Such a package store owner obviously wants to reduce his profit on a bottle of liquor in order to build the volume of his business. The customer, needless to say, is glad to get the bargain price.

Since both the seller and buyer are satisfied, it would seem nobody could have any objection.

That, however, isn't true. Not only does the ABC object violently to the public getting any bargains when buying liquor, but it spends public funds to try to make sure the public doesn't get any bargains. That's about as paradoxical as you can get.

One obvious conclusion which can be drawn from the actions by the ABC is that its established minimum prices are too high.

If a package store operator can cut a dollar from the minimum established price for a bottle of liquor and still make a profit, then the minimum price fixed by the ABC is a "joke."

In establishing minimum prices for liquor and then trying to see that no package store sells below those prices, the ABC is not protecting the public. It's simply protecting certain elements in the liquor industry, keeping prices high.

What they did to cause the drastic ABC crackdown was to sell liquor below the established minimum prices.

It's a strange thing, but we don't recall any recent reports of ABC inspectors swooping down on drinking places which

Carmen Supports New Central Library Here

Alderman William Carmen yesterday took a strong stand in favor of maintaining Newton's branch public libraries, and at the same time urged the erection of a new central library as soon as possible.

Carmen suggested the site of the former Mason School as the location for a new central library, asserting that good planning would make this an excellent site.

Alderman Carmen made his statements in a letter to Alderman Adelaide B. Ball, chairman of the Aldermanic Committee which is studying the Humphrey-McNiff report on the city's library system.

In his letter Carmen said: "It has become apparent that many people in my ward as well as other concerned citizens throughout the city have expressed alarm over sections of the Humphrey-McNiff library report. I believe it important to express my convictions in this matter."

"The City of Newton has over the years developed a village affiliated library system, unlike any other in a city of 100,000 persons. The people of our community have come to use and depend on the village library structure, as a local central book depository, study centre for students and even a recreational reading room for older people."

"We have come to depend heavily on these branches and as a result have neglected to develop a central library in keeping with the size of our City and compatible with our deep interest in educational and cultural values."

"It is my opinion, therefore, that the branches must be retained, including a branch in Newton Corner and that a new central library should be constructed with the same advanced planning we have shown in the construction of our various new school buildings. This library should be of sufficient size and of appropriate design, with an eye toward the future needs of our city. It should be in a readily accessible location, near the center of the community."

"The former Mason School site is, in my opinion, such a location and with good planning, including off-street pedestrian pick-up and delivery to insure traffic safety, construction could commence in the near future."

"It is my hope that the Library Committee of the Board of Aldermen will take these recommendations into consideration."

and preventing free competition.

That's what one public agency does with the public funds appropriated to finance its operation. Why the State Legislature doesn't halt this sort of nonsense is a mystery.

It would make more sense if the ABC established maximum prices for liquor and then served a stern warning that any package store owner who sold liquor above those prices and gouged the public would have his license suspended. If you made that suggestion to the ABC members, they'd call for a psychiatrist. That would be protecting the public, not certain liquor interests.

Lee Loumos Says:

No matter how much confidence we have in the ability of our astronauts and the men and material behind them, there is always a great feeling of relief when the word is out that the mission has been completed and the astronauts are safe.

I wonder if everyone realizes the role electronics plays in these missions. Except for the rocket power to propel the vehicle and the development of metals to withstand the friction generated, Space-Age Electronics is vitally involved with almost every other phase of the effort. Without the modern development of the Electronics Sciences, our entire space effort could literally only get off the ground.

When you consider the vast amount of money and men necessary to make all that possible, won't you have a little more respect for the unsung technician who keeps your TV or Stereo in working order and appreciate how quickly and inexpensively we accomplish our mission?

Gifted Music School Director Airs Plans

Mrs. Anne Gombosi, director of the All Newton Music School, unveiled plans recently to enlarge the curriculum and scope of the Music School. The school, formerly at 398 Walnut street, Newtonville, began its second semester in the newly acquired building at 321 Chestnut street, West Newton a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Gombosi explained that the All Newton Music School is an active member of the American Guild of Community Music Schools. The philosophy of flexibility enables the school to meet the needs of a variety of ages, skills and backgrounds, and to relate itself to the changing society of today.

The director, was enthusiastic about the possibilities of being offered by the new building. "Already ballet classes have been added to the curriculum. Plans are being laid now for instruction in brass instruments and percussion. The Music School hopes to expand the tradition of serving the needs of the community."

Anne Gombosi, violinist, was born and educated in Switzerland. Upon graduation from the Basel Conservatory, she became a member of the Basel Symphony Orchestra under Felix von Weingartner.

Her graduate work was done in Berlin. At this time she developed an interest in the performance of old music. She studied viola d'amore with Henry Casadesu in Paris, and viola da gamba with August Wenzinger in Kassel.

After a period of intensive violin training and coaching with Professor Janos Hammerschlag in Budapest, she returned to Switzerland as a member of the concert group and the faculty of the Schola Cantorum Basiliensis. At the same time, she was solo viola player of the Basel Chamber Orchestra.

In 1939 her husband, Otto Gombosi, was invited to an International Congress of Musicology and guest lectures in the United States. They spent some months in New York waiting for visas to go back to Switzerland through one of the war-stricken countries. Gradually deciding to stay here, Mrs. Gombosi accepted a position in Grinnell College, Iowa, as teacher of violin and chamber music and assistant to the conductor.

Two years later, she became head of the string department of the Cornish School of Music and Arts in Seattle, Washington, and taught Summer Schools at the University of Washington where her husband taught Musicology.

When he was called to Michigan State University, Mrs. Gombosi accepted a part-time position at the same school, teaching music in a co-related cultural program which was offered to all freshmen.

After a year in Europe, working in music historical research for her husband, who was on a Guggenheim Fellowship, she taught music part-time in a private school in Chicago. Her three children were then at an age when they needed her. The same arrangement was kept when her husband was transferred from the University of Chicago to Harvard. She took over Chamber Music and the orchestra at Winsor School in Boston.

After her husband's death, she took a Master's Degree at Boston University. A few years of teaching in the Adult Education Center gave her experience with older students. She was co-founder of the "Camerata of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts," a group she belonged to for seven years. At present, she has a small group called the "New England Antiqua Players" which has been chosen as one of the five Boston groups of "Young Audiences Incorporated."

Mrs. Gombosi was offered Newton Music School in 1959. The directorship of the All Since then the school has entered a period of expansion. The director's wide range of teaching experience has enriched the Music School's program, and is attracting an ever increasing number of students, both children and adult.

Spring Rummage Sale Is Planned

At a recent meeting of the Newton Chapter of Cystic Fibrosis, plans were made for their annual Spring Rummage Sale to be held on Wednesday, April 28th, at the Newton Center Women's Club at Beacon and Center Streets.

Mrs. Milton Gray of Chestnut Hill is chairman. All saleable merchandise can be picked up by calling Mrs. Irving Bloomfield RE 4-2357, Mrs. Sidney Holzman DE 2-1329 or Mrs. Sumner Tye at DE 2-3899. Proceeds will benefit research for Cystic Fibrosis, a children's disease.

7th Grader Is Winner Of Ping Pong Tournament

Richard Abbott, twelve year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Murry Abbott, 1572 Commonwealth avenue, West Newton, won the Ping-Pong Tournament at the Longwood Tennis and Cricket Club last Thursday.

Young Abbott, in winning the tourney, is the first 7th grader in the history of Warren Junior High School to have won the tournament over 8th and 9th grade students.

Last year he won the tennis doubles at Longwood.

10th Anniversary Breakfast Fetes Camp Fire Girls, Dads

March is Birthday Month for Camp Fire Girls, and this year Camp Fire is celebrating the 55th anniversary of its founding.

The Auburndale Camp Fire Girls of Corpus Christi recently celebrated their 10th birthday as a member of the Newton District Council by holding a Father-Daughter Birthday Supper in the church hall of the Corpus Christi Church.

An air of festivity prevailed with all tables gaily decorated with birthday cakes and favors made by each group of Blue Birds, Camp Fire, Jr.-Hi and Horizon Club Girls.

Among the guests at the head table were Reverend Edward W. Beucier, spiritual advisor of the Corpus Christi group, Mrs. Flora Rowlands, district director of the Greater Boston Council of Camp Fire Girls, Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Rowe, Mrs. William D'Agostino, Mrs. James Peghny, Mrs. Andrew Carter, Mrs. Leonard Martin, Mrs. Orazio Vaccaro, and Mrs. John O'Callahan.

The program for the evening began by the presentation of special awards to five Horizon Club Girls, now seniors in High School, and their leader who have been in the Camp Fire organization for 10 years.

Elizabeth Costa, Jean D'Agostino, Janice Murphy, Virginia Riley and Phyllis Vaccaro were presented their lovely Camp Fire charms by Mrs. Lee A. Rowe, district chairman for the Newton District, who also presented a special 10-year award for leadership to Mrs. William D'Agostino, Neighborhood chairman of Auburndale.

Honorable mention was also made of Mrs. Orazio Vaccaro, Mrs. Harold Murphy and Mrs. Peter Stofflet for their service in Camp Fire for 10 years.

Since 1965 has been designated as International Cooperation Year by the United Nations, many Newton Camp Fire groups are celebrating amounts allowed them by the Aldermen.

Mayor

The Mayor himself slashed $1,300,000 from the requests of his department heads before sending his budget to the Board of Aldermen.

He said the items which were cut by the Aldermen involved questions of judgment as to whether expenditures should be made.

The Appropriations approved early Tuesday, near the close of a session which lasted from 7:45 p.m. until 2 a.m., totaled $27,448,111.96. In addition, $309,473.44 had been appropriated in advance of the budget.

Thus, the grand total appropriated for the operation of the municipal government and the school department, apart from the self-supporting water department, was $27,575,585.40.

The school department budget is approximately $900,000 greater than last year which reflects a $2.75 increase in the tax rate.

Alderman Nixon said the school budget actually is $1,197,000 greater than last year's school expenditures, adding, however, that the school department turned back $294,000 to the city last year.

A 6 per cent pay raise for members of the police and fire departments and a 5 per cent wage for other municipal workers was approved by the Board of Aldermen.

Under the new salary schedules in the police and fire departments, the maximum pay for patrolmen and firefighters has been raised from $6015 to $6400 a year, a boost of $385.

Salary increases also were voted for municipal department heads. The biggest raise granted was $1700 per year.

Only four changes were made by the Board of Aldermen in the report of the Aldermanic Finance Committee which brought in a recommendation that $358,496.88 be trimmed from the budget.

The first change saw the Finance Committee overruled and $500 restored to the budget for roof repairs at City Hall.

The second change saw $8000 put back in the Public Buildings Department budget for improvements at Warren Junior High School.

The third departure from the Fin. Com. recommendations involved the restoration of $5230 to the health department budget.

The fourth change saw the Aldermen make one budget cut which the Finance Committee had not advocated. That was the elimination of $10,000 that had been included in the recreation department budget for lighting the tennis courts at Newton South High School.

As the various items were being acted upon, Alderman Melvin J. Dangel of West Newton asked to be excused from voting on the school budget because his wife is a school teacher and on the city clerk's budget because he is a law associate of the city clerk.

When the long session started, Alderman Nixon, chairman of the Finance Committee, remarked that "traditionally a harbinger of spring is the city budget," adding that in reporting the budget he felt more like a February groundhog than an early spring robin.

Nixon then read the following statement to his colleagues:

"The 1965 budget of estimated expenditures by the City of Newton presents a picture that, I am sure, will not be welcome news to taxpayers.

"His Honor the Mayor has recommended a total of all budgets, including school and water, of $29,355,094.79. The Finance Committee, after long sessions of review and interviewing department heads and other city officials, recommends reducing this amount to $28,998,597.91 or a cut of $356,496.88. This in itself is a relatively small amount, but after His Honor had reduced the department requests by some $1,300,000, it is readily apparent that Finance did not have much to further cut.

"The recommended budget represents an increase of $2,082,186.84 over the 1964 amount. The plain and simple result of this is a tax rate increase. For the first time, the $70 barrier will be broken. At best we will have to face a level of at least $72 — or an estimated $8.60 boost over the '64 rate.

"Now, how does this come about and why?

"I — The so-called 'cherry sheet' transmitted by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for 1965 shows the state and county assessments are approximately $300,000 greater in 1965 than they were in 1964. Furthermore, in 1965 we anticipate receipt of approximately $570,000 less from the distribution of income, corporation taxes, etc., than was received in 1964. These two items result in the adverse figure of approximately $870,000 which, translated into the tax rate, amounts to about $2.65. State and county costs went up and distribution from increased taxes went down. The state ran out of gimmicks in its handling of the tax collections.

"2. — The school budget is up about $900,000 over the 1964 school budget, which reflects approximately $2.75 on the tax rate. The budget is actually $1,197,000 greater than last year's school expenditures. However, there was a turn-back of $296,000 from the School Department in 1964.

"3. — His Honor the Mayor recommends a six per cent pay increase for police and fire, and five per cent for other employees, at a cost of

"4. — An overlay of tax abatements to veterans, widows, people over 70, hardship the blind, parsonages and others will amount to $500,000 — an increase of approximately $365,000, or another $1 on the tax rate.

"5. — Other department expenses have increased substantially with an estimated impact of $3.10 on this tax rate.

"The sum total of these would reflect approximately a $10.50 increase in the tax rate. As a credit, increased estimated receipts will amount to about 50 cents. Therefore, a net $10 increase in the rate would appear to be anticipated.

"Using possibly $500,000 from the surplus of $1,473,000, a reduction of $1.40 from the anticipated $10 increase is possible, giving the $72 figure mentioned before.

"Hopefully, a net valuation increase was anticipated, but did not materialize over 1964 — (a $3,500,000 figure is normal). Also, no significant increase in motor vehicle excise is anticipated.

"Further tax increases appear to be inevitable unless additional revenue is forthcoming or a strong effort be made to hold the line on present expenditures. The proposed sales tax (if enacted) might result in an additional allotment from the state. Encouragement for industry to locate here, a more realistic approach to rezoning, plus a reappraised attitude of land use might eventuate in additional tax revenue.

"The new Mayor and Board of Aldermen and School Committee in 1966 will have to face the bald facts of life — to paraphrase an old saying, 'you can't have your cake and eat it too'.

"With increasing encroachment of federal and state activities in local affairs, the mirage of 'someone else is going to pay for it' is only a snare and a delusion. Obviously, an enlarged program (whatever it may be) that some suggest, will only increase the burden on an already soaring tax rate."

The body adjourned to an anteroom shortly before 2 a.m. for a meeting as a committee of the whole. On returning to the Aldermanic chamber, the members first defeated a motion to reconsider the deletion of $10,000 for tennis court lighting, then voted 21 to 0, with three absent, to accept the Finance Committee report with its amendments.

The committee's makeup is as follows:

John P. Nixon, chairman, Ward 3; Wendell R. Bauckman, board president, Ward 8; Adelaide B. Ball, Ward 1; Winslow C. Auryansen, Ward 2; Warren A. Sutherland, Ward 4; Franklin N. Flaschner, Ward 5; Charles F. Hovey, Ward 6; and John P. McCarthy, Ward 7.

The vote restoring the $500 for City Hall roof repair was 14 to 6, with four absent. Voting "no" were Aldermen Auryansen, Ball, George L. Hicks, John P. McCarthy, John P. Nixon and President Bauckman. The absentees were Ernest F. Dietz, Flaschner, William E. Hopkins and Theodore D. Mann. Voting "yes" were William L. Bruce, Paul J. Burke, William C. Carmichael, Melvin J. Dangel, William M. Glovsky, Harry H. Ham Jr., John F. Holden, Charles F. Hovey, David W. Jackson, Andrew J. Magni, Jack M. Roberts, Warren A. Sutherland, Edward C. Uehlein and Harry L. Walen.

On the amendment to restore $8000 for Warren Junior High School improvements, the vote was 19 to 0, with the following five absent: Paul J. Burke, Ernest F. Dietz, Franklin N. Flaschner, William E. Hopkins and Theodore D. Mann.

Restoration of $5230 to the city physician's budget was approved 20-1, with John F. Holden voting "no" and Dietz, Flaschner and Hopkins absent.

Deletion of the Finance Committee's recommendation that $10,000 be appropriated for installation of lights at the Newton South High School tennis courts, was the object of two votes. Deletion was approved 12 to 9, with three aldermen, Dietz, Flaschner and Hopkins absent. Voting "no" were Aldermen Auryansen, Ball, Bruce, Carmichael, Dangel, Hovey, Mann, Roberts and Sutherland.

CREDIT CARD INSURANCE

You are liable for charges made on your lost or stolen credit cards until the issuer of the card receives proper notice of loss in most cases.

It is estimated that more than a million credit cards are lost or stolen each year and that a stolen card represents an average of $500 in bad charges. Total losses from the improper use of credit cards has reached the multi-million dollar level.

Very inexpensive coverage is now available to insure not only your credit cards but your retail charge-a-plates and forgery of your checks. It is written for individuals and for a business with many cards in the hands of its staff.

Credit is a national way of life and prudent individuals should be well advised to safeguard their instruments of credit against illicit use.

Rates and additional information may be obtained from our Bond Department. At the "Sign of Sound Insurance" complete protection for you and your firm is our only business.

Nursery School Parley Seen Great Success

Dr. Dorothy J. Worth, coordinator of the Child Health Program for the Newton Health Department, reports that the department-sponsored workshop of late last month for professionals engaged in various aspects of nursery schools and day care education was a complete success.

The conference was attended by representatives of the following nursery schools in Newton: Bowen, Christian Day, Ethel Drowne, Highland Play School, Hills and Falls, Jack & Jill, Mrs. Mercer's, Mrs. Pollock's, Pulsifer, Rebecca Pomroy House, Sandman, Studio, West Newton Community Centre, and Win Sum, and by staff members of the Newton Health Department and the Newton Visiting Nurse Association.

The program was held in the John J. Fogg Education Building of the First Baptist Church in Newton Centre. The nursery school in that building, sponsored by the First Baptist Church, was open for inspection by those attending the conference. Despite driving rains, the conference was well attended.

Fair Fashions For Mt. Alvernia Academy

Fashions from the New England Pavilion of the World's Fair will be shown for Mount Alvernia Academy at the Sidney Hill Country Club on Tuesday, March 30, at 12 noon.

Featured will be clothes for the four seasons of the year, including New England manufactured products such as shoes, jewelry, cottons and woolsens. This will be the first showing of the production in the local area. The public is invited to attend, and tickets may be obtained at the door. Reservations, which must be made by March 27th, are being accepted by Mrs. James L. Ferullo, AL 4-6618, and Mrs. Frank A. McDonald Jr., AL 4-1687.

MRS. LEO KARAS
Sisterhood To Hold Luncheon Monday, Mar. 29

Mrs. Leo Karas of Newton is chairman of the Sisterhood Temple Mishkan Tefila Queen's Luncheon which will be held at the social hall next Monday, March 29. A Get Acquainted sherry hour will precede the luncheon.

Program director Mrs. Albert Frager has planned an afternoon of unusual entertainment entitled "An Interlude in Israel."

It will be in the form of a unique fashion show with a background of choral singing. The musical presentation and original script is by Mrs. Irving Fanger. Fashions by Morton's will be featured.

Infant Tidings

Only one recent birth to Newton parents was reported this week by Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

It was that of a boy to Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Mulvaney, 61 Eildwood avenue, Newtonville.

Earl Stein of Newton, University of Maine sophomore enrolled in the ROTC program, was awarded the Pine Tree Ribbon, a citation from the Department of Military Science.

Grant Is Given Family Women's Teaching Plan

A grant has been announced by the Women's Educational and Industrial Union of Boston for support of its first major effort to tailor jobs to the needs of women with families, and thus to meet the area's shortage in top-flight teachers.

Aims of the program are twofold: 1 — To utilize the training and abilities of women who may be eager to return to work, but are unable to assume full-time teaching positions, and 2 — to enlarge the pool of available candidates for public school instruction.

Two Newton residents are members of the program's advisory committee: Dr. Kenneth Greene, 94 Grove St., Auburndale, director of North-eastern University's Graduate School of Education, and Dr. Francis A. McElaney, assistant director of the division of continuing education at Boston University.

1000 Alumnae Expected For Theatre Forum

The changing patterns of our present day theatre will be discussed before nearly a thousand women representing women's college alumnae groups in Greater Boston at the Annual Alumnae Forum on Saturday morning, Mar. 27, at 10:30 o'clock, at the Sheraton-Plaza Hotel. A coffee hour will precede the forum.

Four important figures in the theatre world will be on a panel moderated by Boston's Elliot Norton, drama critic of the Record-American and WGBH-TV.

The panelists will include: Sidney Michaels, playwright of such hits as "Tchin Tchin", "Dylan", and "Ben Franklin in Paris"; Sonia Moore, drama coach and director of the Center for Acting Methods and Techniques in New York; and David Wheeler, producer-director of the Theatre Company of Boston.

Secretary of the forum is Bernice J. Poutas of West Newton, director of Alumnae Affairs for Simmons College. Committee members include Mrs. Herbert H. Goldberger of Chestnut Hill, representing Wellesley College; Mrs. I. Paley Rak of Waban, representing Mills College; Mrs. Frank Mann of Newton Highlands, representing Sarah Lawrence College; and Mrs. Charles Roth of Newton Highlands, representing Wheelock College.

Junior College Club Plans April Seminar

Newton women are playing prominent roles in planning "A Seminar in Architecture, the Urban Environment," sponsored by the Boston Junior Wellesley College Club.

The seminar, which will benefit the Faculty Advancement Fund, will be held at the Jewett Arts Center at Wellesley College on April, 5th, 12th and 19th.

These Monday afternoon programs will begin at 2:30 and will feature three prominent speakers. Henry Millon, Associate Professor of the History of Architecture and of Architectural Design at M.I.T., will speak on "Urbanization" at the first lecture. The second forum will be led by Earl Flanburgh, a practicing architect and instructor at Wellesley College, who will discuss "Urban Form." David Crane will give the final seminar on "The Public Art of City Building." Mr. Crane is Planning Administrator for the Boston Development Authority.

A guided bus tour designed to illustrate the preceding lectures is planned for April 26th. Active in the planning of these exciting and topical seminars are Mrs. Charles S. Lipson, Newton Centre, program book; Mrs. Stephen Samuels, Watertown, invitations and tickets; Mrs. Daniel Rakov, Newton Lower Falls, head of bus tour of Boston; Mrs. David F. Cavers, Jr., Wellesley Hills, speakers. Tickets and information may be obtained from Mrs. Samuels, 225 Coolidge Avenue, Watertown.

College Of Sacred Heart In First Fine Arts Week

The works of great artists of the past and present will be seen or heard at Newton College of the Sacred Heart next Sunday (Mar. 28) as the College marks the opening of its first Fine Arts Week (Mar. 28 - Apr. 4).

First day activities on the 885 Centre St. Campus will include the unveiling of a Mirko sculpture, the singing of excerpts from Beethoven's "Missa Solemnis", and the opening of an exhibit of student art which will be on display in Stuart House throughout the week.

The eight-day schedule of events, to which the public is invited, will also feature an illustrated lecture, art films, an organ recital, plays by George Bernard Shaw, and an opera "sing-along."

Under the sponsorship of the College's art, dance, drama and glee clubs, the week's program will begin with a sculpture unveiling and presentation ceremony Sunday (Mar. 28) at 2 p.m. in Stuart House. The sculpture, a cut metal relief, was designed and executed by Mirko, world-famous sculptor and director of the design workshop at Harvard's Carpenter Center for the Visual Arts. Selected from the works of several contemporary artists, the sculpture is Newton's senior class gift to the College. Miss Karen Kinnealey of Milton, president of the class of 1965, will make the presentation to Mother Gabrielle Husson, R.S.C.J., Newton's president.

Also on Sunday afternoon, Newton's glee club will join the Cornell University glee club in a concert of sacred music to be sung in the Chapel of the Most Blessed Trinity beginning at 2:30. In addition to the Beethoven excerpts, the program will include selections from Messiaen, Bach, and Hassler. No admission will be charged.

The program for Monday and Tuesday (Mar. 29-30) will feature an art lecture and two art films, all open to the public free of charge. Celia Hubbard of Boston's Botolph Group will give an illustrated lecture on contemporary sacred art at 7:15 p.m. in the East Lounge of Stuart House. One film, the Museum of Modern Art's "A Short History of Animation: the Cartoon", will be screened on Monday at 7 p.m. and again on Tuesday at 1 p.m. in the Stuart House Auditorium. "Sundays and Cybele", the French film which has won an Academy Award and numerous other national and international honors, will also be shown on Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Auditorium.

Organist James Reid Taylor, accompanist for the College glee club, will be presented in recital Wednesday evening (Mar. 31) at 7:30 in the Chapel. No admission will be charged.

The Newton College Players will stage "An Evening With Bernard Shaw" Thursday, Friday, and Saturday (Apr. 1-3) at 8 p.m. in the Quonset Theater on campus. Shaw's "Dark Lady of the Sonnets" as well as the first act of both "The Millionaire" and "You Never Can Tell" will be presented. Tickets will be sold at the door.

An unusual "sing-along" of Georges Bizet's "Carmen" will conclude the Fine Arts Week on Sunday afternoon (Apr. 4) at 2 in the Quonset Theater. The presentation will feature Newton College actors and soloists in addition to several guest performers. Gypsy dance numbers will be staged by Newton's modern dance club, and accompaniment will be provided by the Newton High School orchestra. All choral arrangements, however, will be sung by the audience along with the College's glee club.

Student Loan Fund Benefit

The Harvard Woman's Club Student Loan Fund will benefit from a sale sponsored by the club, Mrs. Neal O'Hara of Newton, chairman, in Boston's Hotel Vendome Thursday, Apr. 1, at 1 p.m.

Members from the Newtons planning to attend, in addition to Mrs. O'Hara, are Mrs. Arthur Anderson, Mrs. Walter Blanchard, Mrs. James H. Lewis, Mrs. John E. Millea, Mrs. John A. Hay, Mrs. Joseph A. Ahern, Mrs. Louis C. Stein, Mrs. Harold A. Swan and Mrs. Carl S. Eil.

At Science Workshop

Miss Patricia Nolan of Newton Centre, a teacher in the Framingham School Department, was among 65 elementary school administrators and science specialists, along with university professors, who met recently at Framingham North High School to attend a workshop conducted by Dr. John Navarra, a recognized elementary school science authority.

Lasell President Asks Neighbors To Attend A Campus Q & A Session

Dr. Blake Tewksbury, president of Lasell Junior College, has invited the college's neighbors to gather on the campus Tuesday evening, Mar. 30, at 8 o'clock, to hear a clear statement on Lasell's position in the recent controversy over its effort to gain permission to build new dormitories.

Included among those invited are those persons who signed a petition opposing the college's request.

The letter of invitation, sent to 460 nearby residents in Auburndale, is as follows:

"Quite frankly, we at Lasell have been distressed during the past weeks over our obvious failure to communicate clearly with our Auburndale neighbors.

"This is certainly not our intention. I am aware of no secrets in our development plans—in fact we have tried to distribute the details as widely as possible through our College Bulletin.

"Just as obviously, however, we have not made ourselves clear and this lack of understanding seems to have become suspicion among many of our neighbors. So:

"We would be delighted to have you, and any other interested friends and neighbors,

Scholarship Fund To Get Day's Proceeds

As a part of its community improvement project, the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will have a hat fashion show and spring dessert bridge Monday afternoon, Mar. 29, at 12:30 o'clock at Newton Junior College.

Proceeds will be applied to the college's scholarship fund. The committee in charge, headed by the president, Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver, is as follows:

Desserts, Mrs. Alfred E. Holdridge; Mrs. Spencer F. Deming and Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst; table prizes, Mrs. Victor D. Baer and Mrs. William E. Connors; plants, Mrs. Everett and Miss Avis Walsh; publicity, Miss Jane Wyman; tickets, Miss Mabel Chase.

The show's commentator will be Mrs. Stephen C. Hung, and the models will be Mrs. Baer, Mrs. George J. Brookheiser, Mrs. Norman S. Berkowitz, Mrs. Leroy Faulkner, Miss June Graham, Mrs. Charles Laffin, Mrs. Edward Sullivan, Mrs. Edwin H. Wiest and Mrs. Joseph P. O'Donoghue.

Tickets may be had from the president and Miss Mabel Chase.

Vets Hospital Visited Today

Mayflower Lodge and Chapter, B'nai B'rith, will hold their monthly party for the disabled veterans at the West Roxbury Veterans Hospital today Thursday, March 25, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Irene Gaffin and Fred Glass are chairmen of this project, with Claudette Markell, co-chairman.

Also on the committee are: Henry Austin, Bernie Goldberg, Bill Jacobs, Esther Groinic, Shirley Horblit, Alice Piken, Selma Portney, Ruth Snyder, and Helen Stiller.

ALL MASSACHUSETTS DRIVERS!

The Registry of Motor Vehicles says:

To be classified safe, a tire must have at least 2/32 of an inch of tread. This tread depth applies to either the original tire or the tire retreaded or recapped.

All of the 3100 inspection stations throughout the state will be equipped with tread depth gauges, calibrated in 1/32 of an inch. Readings will be taken in a major tread groove of the tires nearest the center, and at two points of the circumference of the tires at least 15 inches apart.

Automobile tires will also be checked for fabric breaks, any cut in excess of one inch, any bumps, bulges or knots, or any exposed ply or cord structure.

Tires will further be substandard if a portion of the tread is so worn that in the opinion of the inspection station this wear substantially affects the traction and stopping ability of the tires.

Beethoven PTA Panel Meeting Set For Monday

"Educational Innovation in Newton — Four Views" will be discussed by a panel at the next Beethoven P.T.A. meeting to be held at the school Monday evening, March 29 at 8 p.m.

Panel members taking part in this stimulating discussion will be:

Dr. Charles E. Brown, Superintendent of Newton Public Schools; Dr. J. Bernard Everett, Assistant Superintendent for Instruction; Mr.

Top Bridge Scorer

Marshall Spitz of 37 Mountford Rd., Newton Highlands, was a top scorer in a single session championship game played in the spring national tournament of the American Contract Bridge League at the Sheraton Hotel in Cleveland, Ohio.

Stanley Russell, Assistant to the Superintendent, and Mr. Edwin Hawkridge, member of the Newton School Committee, Ward 5.

Refreshments will be served by the hospitality committee following the meeting.

Ethier On NDEA Institute Staff

Raymond Ethier, Head of the Language Department at Newton High School, has been appointed to the teaching staff of the NDEA French Institute to be held at Assumption College in Worcester during the summer of 1965. The announcement was made by Professor Alfred J. LeBlanc of The Pennsylvania State University, Director of the Institute.

Mr. Ethier is a graduate of Assumption and received his M.A. at Boston University. He has also done graduate work at Harvard University and at the University of Paris. Before coming to Newton he was an instructor of French at Assumption Preparatory School in Worcester. He is presently Special Instructor in Methodology at Simmons College and has been a staff member of NDEA French Institutes at Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine, and Assumption. Mr. Ethier is a member of the Massachusetts Advisory Council on Foreign Languages.

Panel

Encyclical of Pope John XXIII.

This report will be given by those who attended the International Paeem in Teris Convocation held in New York City in late February. Edward V. Hickey, vice president of the New England Merchants National Bank will be the moderator. Serving on the panel will be the Reverend Harold R. Fray, Jr., minister of the Eliot Church of Newton and Coordinator of the Newton Community Peace Center; J. Robert Hanson, Director of Massachusetts Political Action for Peace (PAX); Rt. Reverend Monsignor Edward G. Murray, S.T.D., pastor of Sacred Heart Church in Roslindale.

Also Bernard O'Shea, Peace Education Secretary of the New England Region of the American Friends Service Committee; the Reverend Robert F. Quinn, C.S.P., director of the Institute of Religious Understanding of the Paulist Fathers of Boston, and George Selleck, Interfaith Seminar Director of the American Friends Service Committee.

This Convocation is a program for the International Co-operation Year. The areas to be presented will mirror those of the International Convocation which drew together leaders from twenty nations around the world, including the communist bloc.

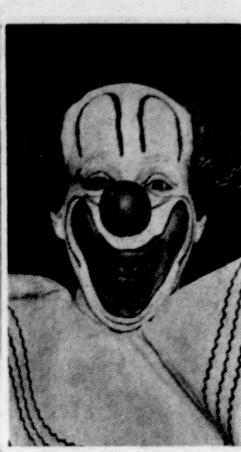

The panelists will discuss the development of international structures that will enable nations to resolve their differences without resorting to war. Essential to such a development is the formation of a legal system that will have both authority and the power to enforce judicial decisions.

The role of the United Nations, and its present crisis, was seen as one step in this slow and painful movement toward the creation of international organizations that are essential to the world today.

The great economic disparity between the peoples of the rich and poor nations is seen as a problem even more crucial to world peace.

It was noted at the New York Convocation, that modern technology makes possible the resolution of problems related to population growth and the production and distribution of food, but again, the present relationships of nations impede their implementation.

The panelists will bring these and other matters to the attention of those present, with a recognition that in a democratic society these problems are our problems in Newton. The public is cordially invited to share in this discussion at the Fellowship Hall of Eliot Church, Monday evening, March 29th, at eight o'clock.

BOZO THE CLOWN

Annual Easter Bunny Parade Set For Sunday

The 20th Annual Original Easter Bunny Parade, sponsored by Grover-Cronin, will be held in Waltham on Sunday, March 28 starting at 2:30 p.m.

This colorful procession, long considered in the same category as the first robin as an official herald of approaching spring, will feature a galaxy of stage and television personalities.

Escorting the Easter Bunny will be Rex Trailer on his famous horse, Galdrush, and side-kick, Pablo, stars of Boom Town. Bozo the Clown and singer Judy Valentine will be in the line of march.

The parade will include famous clowns, fairyland characters, old-fashioned bikes, bands, drill teams and drum and bugle corps. A platoon of Waltham police under Lt. Edward P. Sicotte will head the procession.

The Easter Bunny will arrive by Bunny Helicopter at the Reece Corporation, Waltham, at 2:15 p.m. Mayor Austin D. Rhodes of Waltham and his grandchildren will join with city and state officials to welcome the Bunny.

The paraders will step off at 2:30 sharp and will follow the traditional route; Reece Corporation, 200 Prospect St., to Main St., around the Common, along Carter St., to Moody St., to the Grover Cronin Store.

Art Ass'n Sets Up Exhibition

A water color done by Joseph Santoro at the meeting of the Newton Art Association Thursday evening, April 1, at Beethoven School, Waban, will go to someone present at the meeting's end.

Scheduled for April 5 through April 15 at the Copley Society, Boston, is a one-man show of water colors by Stephen York of Waban, a past president of the Association. Gallery hours are 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., except Sunday.

Mr. York is a graduate of Massachusetts College of Art. He studied sculpture with Raymond Porter, and his work has been exhibited in many galleries in New York and Boston, and have won a number of awards.

Miss Holmes, Mr. Carlson Married In Rome, New York

Two bouquets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli adorned the altar of the First Baptist Church, Rome, N. Y., for the recent wedding of Miss Elsa Claire Holmes of Newton Centre and Mr. Richard Jay Carlson of Needham.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Holmes of Dunhamville, N.Y. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Carlson of 302 Chestnut street, Needham.

Rev. Gilbert A. Groman, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church, Rome, officiated at the double ring ceremony, and music was provided by Marvin Holmes, brother of the bride, accompanied by Mrs. Donald H. McDaniels of Camden, N.Y. Selections included "Through the Years," "The Sunshine of Your Smile," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white floor-length satin sheath gown with brocade appliques, wrist-length pointed sleeves, and a boat neckline. The detachable chapel train was accented in the back with a large bow. Her crown of seed pearls and crystals held in place an elbow-length veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white sweetheart roses, pom poms and ivy, centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Kenneth Tilton of Blossvale, N.Y., sister of the bride, was the matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Francis Regan of Camden, N.Y., also a sister of the bride, and Mrs. James Vredenburg of Baldwinville, N.Y.

Serving as best man was Mr. John William Frack of Whitmarsh, Md., and ushers included Mr. John Ryerson of Kingston, N.Y., and Mr. Vance Sutton of Saugerties, N.Y. Candlelighters were Young Kevin, Patrick and Eugene Regan, nephews of the bride, from Camden, N.Y.

A reception followed in the church parlors, where Miss Doris Dale of Camden attended the guest book. Miss Alma Holmes of Cleveland, N.Y.,

MRS. RICHARD CARLSON

cousin of the bride, served punch. After their honeymoon trip

Greek Cathedral Setting for Zervas - Speare Wedding

The marriage of Miss Cynthia Speare, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George S. Speare of Newton, to Frank Zervas, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Zervas of Jamaica Plain and Warner, N.H., took place recently at Boston's Greek Cathedral.

The Rev. John Zanetos officiated at the 4 o'clock afternoon service. A reception followed at the Chestnut Hill Country Club in Newton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess gown of white silk peau de soie and Chantilly lace embroidered with seed pearls and iridescent sequins and fashioned with a scoop neckline and A-line skirt. A detachable white silk peau de soie train cascaded from her waistline.

A double crown, designed of pearls and crystals, held in place her white silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white Eucharis lilies, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. George P. Canellos of Kensington, Md., sister of the bride, was matron of honor, while Miss Diane Speare of Newton, another sister, was maid of honor.

Nicholas Gavrili of West Medford served as best man. The ushers were Herbert Callahan of Wellesley Hills, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Dr. George P. Canellos of Kensington, Md., brother-in-law of the bride.

After a trip to St. Croix, the Virgin Islands, Mr. and Mrs.

MRS. FRANK ZERVAS

Zervas are living in Brookline. The bride, a graduate of the Dana Hall School and the Boston University College of Liberal Arts, attended Mount Holyoke College.

Mr. Zervas is a graduate of Huntington School and the Boston University College of Liberal Arts. He received his master's degree from the Boston University School of Education, where he is a doctoral candidate. He is principal of the Beethoven School in Newton.

Winter Wedding Unites

Miss Pearlman - Mr. Laub

Temple Kehillah Israel was the setting for the recent marriage of Miss Byrna S. Pearlman to Bernard Laub.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller Pearlman of 126 Oxford road, Newton Centre. Mr. and Mrs. Julius Laub of New York City are the bridegroom's parents.

Rabbi Manuel Saltzman officiated at the 7 o'clock double ring ceremony, which was followed by a reception.

A pill box cap held in place her illusion veil. She carried her bridegroom's prayer book topped with white orchids and a cascade of white flowers.

Miss Ruth Halperin of Newton Centre, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids included Miss Ronda Carlan, Miss Judith Carlan and Miss Sharon Clark, all of Newton Centre, as well as Miss Nancy Bernstein of Medford.

Melvin Laub of New York City, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushering were Charles Mantia of Waltham, Howard Blumstein of Natick, Martin Hirsch and Robert Gross, both of New York City, and Alan Danis of Somerset, N.J.

After a Bermuda honeymoon, the couple plan to live in Waltham.

The bride was graduated from Boston University.

Mr. Laub received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from New York University.

Kunkel To Speak To Young GOP's

William Kunkel, city librarian, will discuss the recently issued Humphrey-McNiff study of the Newton Library at a meeting of the Young Republican Club this (Thursday) evening, at 8 o'clock, at the Newton Community Centre, 429 Cherry St., West Newton.

He will put special emphasis on the study's recommendations for new facilities and changes in the salary schedule for library personnel.

Eugene Hirshberg, president of the Newton Young Republican Club, has announced that this public service program is part of the club's continuing effort to provide Newton residents with speakers on local affairs. Prior to Mr. Kunkel's talk, there will be a short business meeting, a question and answer period will follow the program, and refreshments will be served.

Weight Losers Meet Tonight

The next regular meeting of TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) will be held this (Thursday) evening at 8 o'clock in Newton YMCA, Church St.

Members are weighed in every week, with penalties assessed for those who gain, and prizes for losers. Each woman sets her own pace, but the organization requires that the pace be acceptable to her doctor.

Detailed information on the group can be had from Gail Stone at BI 4-8206.

Kristina Seeglitz of 315 Franklin St., Newton, is back at Penn Hall Junior College, Chambersburg, Penn., after her spring vacation at home.

The Horace Mann Apartments are being built by the Franchi Construction Co. of Newton, low-bidder for the job.

Those in attendance at the ground-breaking exercises, when work was started on the Horace Mann development, included Chairman Carmen, Vice Chairman Irene K. Thresher and Executive Director Edward T. Byrne of the Newton Housing Authority.

Also present were Pat Franchi and James DiNatali of the Franchi company, William N. Jacobs, the architect employed by the Housing Authority; and Jack Dyer, project clerk of the works.

Other members of the Newton Housing Authority are John K. Bottomly, treasurer; Joseph G. Schneider, assistant treasurer; and Richard H. Lovell.

Persons interested in applying for an apartment in one of Newton's Housing developments may do so at the Housing Authority office located at 111 John F. Kennedy Circle.

The Newton Housing Authority last year purchased the site for the Horace Mann Apartments from the city for $120,000 which will be equivalent to 37 cents on this year's tax rate.

Local Barbers

Raymond Schichilone, registered barber and president of Newton Chapter, Master Barbers Association of America, announces that the local chapter has been selected as host for the quarterly meeting of the Massachusetts association.

"This is the first time this singular honor has been bestowed on the barbering industry of Newton," Mr. Schichilone said. "It is one more indication of the Newton chapter's stature, not only here, but in the state."

An invitation to attend the meeting has been sent to Mayor Donald L. Gibbs.

The following members, President Schichilone announced, will serve on the reception committee: Phillip Aliamo, Newtonville; Anthony Bonecetto, Newton Centre; Vincent Pailla, Auburndale; Norval Chapman, Newtonville; Phillip Nobile, Waban, and Dudley Bagley, Newton Centre, all registered barbers.

The meeting is scheduled for Sunday, Mar. 28, in Motel 128, Needham.

The exhibit appeared first at a community dinner held during February, when the hospital opened its $3.5-million expansion drive. Now it is on view in the hospital's reception lobby.

Within a few weeks, it will visit the annual Institute sponsored by the hospital's Nurses Alumnae Association.

Commenting about the use of tape recorders at the hospital, Director Brines said, "We installed them beginning in 1963, to ease a communication problem all hospitals face. We have them on all floors serving adult patients now, including Maternity and Special Care Unit."

The hospital put them in, the director noted, to speed up the process of patient reports.

"As nursing personnel arrive for work, they must be told the condition, treatment and nursing need of each patient on a floor," Mr. Brines said. "At Newton-Wellesley, such a report can cover as many as 40 patients. Shift by shift, the information must be relayed to people who care for patients."

The hospital also uses the messages for in-service education purposes. Evening professional meetings are recorded for night and day-shift people to hear. Lectures in the day are available for listening by evening and night personnel, when patients are sleeping and floors are quiet.

Tape recorders have a totally unexpected impact, according to Miss Myrtice L. Fuller of Natick, director of Nursing Service.

"Our nurses have a new respect for their voices. The recordings have helped improve their enunciation. The recordings have compelled nurses to organize and express their thoughts succinctly. As a result, communication is better within the nursing team, and between the team patients."

"To my view, that is the most important value of all," she said.

During the 14-months the hospital has used tape recorders, Nursing Supervisor Helen A. Smith has watched the project with interest. She supervised and evaluated the initial use of recorders in the hospital. She has been active in instructing personnel about the use of the recorders. Her display is the latest step in explaining the unique process developed first at the 260-bed hospital.

Eligible Interviewers

A civil service list of persons eligible for the post of principal interviewer in the state department of Employment Security, contains the names of two Newtonites: Harold Frankel of 68 Westchester Rd., Newton, and Bruce B. Freedman, 45 Westbourne Rd., Newton Centre.

The process grows aggravated, Mr. Brines indicated, because a hospital functions around the clock, and nursing personnel arrive and depart throughout the day.

"Consequently, we have regular staff changes at eight hour intervals, plus changes in between. Keeping nursing personnel fully informed about patients, we discovered, required many verbal reports during an eight hour period."

By way of illustration, he cited a typical day shift, when as many as 25 nurses and students are involved in patient care on a floor. The first contingent of full-time day-staff nurses appear at 7 a. m., and must receive a patient-by-patient briefing.

At 7:30 a. m. and 8 a. m., individual workers or groups of workers arrive, and need a report. Those people remain later in the day, to fill late afternoon needs of the patients.

Students arrive at 8:30 a. m. Because those girls are present for educational experience, and only secondarily to handle nursing jobs, they require abundant and detailed information.

During the remainder of the shift, others arrive who need reports of one form or another - volunteers, volunteer nurse aides, nursing supervisors, and ultimately the shift that comes on duty at 3 p. m.

"Little wonder the head nurse spent most of her day giving reports," Mr. Brines said.

Tape recorders have provided a neat answer to the head nurse's problem, he emphasized. Now the head nurse dictates a single report, using her patient file for reference. Arriving personnel listen to the full tape recording, and also refer to the patient file. When the tape has concluded, the head nurse and the arrivals join briefly to clarify information.

Matters that formerly interrupted verbal reports no longer are a factor, Director Brines indicated. If a patient requires attention or the telephone rings or a doctor has a question, the head nurse stops dictating. She resumes when the matter has been resolved.

Formerly, a head nurse might have to interrupt a face-to-face report many times. Often her staff would wait idly by until the report could be resumed. Now the report is dictated from beginning to end, and can be heard from beginning to end.

"Thanks to tape recorders," Mr. Brines said, "change of shift reports have been reduced from 30 minutes on the average to 10 minutes. Charge nurses on the day-shift have gained an additional hour or two to spend with patients. The entire transition is smoother. Personnel get to work faster. They are less liable to encounter delays when leaving."

The tapes lend other significant advantages, the Director pointed out.

They give a continuity of reporting rarely possible before. Because a tape is saved for 24-hours, the nurse returning to her floor after a day-off can reconstruct all that has occurred. Special duty nurses, floats, nurses week-ends learn more fully about the needs of patients.

The tapes promote greater accuracy, the Director emphasized. If a nurse cannot recall whether Mrs. Watling needs a new I.V. or whether Mrs. Neu's ivy plant needs watering, she can verify the information by listening to the tape.

"Tapes leave no room for doubt," the director stated. "The information is recorded and easily verified."

CHARLES E. BROWN

Supt. Brown Is Local Chairman For School Aid

School Supt. Charles E. Brown has been appointed Newton chairman of the campaign for increased state aid to public schools, it was announced this week by the Massachusetts Educational Conference Board.

He will have responsibility for providing information to the public about the various education bills now before the legislature, which seek to raise standards and give tax relief to the cities and towns.

The Conference Board formula for financing local school costs is contained in Senate 104, filed by Sen. John J. Conte (D., Worcester) and Sen. Oliver F. Ames (R., Boston).

It would reimburse between 25 and 65 percent of school operating expenditures, based on a community's property valuation per child as compared with the state average.

Newton South High Girls To Study In Chile

Two Newton South High School students left recently for a six months course of study at Villa Maria Academy in Santiago, Chile.

They are Judith Beane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Beane, 47 Dudley Rd., and Susanne Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Long, 136 Ridge Ave., both Newton Centre.

They will remain until next September.

Miss Beane is staying with Senorita Marcela Ibáñez, whose grandfather was twice President of Chile. Miss Long is living with Senorita Teresa Honorato, whose father, Dr. Honorato of the University of Santiago, did research at Harvard University three years ago.

Shortly before their departure, the girls were guests at a farewell dinner party in the Beane residence.

Newton Members Of Middlebury Campaign

E. Parker Calvert of Newton was chairman of the Greater Boston Division of the Middlebury College Challenge Fund, which held its initial meeting last night (Mar. 24) at the Port Hill Club, Boston. Charles C. Palmer of Auburndale is chairman of the West Region.

Object of the fund campaign is to match a $1,700,000 grant from the Ford Foundation two for one.
